Mr. Price was stricken several weeks ago while on a business trip to Mercersburg. He was brought to this city and later taken to Philadelphia, where physicians believed an operation necessary. His condition too weakened to stand an immediate operation, he returned home. Several days ago he was stricken again and was taken to the hospital.

Born at Grand Junction, Col., Mr. Price spent his early boyhood and youth on a ranch. He was a namesake of Darwin G. Kingsley, president of the New York Life Insurance Company. He was sent to Harrisburg about four years ago. His wife, an infant daughter, father, mother, two brothers and two sisters survive.

The funeral will be held to-morrow afternoon at 4 o'clock from his late residence, the Rev. Dr. John D. Fox, pastor of Grace Methodist Church, officiating. The body will be taken to Eloomfield, N. J., Friday morning, where further services will be held and burial made.

The Possible Developments
Just what will develop at the meeting of council Tuesday when Mayor Royal's report in writing of the results of his investigation relative to the conduct of Murphy and the officer's defense, will be received has municipal circles on tip toe with expectancy.

That Commissioners Lynch, Bowman and Taylor are perfectly willing to support the Mayor in his desire to dismiss Murphy, has been indicated by each of them repeatedly from time to time since the question was first opened in council. All they have insisted upon, however, is that Murphy be given a chance to defend himself on the charge in question.

He was one of the organizers of the Firemen's Association of the State of Pennsylvania, and served upon all the important committees of the association up to 1913. At the convention held in Butler in 1893 he was elected corresponding secretary and held that office to the time of his death. He was present at every session of the association, lending his aid and assistance in making the convention a success.

Why? Mr. Mayor, Why?

The Mayor declares he has heard Murphy on previous occasions and that part of his punishment was the threat that if he committed the offense again, he would be dismissed. On the floor of council yesterday afternoon Commissioner Taylor hinted at some other reason.

"Why don't you really tell why you don't want to give this man a hearing, Mayor?" asked the park head. What is the REAL reason?"

"Why shouldn't I be permitted to conduct the affairs of the department of which I am head?" demanded the Mayor. "If council is going to run my department then I might just as well quit. The chief of police recommends for the good of the service the dismissal of a man for drinking on duty, for insubordination, etc. If council is not going to back this up of what use would there be to try to maintain discipline.

Mayor Royal says he doesn't know what he will do about the councilmanic action directing him to investigate and report in writing. "However," said he, "I don't believe council can direct me to do anything. I'm not a creature of council. However, I don't know what I shall do."

And in the meantime Murphy is under suspension, Jacob Kinley's name has not been acted up and pprobably never will—Kinley is the Mayor's appointee—and the department still lacks a policeman.
