THREE BIG BATTLES ARE RAGING IN WAR THEATER OF EUROPE

Headquarters of Various Armies Have Not Been Able to Claim Decisive Victories

By Associated Press

London, Sept. 12, 10.20 a. m.—Three tremendous struggles are raging along as many battle lines and from none of them comes a report of a decisive result. The mystery of the western operation is complicated by the news from Berlin which ignores General Von Kluck's efforts on the German right while indicating that the German attack on Verdun is proceeding successfully.

Official reports conveyed to the Bavarian Sixth Corps seem to indicate that that army is merely expected to prevent the sending of allied reinforcements northward. If the German attack on the southerly exposure of the Verdun forts, assisted by the great siege guns, succeeds, the complete investment of Verdun will ensue.

The situation along the Russian border is becoming more obscure as are the western operations. Berlin reports that the victory of General Von Hindenburg will clear East Prussia of Russian troops, and that the Petrograd declare that it is incredible that the Russians should give up the investment of Koenigsberg unless suffering greater disaster than that which has been reported.

Russians Successful

In Russian Poland the Russians still seem to be successful, while operations against the Austrians alone, but they are making less impression on the combined Austro-German armies on the Vistula. The stand being made on the Vistula has caused several military experts at Petrograd to assert that German reinforcements from France are being sent to Galicia instead of to East Prussia, as was at first reported. This is done, according to the opinion of these experts, because Germany feared that an overwhelming disaster of the Austrian forces might lead the dual monarchy to conclude peace independently of Germany. Other expert observers in Petrograd are equally firm in the opinion that the German veterans from the fields of Belgium and France have been sent to East Prussia, where their presence is believed to account for the Russian check. The most substantial gain by Russian forces within the last twenty-four hours has been the capture of Tomaszow, which probably clears the way for the advance of the Russian center on the Austro-German forces on the Vistula river.

Both Belgium and France, it appears in London to-day, are optimistic enough to begin to consider reoccupying their capitals. Brussels is still in the hands of the Germans, but there are many signs that the forces of Germany are moving out of that section of the country. It is reported to have been reoccupied by Belgian troops following the departure of the Germans without waiting for the supplies promised by that city.

The story of a mysterious booming of guns in the North Sea has been revived. It is, however, given no credence inasmuch as a recent sweeping of the North Sea by a British fleet did not disclose the presence of any German warships.

One of the principal parts in "Pog O' My Heart" is that of Michael, played by a "purr," who seems to enjoy his dramatic appearance as much as any of the other characters. He is a clever, amine story.

"Said Flossie to May: 'Just listen while I talk to Fido. He's so intelligent."

"Does doggie want to tum out for a walk?"

"Mow-wow!"

"Of course 'oo does; but 'oo just had a bath and 'oo might tatch cold."

"Bov-wow!"

"If 'oo stays home, I'll div 'oo a piece of cake."

"Bov-wow!"

"I knew 'oo would. What kind of cake?"

"Bov-wow!"

"Sponge-cake. All right, 'oo shall have spongy-cake. Dis 'oo ever see a intelligent dog, May. He understands every word I say to him."

—July Young's Magazine.
