trees of Sagamore Hill in another State. We represent the people of Pennsylvania and are not puppets pulled by the strings of political workers in other States for their own use, but we are here for the welfare of this State. The people named my colleagues. The people named me."

Thus did Dr. Martin G. Brumbaugh, Republican candidate for Governor, present himself and his colleagues on the ticket to the voters of Elk, Cameron and Potter counties in yesterday's all day tour.

Continuing his arraignment of the fusion of two alien parties for no other purpose than to satisfy the ambitions of political office-seekers, Dr. Brumbaugh declared that the Progressive party made the direct primaries an issue before the people of Pennsylvania and the Republican party had given the law.

"Into that primary, among others, I went as a candidate for an office in Pennsylvania and I entered it with the determination to submit to the will of our people as expressed in that primary and to abide like a good decent citizen by the consequence.

"The result of it you know. The candidates of the Republican party were all chosen in an open, honest primary were all chosen in an open, honest primary from that until now, and they will stand by it to the end of this campaign.

"Won't Sell Out

"We Won't Fuse, We Won't Sell Out and We Don't Buy Out in Pennsylvania.

"I feel that there are people whomost strongly insisted upon the open primary from the very first who now traduce the very spirit of the thing they plead for and cheapen; the quality of the reform in this Commonwealth to which we have given our honest support and acceptance."

In a district which gave a Progressive majority two years ago and which until the recent fusion of that party with the Democratic slate had a strong Democratic contingent. Dr. Brumbaugh's statements were roundly cheered and after the meeting many men came to shake the candidate's hand, declaring that they had been Progressives or Democrats, but had become dissatisfied with the manipulation of those parties and would now yote the Republican ticket from top to bottom.

Chairmen of the three counties declare that the Republican majorities in November will be the greatest in many years. A strong sentiment for Senator Penrose has developed in the northern section of the State.

Mayor Frank B. McClain, of Lancaster, candidate for lieutenant-governor, provoked loud applause at a meeting of workingmen in Johnson-burg when he reviewed Senator Penrose's work in the upper house of the National Congress and as a member of the State Legislature of Pennsylvania in behalf of laws for the benefit of labor and contrasted it with the object and aims of the Democratic legislature. "I wish we could send a message to Washington, where Congress is now sitting and discussing the proposition to levy more tax on the people of this country.

Carson Opens Fight

An inauguration of an oratorical campaign for Penrose, Brumbaugh and the whole Republican ticket, which will be continued nightly from October 5 until election day, was characterized by aggressive speeches delivered yesterday in Philadelphia when Republican city committeemen met a number of those who have volunteered their services for the stump.

A brilliant and vigorous address by ex-Attorney General Hampton L. Carson sounded the keynotes of the campaign, with a graphic and inter-campaign, with a graphic and interesting study of the leading candidates Senator Penrose and Dr. Brumbaugh

Acid Stomachs Are Dangerous

Common Sense Advice by a Dist guished Specialist

"Acid" stomachs are dangerous because acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach, thus hindering and preventing the proper action of the stomach and leading to probably nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble from which people suffer. Ordinary nedicines and medicinal treatments are useless in such cases, for they leave the source of the trouble, the acid in the stomach, as dangerous as ever. The acid must be neutralized, and its formation prevented, and the best thing for this purpe is a teaspoonful of bisurated magne a simple antacid, taken in a little we which of the such acid, but also prevents acid, but also prevents fermentation from which acidity is veloped. Foods which ordinarily cat distress may be eaten with impunity if the meal is followed with a little bisurated magnesia, which can be obtained from any druggist, and should always be kept handy.—Advertisement.
