GOOD WILL FIRE COMPANY NO. 7, HAS HAD INTERESTING RECORD

Protects One of the Largest Territories in the City; Members Prominent in Official Life

COL. H. C. DEMMING

President of Firemen's Union and Member of Good Will

"Good Will, Good Will, Number Seven, Best of the Company Under Heaven."

There was a time when the city limits were at Reilly street. Houses were scarce after passing North street. Later on there was a rapid growth of buildings between Forster and Reilly streets, and from Third to Sixth. This brought about the organization of the Good Will fire company now located at Sixth and Calder streets. Residents of the West End still remember the small boys singing the above lines whenever they referred to the Good Will company. Those boys are now business men and many belong to the No. 7 company. The Good Will company has the distinction of being in charge of one of the largest sections in Harrisburg. The company has always had a large territory to look after. Since the erection of the Pennsylvania railroad shops and roundhouse this company is rather important. This is one argument in favor of giving the "Goodies" one of the new auto engines now being built. The Good Will has had an interesting history. While not a member since its organization, Colonel Henry C. Demming, one of the oldest volunteer firemen in Harrisburg, has kept data concerning this organization. Recently he prepared the following for the Harrisburg Telegraph:

Used a Hand Engine
The Good Will Fire Company, No. 7, was organized or instituted in 1860, and first used a hand engine with side brakes. The first house of the company stood on the west side of Ridge road, now North Sixth street, a short distance above Cumberland street. It was a frame building, and erected by the day labor of the individual members of the company who volunteered for that purpose. The hand engine was used until July 1869, when the company purchased a steam engine, and named it the "William K. Verbeke," in honor of the late city controller, who was the most liberal contributor toward the purchase. The present engine was purchased in 1897, and is probably the heaviest steam fire engine in the city, weighing over 3,000 pounds, exclusive of water and fuel. It is also named the "William K. Verbeke." The company vacated their original premises, and moved into their present commodious building in 1873.

Verbeke First President

"William K. Verbeke was the first president of the company, and continued in that office until 1871, when he relinquished the position until 1874, on account of having been elected Mayor of Harrisburg. On the expiration of his mayoralty office he returned to the office and held the office until the time of his death, February 23, 1898. The office of president, except when Mr. Verbeke was in that position was held successively by J. N. Blundin, William B. Olsen, George W. Lutz, Charles W. Scott, John Porter, James Cummings, Henry C. Demming and J. H. Williamson, the present incumbent. The membership of the Good Will Company have been signally honored, as follows: Mayor, William K. Verbeke, January 9, 1871, to January 15, 1873; chief engineer, Charles A. Wilhelm, 1871-3; chief engineer of the fire department, Isalah Reese, January 6, 1874; George W. Lutz, chief engineer, June 25, 1899, and subsequently reappointed as chief engineer, John McClure, January 6, 1879, and re-elected January 5, 1880; George Mumma, January 8, 1883, second assistant engineer; John Geiger, January 12, 1885, and re-elected January 7, 1878. After the office of second assistant engineer had been abolished, Harvey Dintaman was elected assistant engineer in 1895.

The membership of the Good Will Company are: Firemen's Union of Harrisburg, Christian D. Kramer, president, in 1891; George W. Lutz, president, January 8, 1901, and now serving his fourteenth term as president, and fifteenth year as a member. Charles W. Scott was elected secretary soon after the organization of the union and held that office for several years.

"Harrisburg Firemen's Beneficial Association, Christian D. Kramer, president. He joined the Good Will Fire Company in 1866, and when the Beneficial Association was organized June 9, 1891, he was elected its treasurer, serving two years and eight months, and then resigned the position that day to this, now serving his twenty-first term.

"The Harrisburg Firemen's Relief Association has had as its president George W. Lutz, and Christian D. Kramer, Colonel Demming serving a number of years as auditor.

"The Good Will Company was incorporated as the Good Will Steam Fire Engine Company No. 7, of the City of Harrisburg, June 10, 1889, when William K. Verbeke was president, William B. Olsen, vice-president; George W. Lutz, secretary, and James H. Curry, treasurer.

At Many a Big Blaze

"The service of this company was conspicuous in every large fire in this city since the organization, and was the first company on the ground when the car shops burned at 12:35 o'clock p. m., Thursday, April 25, 1872, where the total loss was over $600,000, the largest in the history of Harrisburg, except the burning of the State Capitol.

"During the car shop's fire several members nearly lost their lives, including Colonel Demming, who was enveloped with smoke and flying cinders while attempting to remove the most important account books of the company from the company's office. The present official list of the company is: President, John H. Williamson; vice-president, Michael E. Hoff; recording secretary, William H. Filling, Jr.; treasurer, Chas. Eckels."

Seven Shots Enter Submarine Which Sent Pathfinder to Bottom

London, Sept. 15, 5.05 A. M.—The "Scotman" to-day states that the German submarine which sank the British cruiser Pathfinder has itself been sunk. On Wednesday last, according to the report of a part of the British fleet on the lookout for German submarines became aware of the near presence of one. The British vessels divided when the submarine appeared with only its periscope showing.

Battles in France Have Been Without Decisive Results, Says Berlin

Berlin, Sept. 15, via Amsterdam and London, 12.05 P. M.—The German general staff to-day gave out the following official announcement: "In the western theater of war the ring of our army has been engaged in heavy but un decisive battles. The French, who endeavored to break through our lines, were victoriously defeated. "At other points where there has been fighting no decisive results have been reached."

Four Canoeists Have Hard Pulling on Trip

They started from Williamsport, Md., last Monday, September 7. Laverty says they are having considerable difficulty in certain places because of the lowness of the streams, but are having a bully time and developing hearty appetites. A breakfast of fried mush he describes as the best food he has ever tasted. Parts of his diary are as follows: "From Williamsport, Md., we went by the Cumberland canal, some eighty-four miles. The scenery was beautiful, high cliffs of solid stratified rock hanging over the left side of the canal. On the right side of the canal is the beautiful Potomac River and the Blue Ridge Mountains of West Virginia. We made very good progress for the first afternoon against a current. At what is known as Big Pool Lake, a typical camping ground, a large platform had been built for motor, and on that we camped. Larger canal-boats passed us down by ropes. It was rather cold but we slept well. We arose at 5.45 and had fried mush for breakfast and it tasted finer than anything we ever tasted before."

Potomac Nearly Dry

"We can't go up the Potomac those twenty-nine miles to Bloomington as the Potomac is almost dried up. Sampson and Gayman tried the last mile before we arrived here and it took them two solid hours to carry their canoe. They arrived at 3 o'clock, half-starved and wet from the knees down. We ship to Connelville, Pa., eighty miles, but it's a thirty-five miles ship. Instead of a long drive to the next shipping point, we will never make it in 1914. We are going to walk these eighty miles in two days and sleep out-to-night. We are each carrying a blanket and poncho."

HOUSING MATTER OF STATE CONCERN

Dr. Dixon Speaks About the Importance of Caring For People in Their Homes

State Commissioner of Health Samuel G. Dixon is urging that people give more attention to their home surroundings in the interest of health. In one of his week-end talks the commissioner calls attention to the lack of care given to trifling, but important, details. He says:

Nature intended man to live outdoors. Civilization has so extended the geographical range of the human race that this primitive plan has of necessity been abandoned by the great majority of people, who spend far more time indoors than out. In the early stages of civilization houses were sufficiently primitive to insure a healthful degree of ventilation. In recent years there has been much talk in regard to the improvement necessary in housing conditions. In the larger cities there are many miserable tenements which are unfit for habitation, but the great majority of our modern houses are constructed on sanitary lines and would be more healthful if they were properly used.

All the living rooms and bedrooms should have a sufficient amount of fresh air passing through them to keep the atmosphere perfectly sweet.

Rheumatism

A Home Cure Given by One Who Had It

In the spring of 1903 I was attacked by muscular and inflammatory rheumatism. I suffered as only those who have it know, for over three years. I tried remedial after remedial, and doctor after doctor, but such relief as I received was only temporary. Finally, I found a remedy that cured me completely, and it has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted and even bedridden with rheumatism, and it effected a cure in every case. I want every sufferer from any form of rheumatic trouble to try this marvelous healing power. Don't send a cent; simply mail your name and address and I will send it free to try. After you have used it and it has proven itself to be that long-sought-for means of curing your rheumatism, you may send the price of one cent and have it mailed. I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer when positive relief is thus offered you free? Don't delay. Write today.

Library Circulation Has Been Increasing

Reports made to the trustees of the Harrisburg Public Library last night indicated that during the warm months the library has been used to a greater extent than expected, the attendance being larger than usual in summer months and the circulation of books greater. The library is preparing to resume its fall activities and on September 24 the examination for members of the training class will be held. Within a few weeks the Saturday morning story telling hour, one of the great features for children, will be resumed by Miss Fair, who had charge of it last spring. The annual meeting of the library will be held on October 12.

Boils, Billiousness, Malaria, Constipation

Are You Troubled?

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

Perhaps this case may be similar to yours

J. Wesley Tilly of (Box 673), Selma, Cal., writes: "Gentlemen:—It gives me much pleasure to be able to send you a testimonial, for by its reaching some sufferer your medicine will do as much for him as it has done for me. At the age of fourteen I was troubled a great deal with malaria and billiousness, accompanied with the worst sort of large boils. I was persuaded by my parents, who have always been strong believers in Dr. Pierce's remedies, to try the Golden Medical Discovery. I took one bottle and the boils all disappeared, but I did not stop at one bottle, I took three bottles and I feel as well as I have had no more boils to this day. Thanks to the Golden Medical Discovery for my relief."

"Following an operation for appendicitis two years ago I was troubled very much with constipation and I have been trying Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pills and they have done me more good than any other medicine I have ever used. I have obtained from The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser." Send only 81 cents for this 100 page book.

SPEAKER ALTER FOR DR. BRUMBAUGH

Allegheny County Man Makes Speeches in Behalf of the Candidate For Governor

RIGHT MAN FOR THE PLACE

Candidate Makes Whirlwind Tour of Allegheny County and Goes to Donora Today

Special to The Telegraph

Pittsburgh, Sept. 15.—Speaker George E. Alter, the man most frequently mentioned as a possible candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor against Dr. Martin G. Brumbaugh, last night came out on the platform for the Philadelphia schoolmaster. The speaker's attitude has been one which has been watched with interest by his friends and by men active in politics throughout the whole State and by Democrats who hoped that he would declare against Brumbaugh. Instead, he has come out with one of those clear statements for which he is noted and right in his home town asked the voters to support the Republican candidate for Governor as the best qualified man.

The meeting at the speaker's home was the windup of a busy day. It was held at Springdale up the Allegheny river and was attended by many people who came to see what part Mr. Alter would take. Early in the day he joined the Brumbaugh campaign party in its tour of the county and when he got home he asked his neighbors to support Dr. Brumbaugh for these reasons:

"Doctor Brumbaugh is peculiarly the type of man equipped to fill the Governorship with credit to the people of Pennsylvania. He is honest, he is strong; strong enough to make his own platform and then have that platform incorporated in the platform of his party. He can pledge you for what he will do and he will do it. He will resist the influences which will surround him and which so often have paralyzed the weak."

Support For Toller
Six speeches before widely different audiences, beginning with an address featuring the historical richness of Pennsylvania and concluding with one pleading solemnly for support of legislation for the tollers, Dr. Martin G. Brumbaugh, Republican candidate for Governor, was out pursuing votes from early morning until late last night in and around Pittsburgh. It was another of the whirlwind trips by which the Philadelphia educator enjoyed to the utmost his liking for meeting the voters face to face, shaking them up in the old and changing personal reminiscences. The afternoon and night was given over to a swift automobile trip through the Allegheny Valley, with stops at Verona, Lakemont, Harmony, Cheswick, Springdale, Natrona, Torontum, Montrose, Aspinwall and Sharpshoof.

The candidate captured the hearts of 200 Verona school children who gathered to welcome him with a simple speech in words almost of one syllable in which he drew on his experiences in building the schools of Porto Rico when sent there by President McKinley.

In Harris township, entering the plant of the West Pennsylvania Steel Company, clean of hands and face, Doctor Brumbaugh emerged grimy, gray and dirty, his face fairly beaming. In an hour's time he had shaken hands with the majority of the 1,000 men while at work.

A few minutes later he addressed another thousand at the plant of the Allegheny Steel Company assembled in a lot adjoining the works. In Tarantum he talked to 500.
