London, Sept. 12, 2.30 p. m.—The Admiralty announced this afternoon that the British fleet has occupied Herbersthoehoe on Belinche Bay, the seat of government of the German archipelago, and the Solomon Islands.

The official press bureau gave out the following statement this afternoon: "A telegram has been received from Rear Admiral Sir George E. Patey, commanding the Australian navy, announcing the occupation at 7 a. m. of Herbersthoehoe on Belinche Bay, in the island of New Pomerania (late New Britain)."

"The German officer in command of the parties in the trench 500 yards from the station surrendered unconditionally. "Guns have been landed and steps have been taken to capture the station."

"The casualties are: Killed, Lieutenant Commander Charles H. Elwell and two seamen of the Australian naval reserve; wounded, ten seamen. "The German casualties are not known. The British group was composed of noncommissioned officers and thirteen native policemen were taken prisoners."

The group was assigned to the German sphere of influence by an agreement with Great Britain in 1885. German New Guinea is included in the jurisdiction.

What Wilkes-Barre Times-Leader said about them Saturday, September 12: "A Pair of Sixes" to the Grand opera house last night marking the first of a long list of New York successes scheduled to appear at the Grand in rapid succession from now on.

A huge audience was present prepared to be amused and they certainly had all their expectations realized not only from a laughing standpoint, but also in the excellent company and handsome stage settings which were presented to view.

"A Pair of Sixes" starts in right from the rise of the curtain with amusing situations and bright dialogue and keeps up this pace through three entertaining acts.

The plot is original and plausible and the characters clean cut and such as are found in everyday business life. The petty quarrels of the two partners and the married existence of the employes is clearly brought out and the original settlement of the disputes which are breaking up a prosperous business, leaves the audience in an expectant state for the complications which are bound to ensue through the fatal poker hand which makes a butler out of one of the partners.

Paul Nicholson is seen as the partner who loses and his interpretation of the role of T. Boggs John was a delight. Thomas Walsh as the bullying senior member of the firm, gave a splendid interpretation and Miss Katharine Wilson was the pert and saucy stenographer to the life. Meyer Berenson was a typical office boy and Mildred Booth was a sweet and lovable person who straightens out the business and wins the junior partner for herself. A special word of praise is due Miss Angie Norton, who, in the role of "Coddies," a cockney English servant, is the hit of the show. Her appearance caused a gale of laughter to sweep through the audience and when she spoke and moved it was the sign for uncontrolled mirth. The entire company was splendid and all scored hits. There will be a matinee and night performance at the Majestic Monday, September 14.

ABBOTT-DETROIT TO BE IN SIXES ONLY

Change of Manufacturing Policy Determined After the 1915 Announcement Was Made

Another factory to announce the making of six-cylinder only is the Abbott Motor Company, of Detroit. The information was received this morning by G. J. Natcher, manager of the Detroit branch in this city, the details of which appear in their announcement elsewhere in this issue. This necessitates the closing out of their entire line of four-cylinder models, nearly one thousand of which have been built or material arranged for so far this season. More than 7,000 Abbott cars are now in actual use and it is known from coast to coast. As the local office is a factory branch, a complete line of models is usually on display.

The company claims to have produced the original non-skid tires. The tires are now made in the Staggard and plain tread, built on the most scientific principles. Mr. Haas has built up a prosperous automobile supply business in North Third street by persistent but conservative methods, and the increase of stock in his business is a testimonial to his assurance of a progressive policy that is appreciated by the automobile owners in that section of the city.

Baltimore Children Form Human Flag

Baltimore, Sept. 12.—The events in today's celebration of the Star Spangled Banner centennial took place at Fort McHenry. A fac simile of the flag that inspired Key to write the national anthem was carried in a parade from the Washington Monument to the fort after which the dedication of the historic battlement as a public park took place.

Among the events on the program at the fort was the human flag formed by several thousand school children who sang "The Star Spangled Banner."

Enemy's Retreat Dotted by Burned Villages

Petrograd, via London, Sept. 12, 5.13 A. M.—The Warsaw correspondent of the Novoe Vremya gives an account of the fighting beyond Lublin, Russian Poland. His dispatch follows: "The Russians were compelled to take several lines of fortifications step by step, ejecting the Austrians from the trenches. In one or two miles of abandoned trenches and saw many guns and much equipment which had been thrown away by the Austrians."

"The enemy was deluged with a hail of shrapnel alternating with gun fire and his line of retreat was dotted by burning and deserted villages. Along the roads in the direction of Lublin were marching Austrian prisoners who were surrendering in companies and battalions."

"For six hours I watched the battle. The artillery fire was maintained in the distance above a wood, shrapnel bursting and white clouds rising over the horizon. Suddenly from the wood appeared a black mass, which on growing clearer, was seen to be an Austrian battalion, which fled out and surrendered. At night the thunder of the cannon alternated with the crackle of rifle fire. The enemy's artillery was located and silenced by ours."

French Embassy Hears of German Retirement

Washington, Sept. 12.—The following dispatch from Bordeaux dated yesterday, was received to-day at the French embassy: "The French general staff made known yesterday that the German army continues its retirement. Three of its army corps were repulsed last night between Villers, Colleters and Soissons. We have in four days gained about sixty to seventy-five kilometers."

"In the second army, the Tenth corps and guards, driven back to the Saint Cond swamps, are also withdrawing."

"In the Champagne, the Third German army is also retreating. The German center is thus at last giving ground."

"After a hard fight in the region between Sezanne and Villy in the Argonne, the Fourth German army has been pushed back to the north of the Troisfontaines forests."

"A Fifth German army after attempting a very serious effort on our right wing, was thrown back. Our troops occupy Massinocourt."

"The general staff has thus been modified to our advantage during these last days."

"On the other side the Austrian army attacked near Tomaszow was forced to disengage. The entire whole army has been pushed back to the west of Rawa Ruska and the Dniester river. The Russian besieged Grodek."

Reinforcements May Be Sent to Austria

Petrograd, Sept. 11, via London Sept. 12, 4.57 A. M.—Colonel Shunsky, the military critic, writing in the Bourgeois Gazette, criticizes the hasty dispatch of German reinforcements to the Austrian frontier to the rout of the Austrians. The defeat of the Austrians, he says, should compel Germany to carry on the war independently and he therefore expresses a conviction that 300,000 troops transferred from France eastward are destined, not for east Prussia, but for the Austrian front.

STATE AND NATIONAL ROTARY WORKS FOR EXTENSION BRANCH

Congressman Kreider Tells Them to Take Advantage of Opportunities

Lebanon, Pa., Sept. 12.—Congressman A. S. Kreider, of Anville, addressed by special invitation the boys' agricultural and girls' domestic science classes at one, this county this afternoon on modern conditions and opportunities on the farm. Among other things he called attention to the work the State and nation are doing for the farmer. He said in part: "I want to impress upon you to-day that the Agricultural Department of the State of Pennsylvania is anxious and willing to serve each and every one who desires information or service and I ask you to take advantage of the opportunities provided for you. If you make the request of the department they will send a man here free of expense to you who will analyze your soil and tell you what it is best adapted for and the most profitable crops that you can raise and how to go about raising this crop along scientific methods. They will tell you what is lacking in your soil and what you should supply in way of fertilizer in order to produce the most abundant crops. They will go further than this. Should you desire to erect new buildings or rearrange your old buildings with more modern equipments, they will assist you all they can by making drawings for you along the most approved methods and economical cost of construction. All of this and a great deal more is yours for the asking. This work is supplemented by the governmental work in Washington. Our Agricultural Department, therefore, is willing to lend you assistance of equal value and you should take advantage of the opportunity. Some are and why not you?"

A. officer happened along and became suspicious. Kunkel went after Guarini, but he started down the street. Kunkel galloped after the alleged thief and soon he was joined by Policeman Mahan.

The chase started in Market street, to Front to River alley to Blackberry alley, where Mahan shot five times into the air. At Second and Walnut streets the thief was caught. He declares the bicycle is his own.

French Capture Long Ammunition Train

London, Sept. 12, 2.55 A. M.—The Daily Telegraph correspondent at Nanterre, department of Oise, in a dispatch dated Thursday dealing with the turn of the tide in favor of the allies gives the impression, derived from wounded French officers, that the German army meeting for the first time troops almost equal in number, has been rolled up and sorely troubled and the right of the enemy composed of some of the finest German forces, has retired so far that the center must give way to risk the line communication.

General Pau scored a tremendous triumph in capturing an enormous ammunition column 4 1/2 miles long. This he destroyed, leaving the Germans very short of ammunition.

Berlin Is Silent on Fighting Near Paris

Berlin, via Copenhagen, via London, Sept. 12, 7.40 A. M.—No details of the battles eastward of Paris and around Verdun have been received either from the general staff or the correspondents attached to headquarters.

A telegram has been made public, which was sent by Emperor William to the king of Saxony, congratulating him on the achievements of his army on September 9 after hot fighting. The telegram throws little light on the fighting near Paris. The army retreated to that under the Saxon general, Von Hausen, who is in an intermediate position between the armies of General von Bulow on the right and the Duke of Albrecht on the left. Its line of march led southward over Rethel, so it presumably occupied a position on the left wing or the left center of the German forces engaged near Paris, the right wing of which effected a retirement before superior flanking forces.

The captured guns and prisoners mentioned in yesterday's headquarters report are presumably the fruit of the success mentioned in the emperor's congratulatory message.

Plan of March Found on Body of Commander

Petrograd, Sept. 12, via London, 12.22 P. M.—A detailed plan of the proposed march of Austro-German armies through Russia to Perm, on the extreme eastern border of European Russia and about 700 miles east of Petrograd, has been found on the body of a commander of Austrian cavalry who was killed at Grodek, in Galicia.

In this fight three Cossack regiments completely overwhelmed nine Hungarian regiments of cavalry. Two of these Hungarian organizations were virtually wiped out, only thirty men surviving.

Washington Government to Wait Initiation of European Powers

Washington, D. C., Sept. 12.—The United States probably will join the protest of the powers against Turkey's abrogation of the capitulations which granted foreigners extra territorial rights. The United States has restricted the sovereignty of the Ottoman empire. This was predicted to-day by Administration officials, although a definite course of action has not finally been decided upon by President Wilson and Secretary Bryan.

The disposition of the Washington government was to await the initiative of the European powers following the traditional policy of the United States in that regard. The reports that the foreign diplomats in Constantinople had protested to the Porte was received with interest by officials.

The State Department received to-day only a brief report from Ambassador Morgenthau recording the action of the Turkish government as announced here two days ago, but made no comment on the reasons for the step or its probable effect.

The view that the American government would protest against the abrogation of extra territorial rights advanced by officials, who said the reason would be protested against, Americans had invested considerable sums in Turkey because of the special privileges and protection afforded them under the capitulations; and, second, because the removal of the extra territorial rights might lessen the personal security of American missionaries.

At the Turkish Embassy it was learned that the Porte proposes to substitute for the present ad valorem duties on imports specific duties. This would result in an additional burden on exporters, most of whom are said to be British. On the other hand, the lenders of money to the Turkish government would be benefited by the result in an additional burden on the Turkish customs for their loans. The principal lenders are said to be French.

An Ambassador Morgenthau cabled the State Department to-day that the European powers have protested against the abrogation, but that as he was without instructions he did not join in the action. Officials here learned that the protest was a mild one and some observers in Constantinople look upon it as hardly strong enough to make any impression on the Porte.
