David Leaves Wildwood Lake in Search of His Lost Love

At Least That's One Theory of the Big Swan's Departure Down Susquehanna River

Wildwood society, feathered, furred and finned, was all a-swoop to-day again over the latest escapade of David. David, as is probably generally known, is head of the swan family of the lake; his responsibilities are grave and many. Hence the scandal that was stirred up when the discovery was made that he had coolly and even contemptuously ignored his wives Naomi and Ruth and went out for a glide on the Susquehanna. The facts in brief are these: Some time after 8 this morning David, who had been last seen craning his neck over the edge of the great conduit that leads from the upper overflow of the lake to the river, nearly a mile away, suddenly disappeared. From the river bank near Coxestown, less than an hour later, Robert Coymann spied the great white swan on the Susquehanna. Fred Swartz, Jr., saw the bird about the same time and phoned the park department officials. In due course Assistant Superintendent Hoffert hurried to the upper end of the city via automobile and captured David with the aid of a boat after a long chase and returned him to the bosom of his family, wearied of the discovery that David's was a closed chapter—from all appearances. But the social set at Wildwood is still agitated about it. Some of the more quacking tongues have even directed the finger of suspicion at Mammie, the wild duck, outrageous flirt of the lake. There have been other reasons advanced, however. One is that David, wearied of the surfeit of love lavished upon him by Ruth and Naomi, sneaked away for a little party of his own somewhat down the Susquehanna. Another is that his love or his hatred and mate Phyllis has never grown cold and he took the first chance that offered, to follow her. (The mystery of how and why Phyllis suddenly left David a year ago and slipped down the sewer to oblivion has never been solved). Be this all as it may, the important fact remains that David is back again with his family, none the worse for his debauch.

Diseased Blood Calls for Help Nature's Willing Workers are Always at Your Service.

If it is eczema, pimples, boils or worse—your safeguard is S. S. S., the famous blood purifier. It is always lined up to attack diseased blood. And it always does the work. It does the work after disappointment, after alleged specialists, mercury, iodides, strychnine, arsenic and other destructive drugs that have reaped a harvest of mistakes and left a host of invalids guessing as to what is to come. S. S. S. is not such a drug as the cupidry or ignorance of man would be able to produce. It is Nature's wonderful contribution to our necessities. It is wonderful because it can not be imitated; can not be made any other way than to assemble Nature's products and produce what a host of men know as S. S. S., the world's greatest medicine. There are people everywhere that had an old sore or ulcer that defied all the salves known. And yet S. S. S. taken into the blood just naturally put into that old sore the elements that made new tissue, new flesh, and covered it with a new coating of healthy skin. Get a bottle of S. S. S. today of any druggist and be on the way to perfect blood health. But beware of substitutes. For special advice consult the medical department, The Swift Specific Co., 65 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. DRAWINGS FOR BOYD TROPHY ARE MADE

Country Club of Harrisburg and Reservoir Golf Teams Meet Tomorrow

Drawings were made at noon today for the first match for the Boyd Trophy between the golf teams of the Country Club of Harrisburg and the Reservoir Park Golf Club, which will be played to-morrow on the Country Club links. The matches will start at 1:30, and owing to the construction work in progress, there will be a special ground rule allowing members to lift out balls striking on the new No. 6 and to play over, if they desire, balls striking wires. This will be the first match for the new trophy and the next will be played in the Spring at the Reservoir. The line up of teams will be: No. Country Club. Reservoir. 1. McCreech, Capt. Perry, Capt. 2. Payne. 3. T. Devine, Jr. 4. Sides. 5. Pavors. 6. L. McCreech. 7. Harris. 8. McCormick. 9. Longnecker. 10. Ely. 11. Wright. 12. Faget. 13. Bent. 14. Lesher. 15. W. McCreech. 16. The etching shows a group of the delegates to the semi-annual meeting of the Rexall Club of Pennsylvania, which last night closed its sessions here at the Youngs Trade Building. The delegates are from every part of the State. While here they discussed methods of increasing sales. The man with hands folded in center is Thomas V. Wooten, of Boston, international secretary of Rexall Clubs.

BOGAR TO SUPPLY TABERNACLE LUMBER

200 Carpenters Will Start on Erection of Huge Meeting House, October 1

The Bogar Lumber Company was awarded the contract to furnish lumber and material to be used in the construction of the huge Stough tabernacle, at a meeting of the executive committee last evening. The lumber will be supplied providing the building may be dismantled at the close of the campaign and the lumber returned to the company. A meeting will be held Saturday evening to award contracts for hardware, heating and lighting fixtures. W. S. Roebuck, chairman, was authorized to superintend the erection of the tabernacle according to the Stough party plans. Council will act Tuesday on an ordinance permitting the erection of the tabernacle. More than 200 carpenters and laborers will start erecting the tabernacle about October 1.

W. O. HENSEL URGES $200,000,000 GOOD ROAD LOAN FOR PA.

All Parties Should Unite For Better Highways; Commissioner Bigelow's Address

Special to The Telegraph Honey Brook, Pa., Sept. 25.—Declaring that the cause of good roads should not be considered as political but that all parties should unite in furthering it, W. O. Hensel, ex-Attorney General, speaking at the annual banquet of the Automobile Club of Chester county here last night, brought the members of the club to their feet with the following ringing declaration: "If there be any one thing which might tempt me from my political retirement it would be that I might stump the State in the advocacy, not of $30,000,000 bond issue, but of a $200,000,000 bond issue for the cause of good roads in this State." Prior to Mr. Hensel's speech the banqueters listened to a few remarks from Mayor Frank E. McClain, Lancaster, candidate for lieutenant-governor, on the subject of good roads. Mr. Bigelow Speaks But the real feature of the evening was the address made by State Highway Commissioner E. M. Bigelow, in which he gave some straight-from-the-shoulder truths about Pennsylvania's roads and their improvement. Commissioner Bigelow was the guest of the club and arrived here from Coatesville where he had been entertained by the group on his way to the club. He was called on for the first speech and for nearly an hour he held the club members' attention while he outlined the condition which have confronted his department ever since he assumed office. Commissioner Bigelow made an earnest plea to the members of the club to unite in efforts to induce the next Legislature to make adequate appropriations for good roads.

LACK OF BIG HOTEL LOSSES CONVENTION OF STATE DOCTORS

Medical Society Members Favored This City, but Couldn't Stand For Bad Accommodations

Lack of hotel facilities lost to Harrisburg next year's convention of the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania. This announcement was made by the Harrisburg delegates on their return home to-day from Pittsburgh, where this year's meeting was held. Harrisburg was the choice of 90 per cent. of the delegates in attendance at the Pittsburgh sessions and it was agreed to come to Harrisburg next year. Then someone inquired as to whether there had been any improvement in Harrisburg hotel accommodations. Harrisburg's delegates had to admit there was not and the society reconsidered its action and Philadelphia was selected. Dr. Oenslager said to-day: "Harrisburg delegates regretted the necessity for giving up next year's meeting; the delegates were of the opinion that Harrisburg could entertain a large crowd of visitors, but they feared the hotels would not meet the requirements of the physicians. It was at our own suggestion that Philadelphia was selected."

Old Folks' Day, Stough Meeting and Harvest Home All in One Day

Sunday promises to be a busy day at the Epworth Methodist Episcopal Church. Twenty-first and Derry streets. Old folks services will be held in the morning at which Dr. S. C. Swallow will preach the sermon. At 3:30 p. m. a mass meeting in the interest of the Stough campaign will be held. Mrs. C. J. Hopps, of Berwick, will be the speaker. Dr. S. C. Fasick, district superintendent, will officiate at the harvest home services. The choir under direction of Professor J. W. Sprinkle will render special music during the services and the decorations will be elaborate. Arrangements for the conveyance to and from the church for these old folks who are unable to attend otherwise are being made.

Arrest Four Youths on Charges of Robbing a P. R. R. Storage House

Walter Rogers, aged 15 years, and Frank Caruso, 13 years, were committed to the house of detention and Charles Rogers, 16 years, and Charles Wagner, 19 years, were committed to jail this morning to await a hearing before Alderman Hoyt at his office, 409 Market street, to-morrow morning at 10:30 o'clock. The four were charged with entering the storage house of the Pennsylvania Railroad near the Paxton street bridge on the nights of September 17 and 20 and taking wire valued at $25. Walter Rogers and Frank Caruso are held on charges of stealing water-melons out of a freight car in the same yards.

Republicans Open Fire With Heaviest Guns

Special to The Telegraph Washington, D. C., Sept. 25.—As soon as the war revenue bill was called up in the House yesterday the Republicans opened fire upon it with their heaviest artillery. The burden of all the speeches made against the bill, by the Democrats expect to raise $100,000,000 in additional revenue, was that the tax levy now is unnecessary and the money sought could be saved by the Treasury through economy in governmental expenditures. The sentiment of the House was fairly well presented in the vote for the adoption of the special rule. The entire Republican side lined up against the thirty Democrats also voted against it. The keynote of the Republican opposition was voiced by Representative Lenroot, of Wisconsin, who said: "There is about to be written another chapter in the history of Democratic achievement. It will be 'The Hypocrisy and Incompetency of the Democratic Party.'" The Republican floor leader, Representative Mann, said: "It would be unfair for me to exult as a political proposition in the future exercises of the Democratic party." He predicted that the Republicans would be in control again shortly after the election in November.

JUG WHISKY AND DRUNK

John Drunk and Mike Whisky were two names found on the police docket to-day. Both were foreigners. The one could not tell his name at all, while the other insisted that his first name was "Mike" and when asked for the other name kept saying "whisky." It was so recorded.

MARK METAL POST POSITIONS

Twenty brand new standard metal posts equipped with sockets for permanent use in the city's streets for roping off purposes, have been purchased by the city and to-day City Commissioner W. H. Lynch, superintendent of streets and public improvements, went over Market street and marked the positions.

Weather Conditions Are Responsible For Lull in War Areas of Europe

By Associated Press London, Sept. 25, 10:15 A. M.—The weather conditions which were exceptionally favorable to modern military operations during the first six weeks of the war, have now changed radically and are in the main responsible for the lull prevailing in all the war areas, with the exception of the combined Montenegrin and Serbian assault on the coveted province of Bosnia and Herzegovina. Accompanying the reports of bad weather comes the ominous news of the presence of disease. The operations in Alsace-Lorraine are said to have come to a complete stop on account of snow storms.

Fleming's Bull Dog Just Too Late to See Him Before He Goes

Amos, Martin Fleming's bull dog, this morning called at the Dauphin county jail to see his master, who was just too late; the train bearing Fleming on his last long journey but one, pulled out of Union station at 8:45 o'clock. Amos, whom Fleming hadn't seen in more than a year—not since he was locked up for shooting his mother-in-law—was to have been brought to see his master by a couple of friends.

Tobacco Question in Navy Finally Settled

Washington, D. C., Sept. 25.—Navy Department officials to-day were congratulating themselves over the settlement of the question of tobacco in the navy which had been up for consideration for some time and had caused much discussion and speculation. According to announcement by Secretary Daniels, all apparently desirable brands will be admitted for sale in the ship store afloat and the commissary store at yards on an equal footing of free and fair competition with one another.

War Revenue Bill Is Up For Final Action

Washington, D. C., Sept. 25.—The war revenue bill was up for final action in the House to-day and as a result of the adoption of the special rule limiting discussion to seven hours and barring amendments, an early vote was looked for. The passage of the measure to-day by a substantial majority was assured.

WANTS TO WEAR GIRDLE ONLY

William Pride, colored, who was arrested six weeks ago after several unsuccessful attempts to appear on the streets in the Eighth ward clad only in a girdle, is believed to be insane. Pride evidently imagines he is living in primitive times. A commission on his lunacy has been requested.

RAILROAD'S APPEAL DENIED

The State Supreme Court has denied the appeal of the Pennsylvania Railroad to take over the remaining property of the Pennsylvania Canal Company as preferred creditor. The railroad sought to have interest coupons which it had purchased on the company made a first lien on the assets of the company ahead of the first mortgage bonds.
