

BARTHOLD FORSEES VICTORY FOR KAISER

Peace Advocate Says War in Europe Will Be Ended in Three Months

Atlantic City, Aug. 10.—"The war will be over in three months, and Germany will be the winner," Congressman Richard Barthold, of St. Louis, head of the American branch of the Interparliamentary Peace Union, who was on his way to the Peace Congress in Stockholm on board the Kronprinzessin Cecile when that ship fled back across the Atlantic, made this declaration confidently shortly before he left for Washington.

"The war cannot be of lengthy duration because of the frightful slaughter that is bound to ensue when the Kaiser's forces grapple with the French and the English," the Missouri exponent of international peace asserted. "The only way in which Germany will use Liege, the taking of which is certain if it has not already occurred, as a base for offensive operations against France and England, with the modern weapons to be employed the carnage is bound to horrify the whole world.

"Germany's whole position has been misrepresented through lack of official information as to what is taking place in the Empire to the east of the French and Belgian frontiers, and newspaper readers have no real conception of the enormous power which the Kaiser will bring to bear when his armies are fully arrayed.

"I do not credit the reports that 20,000 men have been lost in the taking of Liege," Congressman Barthold continued. "All such reports have emanated from Belgium, and I question whether they are any more to be relied upon than the discredited accounts of the sinking of many German battleships. Nor can I understand the strong anti-German sentiment manifested by the public and the newspapers, for, for Germans have had the kindest of feelings toward the United States. I was surprised at the attitude manifested to see that one of the New York papers printed inconspicuously a dispatch reporting the taking of Liege and displayed on bold type the capture of a German colony in South Africa through the defeat of a handful of consumptive colored men. I believe however, that sentiment will change as the truth about the war is spreading abroad becomes known and the case of Germany is more clearly presented.

A further cable to-day advised congressman Barthold that the abandonment of the Peace Union at Stockholm is final.

"ONWARD CHRISTIAN SOLDIERS"

FREIGHTER PAWNEE FIRED ON BY FLORIDA

Captain of Clyde Liner Said to Have Misunderstood Signals of Warship

Philadelphia, Aug. 10.—A misunderstanding of signals, according to the officers of the Clyde line steamship Pawnee, was the reason the battleship Florida had to fire on her before she came to a halt in New York harbor late Saturday evening. This vessel arrived at her dock, just above Market street, at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Captain Rich, who was in command of her, refused to talk. He said that officers from the battleship would be given to the public would have to come from the officials of the line.

According to the story told by the chief officer, the chief engineer and the second mate, the Pawnee was steaming through the Narrows when the battleship Florida signaled her to stop. At this time they assert all of the lights on the Pawnee were showing. They also said that for some time the Florida had been playing her searchlight upon the Pawnee. One of the officers said that they did not understand the signal and the vessel kept on her course. This was about 9 o'clock.

A few minutes later, they said that the Florida sent a second shot across the bow of the Pawnee. The engines were then ordered to all speed ahead. When the vessel did not stop the Florida sent a second shot across the bow of the Pawnee. The engines were then ordered to all speed ahead.

It was then that the torpedo boat Drayton following close behind him, Captain Rich was forced to run his vessel back six miles. She came alongside the battleship Florida and officers from that vessel put out in a small boat and went aboard the Pawnee. After an hour's examination of the vessel and cargo and an explanation from Captain Rich, the Pawnee was allowed to proceed to Philadelphia.

All of the officers denied that the Pawnee's lights were shrouded. They said that they could give no explanation of the matter. It is said that the captain not stopping the vessel when ordered to do so, unless he misunderstood the signals or was not informed that all coastwise vessels were also subject to inspection by government officers.

SUMMARY OF SUNDAY EVENTS IN EUROPEAN WAR SITUATION

The English, French and Belgian allies have formed a junction and a great battle is expected on Belgian soil between Liege and Brussels, but hardly at the fortified city of Namur, which the Germans seem to be determined to avoid. This depends of course on the supposition that the Germans either have taken or will take Liege, the fate of which city is still more or less uncertain.

Out of the conflicting dispatches, London military men have evolved the theory that the city is now probably occupied by German soldiers, and that the forts still hold out. The belief is strengthened by an official Brussels announcement that the city is "invested," but that the forts remain in Belgian hands.

A Brussels dispatch also says that "Liege still holds out." London believes that the Belgian troops holding the routes between the forts retreated and that the Germans are pressing on toward Namur and Louvain, leaving part of their army to besiege the forts. Louvain is fifteen miles east by north of Brussels. It contains 40,000 inhabitants.

A Berlin semiofficial news agency reaffirms the capture of Liege. It is believed that the object of the movement on Louvain is for the purpose of flanking the allies. The movement in this direction leaves Namur far to the south and might nullify the strategic importance of that stronghold.

According to Paris official dispatches, the French columns now in Alsace-Lorraine are sweeping everything before them. The troops have occupied Colmar, which is 21 miles nearer Strasbourg the objective, than Muelhausen, which was taken Saturday. Colmar is a city of 40,000 inhabitants, and Muelhausen of 60,000.

From the same official sources it is reported that the people of Alsace-Lorraine have welcomed the French troops, and that many of them have joined the army of invasion.

Austria, not yet technically at war with France, is mobilizing troops in the Austrian Tyrol, northwest of Basel. The Austrian Ambassador at Paris has been asked to give an official explanation of this by the French Government. An unconfirmed report from Berlin

Army Signal Corps May Adopt Portable Wireless Operative in 12 Minutes

[From the Electrical World.] A portable wireless outfit, which is designed to send messages, under favorable conditions, within a radius of 500 miles and which, it is claimed, can be set up for use in twelve minutes, was recently put into commission by the United States Army Signal Corps.

The outfit for the operation of this apparatus is obtained from a generator mounted on a truck which is connected by a train of gears to the thirty-horse-power engine of the truck.

The antennae are of the umbrella type, and are mounted at the top of an eighty-five-foot mast which is built in nine sections. The first or top section is raised by hand, but the other sections are lifted by a block and tackle suspended from struts mounted on the roof of the truck.

These struts can be quickly detached when not in use. The guy wires are attached to the fifth section of the mast. When disassembled, the nine sections of the mast are carried in long compartments built along both sides of the truck.

WONDERFUL PICTURE AT COLONIAL A new bill of vaudeville opened at the Colonial Theater to-day for a three days' showing. The acts include Dinn and Dean, a pair of singing and dancing comedians. Roy Snow, the comedian, presents a new act, "The Six Musical Germans are three women, two men and a little boy in a brass band."

Along with the vaudeville is another film masterpiece, entitled "Judith of Bethulia" which is shown to-day, and will continue being shown to-morrow and Wednesday. This is a four-reel production by Thomas Bailey Aldrich, and is among the best feature films ever presented for public showing.—Advertisement.

RUSSIA—Little news of importance is filtering through from Russia. Automobiles carrying large sums of money were seized by Germans on the frontier and confiscated.

UNITED STATES—It was announced at Washington that cable communication has been re-established with Germany.

FRANCE—Paris is in a state of siege. The gates are closed at 6 p. m., and no one is permitted on the streets after that hour without a permit. Conversations over telephones must be carried on in French. The American Chambers of Commerce has held a meeting to devise means of helping the country financially, and 200 beds for French soldiers will be put in the American Hospital.

But whose hath the world's goods, and beholdeth his brother in need, and heeth up his compassion from him, how doth the love of God abide in him? —I. John 3:17.

AT PAXTANG

Manager Felix M. Davis announces a program for his theater at Paxtang Park this week that looks like a real winner. The bill will be headlined by "The Melody Trio," consisting of three young men who present a rathskeller act that has been a sensation during the past season in the big time houses. The act is said to be one of those rapid-ragtime affairs that are always a success with a live audience.

Rice, Elmer and Tom will be seen in a knock-about comedy stunt that is built especially for uproarious laughter. This is a rough and tumble act with plenty of speed and grotesque comedy. In the Schiller Bros., who do a class gymnastic act showing wonderful feats of strength, the park patrons will see two young men showing perfect physical development. "Ben Ananklyn and Pap" is the title of the novelty offering that presents what is claimed to be one of the cleverest boy comedians that has played the town. Young Ben has the reputation of being able to make the most pessimistic individual in the world laugh. King Kelly will be at the park this week for a return engagement. Mr. Kelly arrived in town Saturday with a rathskeller of balloons and parachutes and is ready for business. The King says he has a bunch of new aeronautical thrills up his sleeve that will make his engagement a record-breaker for the park. He has one new one figured out that he calls his multiple parachute drop. Kelly is going to save this one for Friday, when he is playing with the most sensational as well as the most dangerous performance he has ever attempted.—Advertisement.

ORPHEUM OPENS SOON Seat sales for the first week of the Orpheum Theater's eighth season of high class vaudeville in Harrisburg will open at 9 o'clock to-morrow morning at the box office at the Orpheum in Locust street. Inquiries which have already been made of Manager Hopkins indicate large sales for the initial week. An exceptionally good bill, in which comedy predominates, has been arranged for the opening week. The headline act will be Fred Ardath & Co., seven people, in a rural rough comedy sketch, while there will be one other sketch and several other humorous acts. Vocal music, Liboniti, a popular xylophone artist, and singing and acrobatic acts will round out the program. The Orpheum has been re-furnished for the eighth season and the stage is equipped with all new scenery.—Advertisement.

For Agonizing Corns You Can't Beat It... Certainly not. "Putnam's" has 'em all beat a mile. It's a marvel on corns and foot lumps, acts like magic. Why for nearly fifty years Putnam's Extractor has been the standard remedy, the dependable one, the sure kind that never disappoints.

Small wonder the sale of Putnam's Corn Extractor is so large, 25c at dealers everywhere and at C. M. Forney's.—Advertisement.

Why Actresses Never Grow Old

(Theatrical World) Nothing concerning the profession seems more puzzling to the dear old public than the perpetual youth of our feminine members. How often we hear remarks like, "Why, I saw her as Juliet forty years ago, and I don't look a year older now!" Of course allowance is made for makeup, but when they see us off the stage at close range, they need no explanation.

How strange women generally haven't learned the secret of keeping the face the same! How simple a matter to get an ounce of mercolized wax at the drug store, apply it like cold cream, in the morning wash it off. We know how this gradually imperceptibly absorbs old cuticle, keeping the face young, fresh, free from overdone fine lines, sallowness of complexion. We know, too, that this mercolized wax is the reason actresses don't wear those patches, liver spots, pimples and the like. Why don't our sisters on the
