 It is definitely announced at Majestic, matinee and night, Monday, September 14, H. H. Prazee will present Edward Poppel's greatest success, "A Pair of Sixes." Despite the fact that "A Pair of Sixes" is still playing at the Longacre Theater, New York; the Cort Theater, Chicago; W. VALESKA SURRATT COMING
"The Bride Shop," with its riot of gowns, girls, song and fun, continues to attract at the Orpheum. This little musical comedy is the prattiest and most elaborate in variety, and in turn it is supported by a galaxy of Keith artists that are certainly worth seeing. Next week the management is announcing the local vaudeville invasion of Valeska Suratt, of musical comedy fame, who promises a sensation and a real surprise in her magnificent production, called "Black Crepe and Diamonds." In bringing Miss Suratt to the Orpheum, where popular prices will remain in vogue during her engagement, the management declares they have taken a quite daring financial plunge. For Miss Suratt is a positive metropolitan headliner, whose name has flamed in Broadway in musical comedy as much as it has in vaudeville. The setting of her new act is an exact replica of the boudoir of her own Louis XV apartment, located a stone's throw from Sherry's and Delmonico's, and much of the furnishings of the same are utilized in the stage picture. Five perfect confections by Collet, of Paris, are worn by Miss Suratt, as are also her famous $20,000 diamond and pearl dog collar and her $10,000 chin-plumbe. Her vaudeville attractions, three of them, continue to attract good sized audiences to the Busy Corner. For the first three days of next week the management is announcing another Jesse L. Lasky moving picture feature. This time it will be a dramatization of the Man On the Box," by Harold McGrath. Like all of the Lasky features, it will be splendidly staged, with much attention given to detail and nothing will be spared in the way of an excellent cast.—Advertisement.

THE DARE-DEVIL DETECTIVE AT THE PALACE
 A sensational drama is presented here to-day, entitled "The Dare-Devil Detective," an offering in four parts that compels interest from start to finish. Count Landmann is engaged to marry Hilda Raenald, a famous dancer, whose brother Harry is a swindler and long known to the police, but so far uncaught by them. The Count has been missing several valuable works of art and has employed "Hayes, the Dare-Devil Detective," to solve the mystery of their disappearance. The Count gives a reception and allows his fiancée to wear a string of pearls, a priceless family heirloom, but tells her that it is usually kept in the bank and insured for 100,000 pounds. In returning them to the bank, her brother Harry steals the bag containing the pearls. He is chased by the detective over the roof of a fast-moving train, he throws away the bag and the detective makes a daring jump off the train only to find an empty bag. The thief is afterwards caught by the detective at the house of an accomplice and restores the pearls to their rightful owner. Paths Daily News to-day presents some subjects dealing with the present European war.—Advertisement.

"SEALED ORDERS" AT THE PALACE
 "Sealed Orders," a war-like film in six parts, employing, it is claimed, a fleet of dreadnaughts and two armies, will be shown at this house to-day and Saturday. "Sealed Orders" shows one or two of the fine points of war, and gives an intimation of how countries get the information of what the other country intends doing at a time when action is unexpected. Philip Smalley and Lois Weber will also be shown in a Rex Universal film, entitled "Behind the Veil"—Advertisement.

GOOD BILL AT COLONIAL
 "The Oath of a Viking," a beautiful feature film in multiple reels, that deals with a pretty romance in the lore of the Norseman. "The Mexican Invasion in Harrisburg," a funny and interesting local-made "movie," and clever and diversified vaudeville attractions, three of them, continue to attract good sized audiences to the Busy Corner. For the first three days of next week the management is announcing another Jesse L. Lasky moving picture feature. This time it will be a dramatization of the
