RELEASE "SMEARY" TOP SWAMP ROCKS

Great Natural Swimming Pool Will Again Be Opened Up in the River

By removing the big rocks from the river bed around the mouth of the Beaver River, City Engineer Harry F. Bowman, superintendent of public safety, is not only providing a splendid channel for canoes and motorboats but is also clearing out a great natural swimming pool.

"Smeary" as the great rock to the north and west of the island point has been known for years, has long been a popular diving rock for Harrisburg swimmers and large ones, too. Of late years, however, it has lost its popularity because of the encroaching sand.

For the last couple of weeks Harry F. Bowman has been busy with his large blasting gangs tearing out the rocks. Before another fortnight rolls around Mr. Berrier expects to have the river from the intake to the north end of the island practically free of rocks.
