PARTY AT KNUPP'S BUNGALOW

Special to The Telegraph

Dauphin, Pa., Oct. 5.—Mr. and Mrs. Harvey E. Knupp entertained a num-ber of friends from Harrisburg at their bungalow, Keewaydin, on the moun-tainside, on Friday. The day was spent mostly out of doors and was greatly enjoyed.

When the stomach fails to digest and distribute that which is eaten, the bowels become clogged with a mass of waste and refuse that fer-ments and generates poisons that are gradually forced into the blood, causing distress and often serious illness.

NINETY-SIXTH ANNIVERSARY

NINETY-SIXTH ANNIVERSARY Special to The Telegraph Marietta, Pa., Oct. 5. — Yesterday the ninety-sixth anniversary of the founding of the Zion Reformed Church was celebrated with spe-cial services, in charge of the pas-tor, the Rev. E. Elmer Senseniz, Dur-ing the week an installation of a new pipe organ, partly the gift of Andrew Carnegic, took place, and it will be dedicated in the near future. The present edifice was erected under the pastorate of the Rev. William Yenser. The first church this congregation worshipped in is still standing on El-how Land and Walnut streets. The first pastor was the Rev. Henry E. Schaffner.

STRAW RIDE TO NEIDIG'S

Special to The Telegraph Hallfax, Pa., Oct. 5.—On Friday evening the choir of the Methodist Church, together with a few friends, numbering 23 in all, took a straw ride to the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Neidig in Halifax township. After an evening spent in games the party re-paired to the barn floor, where a long table weighted down with watermelons and cantaloupes greeted them.

Violates Rules in Parade

Lemoyne, Pa., Oct. 5 .--- Members of Lemoyne, Pa., Oct. 5.—Members of the senior class of the Lemoyne high school, against the rules of committee on arrangements of the dedication of the Lemoyne firehouse Saturday af-ternoon deströyed parts of the junior class float. Before entering the pa-rade both the junior and senior classes were warned by the parade commit-tee not to disturb each other while in line. Both classes were in full array in the pracession with large floats dec-orated with their class colors. On the dismissal of the parade at the fire house members of the senior class violated the rules made by the fire-neen by tearing several parts of the men by tearing several parts of the junior float.

Firehouse on Saturday Lemoyne, Pa., Oct. 5.—The largest event in the history of the town took place Saturday afternoon when the Citizens Fire Company, No. 1, dedi-cated its new home at the corner of Herman avenue and Rossmoyne streets. A parade at 2.45 o'clock started the big event. Large floats made up the fifth division and were the best shown at any time in this town. The junior class who had a large float decorated with their class colors took first prize for having the best float in the parade. The New Cumberland Fire Company and hose wagon were in line and gave a fine display of drilling. The parade was led by an automobile carrying four of the oldest citizens. Colonel Henry C. Demming, president of the Firemen's Union, of Harrisburg, delivered the dedication address. A large festival in the new building in the evening closed the largest event in Lemoyne for many years.

Mrt. Omion Highly Succession Special to The Telegraph Mount Union, Pa., Oct. 5.—On Wed-nesday the Bob Johnson evangelistic campaign closed with 1,114 decisions for Christ. In this series of meetings which covered four weeks, the influ-ence upon Mount Union and the sur-rounding towns and country is inesti-mable. Evangelist Robert E. John-son is a remarkable man. At one time he was in the wholesale crockery business near Cumberland, Md. He gave up a lucrative business in order to save souls for the kingdom. He is not a flowery and eloquent preacher, but he is plain "Bob" Johnson, a man who came up through the roughs and who for fitteen years has been leading people to God. The Mount Union peo-ple, in appreciation of Mr. Johnson's services here, gave him a purse of $1,-539.06.

The following is a statement of the gelist. In the afternoon, at 2:30, a Sunday school rally was held. Addresses were delivered by the Revs. H. F. Rhoad, of Highspire, and J. M. Walters, of Eph-

NOISY WELCOME HOME Dillsburg, Pa., Oct. 5.—Slipping quietly away to Lancastor on the pre-tense of attending the Lancaster fair on Thursday, Miss Grace Dick and John A. Goudy, two popular young folks of Dillsburg, were married in Lancaster by the Rev. C. E. Haupt, pastor of the Grace Lutheran Church, intending to surprise their friends on their return, but the telltale newspaper beat them home and a noisy reception was given them on their arrival on Friday night. Mrs. Goudy is a grad-uate of the Dillsburg High school and an active church and Sunday school worker. Mr. Goudy is a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Goudy, of Carrol township and is teller in the Farm-ers' and Merchants' Bank of Dills-burg.
