Scene From "The Traffic" at the Majestic Tuesday and Wednesday, Mat. and Night, Oct. 13-14

Rachael Marshall's new play, "The Traffic," which comes to the Majestic to-morrow evening and Wednesday, matinee and evening, with Bess Sankey and a notable supporting company, has created a sensation in Chicago where it played to crowded houses for four months. An unusual play by an unusual woman, a splendid company of capable actors and a stage of investiture which is notable for accuracy and completeness, some of the subjects of the series being "The Traffic" deals with socialized slavery, but approaches the topic from an industrial rather than from strictly ethical standpoint. The situations and dialogue are said to abound in wit, wholesome humor, genuine pathos and shrewdly practical philosophy.—Advertisement.

Visiting Ministers Fill Mechanicsburg Pulpits

Special to The Telegraph
Mechanicsburg, Pa., Oct. 12.—Yesterday, ministers attending the United Brethren conference filled pulpits in the various churches as follows: St. Paul's Reformed, the Rev. John W. Toeh; Church of God, the Rev. M. R. Toeh; Presbyterian, the Rev. A. B. Aratton; Trinity Lutheran, the Rev. D. H. Johann; Methodist Episcopal, the Rev. G. W. Sterrick, in the morning and the Rev. Charles E. Fultz, of Washington, D. C., in the evening. At the First United Brethren Church, the Rev. W. M. Weekley, D. D., delivered the morning sermon, and the Rev. H. F. Snipe, the evening. Congregations entirely filling the immense seating capacity of the church marked both services yesterday. Many out of town people were present. Ladies served a chicken dinner in the dining room of the church to the ministers and delegates. On Saturday a banquet was given by the brotherhood of the church, and music was furnished by the Sunday school orchestra.
