Aviator Loses Life in Destroying Zeppelin

London, Aug. 10. - The Times correspondent in Brussels, describing the fighting at Liege, says aerial fleets were used by both Belgians and Germans. The fighting in midair was desultory but deadly. A huge Zeppelin sailed over Liege during the early fighting, but was pursued by a Belgian aviator, who lost his life in destroying it.

After the destruction of this Zeppelin the Germans confined their aerial activity to the use of scouting aeroplanes, several of which were destroyed by shots from the forts. Attempts to reach the aeroplanes with shells were often unsuccessful, however, owing to the inability to shoot high enough.

Two Belgian aviators were attacked by the German field artillery at a moderate height were nearly rendered unconscious by a shell which burst just beneath them. They reached ground safely, however, and when they awoke they remarked coolly that "These Germans shoot badly."
