roles, but she is ideally fitted for 'Bab-

"She entered in the first act like some drab night-beaten little beetle, neart-crushed and hopeless, only to heart-crushed and hopeless, only to flash out later on gaudy, pretty wings, a fragile butterfly. The role of 'Babbie' is written in poetic Irish fashion with epigrams abounding. Miss Booth made every line tell. Mr. Dwight, as the love-blinded old father, who can see no faults in his baby girl, was adorably testy in defending her rights. His rich, full voice, made all the richer by his brogue, compelled attention. The play will go on tour late in September or early in October. Miss Booth will likely head the first company."

FEAST FOR STAFF IN PARIS, PLAN OF

Letter Found in German Officer's Pocket Was Invitation to Dinner Party

Paris, Aug. 13.—Emperor William had planned to entertain his staff at dinner to-night—August 12—in a lead-ing Paris restaurant in celebration of "the occupation of the French capital by German troops," according to a letter found in possession of one of the Kaiser's officers, who is held as a prisoner. The Matin which to-day published the story of the Kaiser's pro posed dinner party, indulged in this comment, "We are afraid the dinner will be cold before they get here."

During the temporary lull following

During the temporary lull following the fighting at Liege and Muelhausen, the French Press is devoting much attention to Germany's alleged methods of warefare. Detailed narratives, supported by affidavits, describe murders on the frontier before war was declared. One of these reports gives a graphic story of the burning of a Belgium village on August 8 as revenge for the gallant resistance of the citizens when the town was attacked by the Germans. Not content with firing houses," reads one account "the invaders shot a farmer and other citizens who were trying to extinguish the flames."

French Must Be Shot

content with firing houses," reads one account, "the invaders shot a farmer and other citizens who were trying to extinguish the flames."

French Must Be Shot

According to Eclair, an order was given German soldiers in Alsace to "Consider any Frenchman captured in Alsace Lorraine after the first hour of mobilization as a traitor who must be implacably shot." French public opinion is furiously indignant over the reports of such savagery, without mentioning the stories of outrages told by every French Consul stationed in Gærmany, Nevertheless, the French treatment of Germans who were unable to leave Paris before the outbreak of war was such as to reflect credit upon the nation. A young Munich artist who was detained, was told that he would receive more attention at a police station. He was given transportation to a place in western France, where Germans are being segregated until the close of the war. After spending the night before their departure at a big hall, refugees numbering several hundred marched to St. Lazare Station, escorted by troops to protect them against any possible attack by a mob. Not even a display of hostility occurred, the crown seeming to regard them with more pity than hatred.

In Need of Food

It has been the custom of many persons to take food to the railroad station for departing soldiers. A small boy engaged in distributing sandwiches, doubtless by mistake, offered some to refuges. Bystanders told him to desist because the refugees were enemies of France. The child replied: "Poor people, I feel sorry for them. I once got lost myself. It is a dreadful thing to be unable to get home." He continued to distribute the sandwiches to the refugees and the crowd clapped.

Matin to-day gives a schedule found on German prisoners showing little resistance was expected from Belgium. Matin further emphasizes Germany's miscalculation by giving details of the harole conduct on the battlefield of Belgians. Trooper Bogaerts, of the 3rd Lancers, who had already personally captured 14 prisoners and killed

London, Aug. 7.30 A. M.—Dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company from Basel Switzerland, says:

"Following a terrible battle at Muelhausen the hospital facilities proved absolutely inadequate to care for the almost incredible number of wounded. Not only are all the hospitals filled, but schools, churches and hotels are occupied to their capacity.

"The latest estimate place the German losses at from eight to ten thousand."

Tank Steamer Leda

Tank Steamer Leda Captured by British

"My eyes were in a terrible state;; I could hardly stand it. They were red and infiamed; felt as though they had sand in them. They would ache and burn dreadfully and caused incessant headaches. I could hardly read at all. After wearing my glasses my eyes felt strained and overworked. By chance I met a man whose eyes had bothered him the same waylor He gare me she following met and since had enabled him to discard his glasses."

"If you wear glasses or have eye trouble similar to mine I advise you to have this formula filled at once. H. C. Kennedy or any druggist can fix it up for you. Here it is—

5 Grains Optona (I tablet)

2 ounces Water.

Allow to dissolve, then bathe the eyes by means of an eye cup three to four times daily—oftener if convenient. Just note how quickly your eyes will feel fine. It does not smart or burn, is absolutely harmless and any druggist who knows the formula will tell you that you need not hesitate to use it. If you try it I am sure you will be just as enthusiastic over it as I am. Cut this outso you will always have the prescription."—Advertisement. By Associated Press

New York, Aug. 13.—Confirmation of the report that the German tank steamer Leda had been captured by a British cruiser was brought here today by the steamer Bermudian from Bermuda. Officers of the Bermuda the Leda was the only prize then in port. The Bermudian also reported that two French cruisers, the Conde and the Descartes, were at Bermuda. Outside this harbor the Bermudian sighted the British cruiser Essex, and the Suffolk was heard of by wireless.
