"Their Married Life"

Helen tied her cap carefully around her head and gave a last hasty look at herself in the one tiny glass that the bathroom afforded. The door of the bathroom next to hers was ajar she came out and she concluded that Warren had gone on out and was waiting for her at the office. He hated to wait for any one and Helen was ready on time, no matter how late she tried. Helen stopped a moment by the door to see if he had gone down to the beach. "Come on," said a voice near her. "How long have you been waiting to wait out here before you put in your appearance? I've been way out to beach and back, and the water's so hot, I can tell you. All nonsense about your not wanting to go in."

standing around and she kept her eyes closely upon Helen. She was lifted into a machine and a few minutes later was stretched carefully on a bed in her own room, the long rubber coat that some one had wrapped around her keeping the bedclothes from being soaked from her wet bathing suit. Later she opened her eyes to find herself alone with Warren. He was standing by the bed looking at her and she couldn't help smiling at the funny sight he made standing there in his bathing suit with a coat thrown over his shoulders. "You'd better not move till the doctor comes," he said solemnly. "I had a bad time of it all right, didn't you? Guess we'll have those headaches tended to; you gave me a bad scare there for a while!" Helen felt like saying that nothing would have happened if she had spent the morning quietly in her room as she had suggested, but she did not feel like reproaching Warren now; she seemed so sorry for her, and so upset over the entire affair, that she said, "I don't want to see the doctor in these wet clothes, Warren; if you would get my kimono for me, I'll try to take off this wet suit."

SOFT QUARTER OR LONG SLEEVES USED FOR AUTUMN

Blouse Like This Is Pretty With Brocaded or Plaid Skirt

8340 Fancy Blouse, 34 to 42 bust. WITH THREE-QUARTER OR LONG SLEEVES.

This blouse with chemisette and flaring collar is a very new and charming one while it can be used in many different ways. In the picture, it is made of crepe de chine with lace and designed for a separate blouse but the model is equally appropriate for the entire gown and is suited to any seasonable fashionable fabric, organdie and the like quite as well as the soft silks. At the moment, crepe de chine is exceedingly well liked for separate use and taffeta is greatly in demand for gowns but tulle and bengaline are both promised for the autumn and the blouse could be made from either of these to serve admirably for cooler weather. As shown here, lace makes the chemisette and sleeves but organdie made all of the same with chemisette, fronts and cuffs embroidered would be exceedingly dainty and charming.

For the medium size, the blouse will require 3 1/2 yds. of material 37, 2 1/2 yds. 36, 2 yds. 44 in. wide, with 3 yds. of lace 5 in. wide. The pattern 8340 is cut in sizes from 34 to 42 inches bust measure. It will be mailed to any address by the Fashion Department of this paper, on receipt of ten cents.

AMUSEMENTS

MAJESTIC To-morrow evening—"High Jinks" Friday, matinee and evening, September 11—"Cherry Blossoms." Saturday, matinee and evening, September 12—"Potash and Perlmutter." Monday, matinee and evening, September 14—"A Pair of Sixes." ORPHEUM Every afternoon and evening—High Class Vaudeville. COLONIAL Daily Continuous Vaudeville and Pictures.

"HIGH JINKS" The story of "High Jinks," which Arthur Hammerstein will present at the Majestic Theater to-morrow evening, is all about a perfume, which, once inhaled, makes all who inhale it not only good-natured, but remarkably hilarious. The secret of the perfume is communicated by the discoverer to an American nerve specialist in Paris. The doctor decides to try it in his practice, and experiments with a young female patient. She becomes so joyous under its influence, that she throws her arms around the doctor's neck and kisses him to her heart's content. Her husband, a quarrelsome Frenchman, is witness to the incident, and at once seeks satisfaction from the doctor. How the physician sought to outwit the Frenchman and a strange maze of femininity form the substance matter of the remainder of the plot, whose fun mounts higher and higher as it proceeds.—Advertisement.

"POTASH AND PERLMUTTER" "Potash and Perlmutter," the greatest New York success in many years, will be presented at the Majestic to-day, afternoon and evening. No other theatrical offering in many years has made such a prodigious amount of amusement-seekers as this delightful comedy based upon the characters and incidents of Montague and Capulet. Their quaint humor and quainter personalities have made "Potash and Perlmutter" national characters, international characters, in fact, for they have fully captured the hearts of the tremendous success made in New York, and Manager A. H. Woods, who presented them to the public, has arranged for the rights to the play in every other civilized country in the world. Lew Welch and Jules Jordan will play the same parts in the excellent company that comes to Harrisburg.—Advertisement.

THE "SPIT CURL" To-day the topic of the town seems to be Valaska Suratt. Some interesting phases of this exotic beauty, who is creating a small sensation at the Orpheum, or some interesting bit concerning her act called "The Spit Curl and Diamonds," that is far and away the most unusual production ever seen at the "Looney Street." Many remarks are being made among the ladies concerning her gorgeous raiment, some concerning her sleek and clever head dress with her own Valaska Suratt "spit curl"; others are talking about her beauty of face and figure—in fact, everybody seems to be impressed in some way by our precious Valaska. In her magnificent production, "Black Crepe and Diamonds," Miss Suratt is surrounded by a cast of five players, whose talent as dancers has not been equaled on a local stage. A duo of dancers, who dance like streaked lightning—admirably, are also in the act. This act is also superbly enough—probably by the aesthetic Valaska, and there isn't a dancing team to-day comparable to this. Alfred Gerard is clever in the role of Gayety. All these players come on and keep the audience peaceful while Valaska is adding trills to her act-up. "Black Crepe and Diamonds" is a vaudeville gem. If it were the only attraction appearing at the Orpheum this week it would be well worth the time and price.—Advertisement.

"THE MAN ON THE BOX" It has been a long time since the management of the Colonial presented a moving picture feature that pleased as much as "The Man on the Box," the beautiful Jesse L. Lasky feature, that will be shown there for the last time to-day. In connection with this feature film there is a vaudeville offering embracing a splendid vocal novelty, a good comedy duo, and a pleasing character singing comedienne. The vocalists are the Italian Muskatereers, five of them, and in the half light of the stage and in a pretty stage setting, they offer a vocal treat that is seldom seen or heard in a theater where the prices are as low as those in vogue at the Colonial. For the last half of the week the management is announcing a feature film in multiple reels called "The Chinney Sweep," as a special attraction or Blood Eruptions That Linger For Years How They Are Closed, Cleansed and Healed Never to Return.

most anywhere you go people become really reminiscent to tell you how years they used S. S. S. for blood eruptions were entirely cured. This famous skin remedy removed all impurities, set the skin in the healthiest condition so that the face, body, hands, and all eruptions cleared up naturally. These people to this day enjoy a healthy complexion because S. S. S. drove the acids that cause rheumatism, and the membranes of catarrhal infections, the kidneys, lungs and liver, and the bowels, and all other organs, to the point where it is known S. S. S. got it out if it is a blood taint, and all health is a blood sickness. In those defiant cases that resist such drugs as mercury, arsenic or iodine S. S. S. gave way completely to the over-riding effect of S. S. S. in the blood. It is acceptable to even very weak stomachs, hence no one need despair of getting rid of disfiguring blood eruptions. The action of S. S. S. is direct; it works outwardly in accordance with nature's tendencies. As an illustration take for example a blind boil or blood taint. The action of S. S. S. is such that both the pus and the blood are drawn out around its edges, they crowd quickly to the center where the skin flake of leaving a new healthy covering beneath. Now, this same process goes on all over the body wherever it flows. These interesting facts are more fully explained in a book written by a specialist which is mailed free by the makers of S. S. S., The Swift Specific Co., 29 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Ask at any drug store for a bottle of S. S. S., but don't accept a substitute. The medical department of The Swift Specific Co. has been of inestimable value to blood sufferers in successfully directing them to complete recovery. And this advice is entirely free, very complete and a splendid aid to all who are in doubt and perplexed about their trouble.
