"PUTTER'S VALUE 45 PER CENT" - TRAVERS

Four Times Golf Champion Says Its Tremendous Value Is Often Underestimated

In the September American Magazine Jerome D. Travers, four times amateur gold champion of the United States, writes an article entitled, "The Winning Shot," in the second series of golf articles which he is doing for this publication. Mr. Travers regards the putter as having forty-five per cent playing value as against fifty-five per cent for all the remaining clubs in a player's bag. On the importance of the putter he writes in part as follows:

"The average golfer starts out upon his round of the course with an average of seven clubs, which are likely to be driver, brassie, cleek, mid-iron, mashie, niblick and putter. If each one of these clubs was of equal value in the task of securing the proper score, upon the basis of one hundred per cent for the round, each club would represent a playing usefulness of about fourteen per cent. But this is where the system cracks. There is one club in the bag that has a greater value than the other fourteen per cent. It is the shortest, lightest and smallest club of the entire lot, the simplest and yet the hardest to play, the club that many unknowns can handle well and yet a club that baffles an Evans and a Yardon from one year into another. I refer to the putter, and I put its playing value at forty-five per cent as against fifty-five per cent for the remaining six, seven or eight clubs needed for the round.

"Forty-five per cent is too high a rating for any one club, a number of experts have said to me; but if I have made a mistake here it is on the short side. I only wish some of those who underrate the tremendous value of the putter had been at Brookline last September when the open championship of America was at stake. If they had, they would have gone well beyond my computation and put the value of the putter at seventy-five per cent. Alec Smith, the well-known professional, kept track of different scores turned in through this tournament, and he figures that of every one hundred shots played, seventy-five were taken on the putting green. It was no uncommon sight there to see crack golfers reach greens over four hundred yards away in two perfectly played shots, and then scatter three or four putts all over the green before the bottom of the cup was reached. I saw one crack professional get within four feet of a four-hundred-yard hole in two shots and finally get down in six. He missed his three, went well below the cup and then took three more coming back."

Central League Race Fast; Important Games Saturday

Four Teams Are Well Bunched; Season Ends Four Weeks From Tomorrow

With the games to be played on Saturday the Central Pennsylvania League has but four weeks to go. Middletown leads, but every team in the league is putting up a great fight. A change in the standing before the season ends is anticipated.

Highspire will play the last game at Middletown to-morrow. New Cumberland will wind up at Steelton. Should Highspire pull out a victory at Middletown and Steelton win from New Cumberland the four teams would be well bunched. Plans are being discussed for a series of games between the pick of the Central League and the Harrisburg Tri-State team after Labor Day.

Central League Gossip

Highspire is trying out two new men at first base—Bender, from Littiz, and Jamison, from the railroad league at Harrisburg. Bamford did some great pitching in the sixth inning in last Saturday's game. With three men on bases and no one out he fanned C. Books, Boughter and S. Books in succession. Steelton now has a great pair of twirlers in Biever and Finnen.

Rote has returned from South Carolina and has taken up his old position at third base with New Cumberland. "Johnny" Kling filled in at first base for Middletown in the absence of Balmer and played a great game. Sherk has pitched some great games since joining the Middletown team. It is the general opinion around the circuit that Middletown has the star first baseman of the league. Balmer, who was switched from third, is putting up a great game.

Coleman, the Steelton captain, has been playing with the Cape May team. He has filled in at second and also pitched a few games, making good in each game.

Aderholt continues to play a bang-up game for the Middletown team.

Yeager has been doing the catching for the New Cumberland team lately. Kurzenkabe is out of the game with a bruised hand. Wertz still leads the league in batting. He came through with two hits in the last game.

Joe Leedy has improved in his hitting. He is pressing the leaders for hitting honors.

BASEBALL HISTORY IN CHABEK VICTORY

Cockill's Crew Traveled Fast; Lane Bumped Hard and Often; Lolly Pop Day

By "Umb" Baseball history was made at Island Park yesterday when Joe Chabek marked up his twenty-fifth victory for the season. Reading lost, score 11 to 2. The game was played in one hour and eighteen minutes, a new record. Not a man walked to first base, and but three of the Hoffman crowd were left on base.

It was Lolly Pop day and an army of kids numbering 1,100, each with a candy on the stick in hand, made the welkin ring with their cheers. It was also Labor day and the big crowd was a factor in putting ginger into the game. Cockill's crew climbed all over Lane, hitting his easy curves to the north, south, east and west. Chabek could not be reached except in two innings. An error was a factor in the one run. It was youngster's day. The Reading and Harrisburg players traveled around the field like two year olds, pulling off many brilliant plays. Cruthers was the shining light for Izzy Hoffman. Harrisburg's stars were again bright, and sensational features of the game were the playing of Cruikshank, Miller, McCarthy, Whalen and Emerson. Cockill was again the best pitcher.

Cockill's triple, Miller's double and two singles with two stolen bases, started Harrisburg with three runs. In the second, with five singles, a double, stolen base and a sacrifice, brought four runs. Two singles with a sacrifice and an out made one in the sixth. Four singles and a double, brought three in the eighth. Covaleski's single with Gleason's triple brought the first run for Harrisburg. The playing of Cruikshank, Miller, McCarthy, Whalen and Emerson, if . . . 4 1 2 3 0 0 1

Bernhardt to Turn Her Theater into Hospital

Paris, Aug. 28.—Sarah Bernhardt, the famous French actress, has just arrived in Paris after a hurried trip from Belle Isle on the shores of Brittany. She intends turning the Sarah Bernhardt Theater into a hospital for receiving wounded soldiers from the battlefield, as she did during the Franco-Prussian War. The actress has not yet entirely recovered from her recent accident. Her son is at present fighting with the French on the northern frontier.

AMUSEMENT FOR EVERYBODY

In the current vaudeville offering at the Orpheum Theater, there is entertainment for the amusement seekers no matter how varied their tastes may be. There are just enough thrills, good songs, and acting to keep them amused every minute, and accordingly vaudeville lovers about town are lauding this week's bill. Even the opening attraction is interesting and something entirely new here. This is the turn of the Tuscano Brothers who do wonderful stunts with the deadly battle-axes. These two brothers work in an entertaining fashion and hurl these huge axes at each other in a thrilling manner. They catch them with remarkable precision, as a mis-throw would mean almost certain death. The brothers don Gladiator uniforms, appear in a stage setting representing an arena at a foreign court, and they hold the close interest of their audiences every minute they are on view. The Alexander Kida, Roehm's athletic girls, and Highland and Thornton are some of the other splendid turns grouped about Joe Welch, the celebrated Hebrew comedian, who heads the offering. For next week the management is announcing a return engagement of Ben Rolfe's "The Bride Shop." The act will return to Harrisburg vaudeville devotees with everything new, except the cast and the thread of the story. New and dazzling costumes of the latest creations will be worn by the girls in the act, and some new and tuneful musical interpolations have been injected.—Advertisement.

THE ULTIMATE TRIUMPH

The most dramatic day of the sixty-third Congress was when Champ Clark, the speaker of the House, took the oar for his famous speech explaining why he opposed President Wilson's policy of repealing the Panama Canal tolls exemption law. Clark was on the losing side, and everybody knew that the vote would certainly uphold the President.

While the speaker was delivering his remarks in his vibrant, booming voice, Representative Tom Heffin, of Alabama, walked through the Democratic cloakroom. Even there the thunder of Clark's voice was audible. Heffin stopped, laughed, and said: "That reminds me of an old ducky down in my State. He was working out in the middle of a field on a hot summer day. It was so hot that the heat seemed to be simmering visibly wherever you looked. After a while, the midday train rushed by about a half a mile away, whistling for a crossing and roaring and thundering as it went."

Private Dunn Has Chance to Win Governor's Medal

At the close of the events yesterday Private Dunn was the winner of the Governor's medal for the second place. Each a total of 285 in the Governor's medal scores. Corporal Harry Davidson, of the Tenth Regiment, is leading with 387 points.

TO REMOVE DUST FROM THE EYE

There is probably no one thing that irritates the eye so much as dust. The size as a particle of dust or sand in the eye; and unless it is promptly removed it may lead to inflammation of the eyeball. The first attempt at removal will be to pull the upper lid over the lower, and hold it so for a few seconds. Then rub gently toward the nose. If this fails to dislodge the irritating substance, examine the under surface of both lids, as well as the eyeball, to discover the offender. When found wipe it gently away with a bit of sterile cotton wrapped around a match stick. Flush the eye with boracic acid solution.—August OUTING.

MOVE MANY TREES FROM NURSERY ON ISLAND TO PARKS

Plans Being Made For Clearing Beds and Insuring Shrubbery For Future

Hundreds of baby trees will be taken from their beds in the Island nursery this Fall and set out in the city's parks and parkway to make their own way in the world.

The wholesale departure of the young sprouts from home is to be planned for in a systematic scheme for 1914, according to Assistant Park Superintendent J. R. Hoffert, and the details are now being worked out. Just how many shoots will be put out has not been definitely determined, but it is probable that from six to eight hundred and possibly a thousand might be used. The parkway and the parks generally will be considered in the placing out of the trees, although the River Front Park will receive particular attention. The river park planting, incidentally, will be carried out along such lines as will be consistent with the ultimate improvement and treatment of the river front after the "front steps of Harrisburg" are completed.

Under the Elms

Elms, Norway maples and European sycamores will be the principal types that will be planted this Fall and the chances are that the majority of these will be elms. As many as 500 elms are in the nursery now ready for moving.

The city's nursery on the island is crowded with trees and it is absolutely necessary to clear out some of the beds. The fact that recent storms have created unusual havoc among the trees in the park by uprooting some, blowing down others and, whacking off branches right and left makes it imperative that some measures be taken to continue the growth and provide for the future.

When Youth Gives Way to Age

Special attention will be given to the planting of young trees with reference to the location of the older ones and the general lighting scheme that now obtains will be followed as consistently as possible. Where old trees have been blown over or cut down youth will be put in its place. The young trees will also be placed as nearly as possible to the old trees whose tenure of life seems to be shortening via decay and wind and the other elements that they have weathered for years and years.

Two great trees were blown down in the River Front Park during the last heavy wind and rain storm, one of them a 20-inch trunk. This was near Locust street. Countless branches were whipped and clipped from others throughout the park and this damage will all have its disastrous effect in the years to come if more young trees are not planted.

Bandaging the Storm's Wounds

The damage done by the last storms has been pretty well cleared away and in most instances the torn branches and other debris have been moved out of sight. Front street residents for a while complained that the dead branches were taken from the park and piled up over the river bank. Park officials deny this and say that the property owners took this method of clearing away the park in front of their homes and that men from the park department had to collect the debris from the river bank and haul it away.

Trimming of the branches is now going on and the more serious wounds are covered with a treatment that hides in a way the bare stubs and prevents inroads of insects.

I will insist then and teach thee in the way which thou shalt go; I will counsel thee with mine eye upon thee.—Ps. 32:8.
