PLACID CHINESE WOMEN

An illustration of how well their emotions are hidden

"Chinese women are trained to show no emotion, to appear absolutely placid under all circumstances," says Elizabeth Cooper, author of "My Lady of the Chinese Courtyard." "I saw it illustrated at a reception given to the wife of one of the high Chinese officials. All of the women of the foreign official colony were at my home, about forty in number, and the great lady was announced. Every one rose. The room was a very long one, about seventy-five feet, and had a very highly-polished floor covered with Persian rugs.

"The Chinese lady came to the doorway, with a servant on each side of her to help her walk upon her tiny bound feet. At the entrance they left her, and she started to come to me; but, being almost helpless upon her 'golden lilies,' she stepped upon a rug, which slid upon the polished floor, and instead of swaying 'like the bamboo in the breeze' as she came to me she sat down suddenly and slid to my feet, to the consternation and horror of the assembled guests.

"She was raised to her feet, and although she must have been covered with confusion and embarrassment thus to make her first entrance into a foreign home, she gave her hand to me without a trace of emotion visible in her face or manner, nor did she apologize. One would think by her appearance that it was the usual mode of entrance into a room."

"Is your daughter fond of music?" "Terribly fond of it," replied Mr. Cumrox. "No matter how it sounds she seems to like it."—Washington Star.

HISTORIC FURNITURE

Prized Table and Chairs in the New World's Oldest Bank

Twelve business men gather at regular intervals about a long table in a room on the second floor of the building at 305 Chestnut street, Philadelphia. The chairs they sit in have been in service 133 years and are as good to-day as the day they were sold by the maker. Those chairs have supported the frames of various men famous in American affairs.

The twelve men are the directors of the Bank of North America, the oldest bank in the western hemisphere and the most remarkable. On the walls of the directors' rooms are the portraits of all the former presidents of the venerable bank, and there is a painting of Robert Morris, founder of the institution, financier of the Revolution, a man to whom the American people owed much and to whom they made a poor return.

Off at one side is a table which came from the home of Morris. It has been in service perhaps 150 years, but there is not a crack or a blemish in its mahogany body or its marble top.—Commerce and Finance.

The Mexican flag is a tricolor, exactly like the Italian flag, consisting of three broad bars, pale green, white and red, running vertically.
