MISS MYRTLE RICHARDS

MISS MYRTLE RICHARDS

Miss Myrtle Richards, a member of the Salvation Army corps at Pittsburgh, is a guest at the home of William L. Daniels, 515 Dauphin street, en route home from London. Miss Richards arrived in New York on August 29. She says the Adriatic, on which she salled, was compelled to take a northerly direction owing to mines that had been laid by the British. She had difficulty in getting passage and lost her trunk, which is supposed to have been sent on another boat.

Miss Richards says the Adriatic carried four guns, each of which was manned by thirty naval reservists. The guns were carried as a protective measure. There were 6,000 passengers on the boat.
