ATHLETICS' FLAG SURE; BOSTON BRAVES SAFE

With Eight More Games to Play; Results of Saturday and Yesterday Factors

Special to The Telegraph Philadelphia, Sept. 28.—Winning from St. Louis with a shutout victory gave Connie Mack this year's championship. While it is possible for the Athletics to lose, it is not probable. Only a miracle can prevent the Quakers from landing their sixth pennant.

Eight More Games to Play The Mackmen and Red Sox still have eight games to play. Should the Mackmen lose every one and Boston win all, the Athletics would be leading by 4 points, the standing being 95 games won, 57 lost, percentage .625, while Boston's record would be 95 games won, 58 lost, percentage .621. The Athletics and Boston have a game to play off, but as these two teams are not scheduled to meet again this season there will be no chance to play it off unless the American League officials order it. This could only happen if the result of the game would decide the pennant winner, but as the Athletics need only to win one game more, there is no use figuring out what action the American League might take in such an event.

While it has been announced by both Garry Herrmann, chairman of the National Baseball Commission, and Ban Johnson, president of the American League, that the series for the world's championship will start on October 9, the date has not officially been announced until Wednesday of this week, when the commission will meet in this city. At this meeting the dates, the arrangements for playing the series of seven games, and the manner of disposing of the tickets will be decided upon.

The toss of a coin will decide where the first game will be played, and it means much to the club represented by the lucky guesser, for the first two games of the series will very likely be played on the same grounds. If the Athletics win the toss, the series will open at Shibe Park, and two games will be played there before the teams move to Boston, and if the Braves win the toss the Mackmen will go to Fenway Park, Boston, to open the battle.

The playing of two games will give the teams a chance to leave Saturday night and rest all day Sunday before starting the third game, which is about the best arrangement that can be made.

GUYON TO RETURN TO CARLISLE

Special to The Telegraph Carlisle, Pa., Sept. 28.—The Carlisle Indians returned yesterday to Carlisle after the close game with West Virginia Wesleyan at Clarksburg, with every redskin in good physical condition. The contest solved a vital problem to a choice between Walleto and Henry Broker for quarterback, to which the latter earned telling laurels at the position. Walleto will go to and, where he is valuable. Joseph Guyon, the star halfback, has written here that he will return to school to-day. Peter Jordan is not now ex-

Football Games Ordinary; Green Men Were Too Slow

Central High Has Easy Time With Elizabethville Eleven; Tech Wins First Game on Pottsville Gridiron

By "Ump" Football on Saturday was just ordinary. While there were some surprises nothing happened to warrant special reference, or to indicate what is likely to happen later on. Green men made many of the contests one-sided. Scholastic games showed strong spirit. Many new aspirants are out for gridiron honors. The best that Penn could do was fourteen points against Gettysburg. Remembering that Penn last season made 53 points in the game with the battlefield stars, there must be something wrong at the University of Pennsylvania. Heard showed a little better with Bates. Princeton and Rutgers had a game almost similar to that of last season. One big surprise was Pittsburgh's triumph over Cornell. The Indians nearly lost to West Virginia. Last season they had a walkover.

CENTRAL LEAGUE WINDS UP SEASON

Middletown Takes Two Games and Raises Pennant; Highspire Loses Last Game

The Central Pennsylvania Baseball League ended its first season on Saturday. As a four-club organization the Central League was a big success. President Frank Stees and his associates in giving league baseball to four live towns filled a long-felt want. Games were close and some of the stars of this season will be in faster company next season.

Middletown won the pennant, and when the season's averages are published the best averages will be those of the Middletown team with few exceptions. Middletown had a big flag raising celebration on Saturday. They also won two games from Steelton, scores 7 to 5 and 6 to 3. Both games were interesting battles.

New Cumberland had an easy time with Highspire, winning by a score of 11 to 6. Wertz pitched a good game and received excellent support. Highspire gave Beinhauer ragged support. The summaries for Saturday follow:
