Important Scholastic Games on This Week's Schedule

Central High Will Meet Lebanon Eleven Tomorrow Afternoon; Tech Goes to Steelton on Saturday

Three scholastic football squads worked hard yesterday in preparation for this week's games. Coach Paul Smith had his players busy at Island Park getting Central ready to meet Lebanon high Saturday afternoon. Last Saturday Steelton high met Lebanon high at Lebanon and last out, score 26 to 6. Chances for a practice to-day were very slim. Coach Smith arranged for an indoor talk this afternoon if the squad was unable to work on the island.

Feast for Braves Is Ball Season's Climax

Special to The Telegraph
Boston, Mass., Oct. 15.—The Braves, world's baseball champions, as a result of the sensational series with the Athletics, which closed here Tuesday, were given a banquet and reception last night by Mayor Curley. Praise for their achievement was sounded by various speakers and modest acknowledgment was made by Manager George T. Stallings and several of the players. After the banquet many of the Braves left immediately for their home cities. They were each given checks for $2,700.86 by a representative of the national commission as their share in the world series receipts. To most of them this meant about $5,000 for their season's work. Captain Johnny Evers found the season a big one financially, his income the last six months having been more than $40,000, including a bonus of $25,000 for his signature to a contract $1,000 in salary, a $3,000 bonus for finishing in first place and his world's series receipts. The winter will be spent quietly by most of them. Several vaudeville agents were at Fenway Park endeavoring to sign up some of the stars, but it is understood that none was successful. "Rabbit" Maranville, who was on the stage last winter, may return this year. Manager Stallings said that the statement of Minister Pezet, of Peru, that the Braves would tour South America, was a mistake. It was due, he thought, to the fact that some members of the Braves had been asked to play with the New York Giants on a proposed trip there.

RAID ON PHILS

Special to The Telegraph
Chicago, Ill., Oct. 15.—More woes are piling up on staid old Philadelphia. With their diamond idols, the titled Athletics, battered by the battling Braves, Quaker City fandom must prepare for another sensational upheaval one involving the Phillies and the Federal League's heavy firing squad. When the gunning is over President William Baker and club stockholders won't recognize their Phillies, according to Tom Seaton, formerly of the team, who also made the statement that forty-two players, prominent in the National American League, had been secured by the Federals. "It's all off with the Philadelphia club," said Seaton yesterday. "Two or three members of the team, Alexander among them, may be left behind when the Feds complete their next raid, according to information I gained from a reliable source, but watch for the first developments."

MONEY CHANGES HANDS ON WORD'S SERIES GAME

New York, Oct. 15.—Now that the smoke of the battle for the world series has been swept aside by four straight victories for the Braves, the fans of this city are beginning to look over their betting ledger. At least $100,000 changed hands on the result of the series. Betting was much lighter this year, due to the fact that Wall Street money was tight. The largest individual loser was Rothstein, a man who has been interested in sporting enterprises and speculative adventures in this city for many years. His friends say he lost $75,000 on the Athletics in the world series and on the Giants to win the National League pennant.

Penn Loses Ballou; Students in Gloom

Philadelphia, Oct. 15.—Vic Ballou, quarterback on Penn's varsity eleven, has been forced to give up football on account of studies. Vic has not been out for practice all week. Ballou is a student in the veterinary school at the University, and has late afternoon classes. Early in the season he was enabled to get away and play football, but the dean of the veterinary school has put his foot down on it, and Vic cannot play.

"Bullet Joe" Weds Philadelphia Girl

Philadelphia, Oct. 15.—Joseph Leslie Bush, the Athletics' competent young pitcher, was married yesterday at noon to Miss Sylvia E. McMahon, of 2329 West Lehigh avenue. He led his bride across the street from her residence to St. Columba's Catholic Church. The wedding was private. "Bullet Joe" was tended by Jim Walsh. The only other Athletic players present were J. Franklin Baker and Harry Davis. They were accompanied by their wives. Merrell is now holding down the post, and if anything happens to him Penn has not a reliable man to replace him.

BRUMBROUGH WILL BE HIS OWN BOSS

Butler Citizens Hear Some Straight Talk from the Republican State Candidate

Some very interesting writers who think they understand more about me than I understand about myself, and who for motives unworthy of decent people have undertaken to make people believe that someone or other if I were elected Governor of Pennsylvania someone or some group of people, would control my actions. Let us get straight on that here to-night. I never knew a boss in all my life, and never will. If you elect me to office you elect ME Governor, and I will serve in that office as my conscience and my Father in Heaven gives me wisdom to serve you.

Dr. Martin G. Brumbaugh used the above words in a speech at Butler, which closed a tour of a Bull Moose stronghold yesterday. All through a big tour the candidate and his party were greeted by big crowds. In the course of his speeches Dr. Brumbaugh said that it was interesting in a constructive policy in the campaign and had no time to pay to noise. In his remarks Dr. Brumbaugh said: "I think I may safely say that I am not a stranger to administrative problems that attach themselves to the high office for which I have been nominated. For many years, as a teacher and as superintendent of schools, my work has been largely to do with the administrative affairs of public schools on a large scale, met with the approval of certain people, and they were good enough to say here and there, 'well, he does that pretty well.'"

"Now simply because I happen to be for the first time a candidate for an office at the hands of the people of this State, these same people and that I am a very bad man. "What is the trouble? It is a shame that men who aspire to office must be branded as mean men, not to be trusted, simply because they wish to serve in a decent way the welfare of their Commonwealth. I have gone into this for the purpose of leading the Republican party to the most advanced remedial legislation that anybody dare offer you in Pennsylvania. I make the suggestion here now that all this besmirching of Pennsylvania and holding of her name in ridicule is urged upon you now for the purpose of securing your vote and it is the sordid greed that ought to be resented in Pennsylvania. "You will never get me to say that every man in office is a rascal, or that every man out of office is a gentleman. I know better, so do you. "I believe that the day is coming when we must be frankly honest and honestly frank with the people of this State. I want you to understand that I never would be a hand-picked candidate no matter whose hand would reach out to pick me. "The State candidates on the Republican ticket were chosen in an open primary, in honest competition of fair play, and the people of this State gave their indorsement and we are the candidates of the hundreds of thousands of men everywhere in Pennsylvania who said by their vote, 'you're good enough for me.' "Another thing. If there are any people now with the public service who are not rendering honest service to the Commonwealth, if you choose me for Governor, they will have to go, and we will put that money into roads. "There are no strings to my candidacy and I want you to understand that no man will ever boss me, nor control me in any public act. I wish to add that the man who is paid for a service in this State will do that service or he gets out, and that nobody holds a sinecure in Pennsylvania. I want to work for my salary, and I want every other man to do the same from Dan to Beresheba, whatever that is. EVERY MAN MUST GET HIS SERVICE AND NOT BE MERE POLITICAL TRUCK."

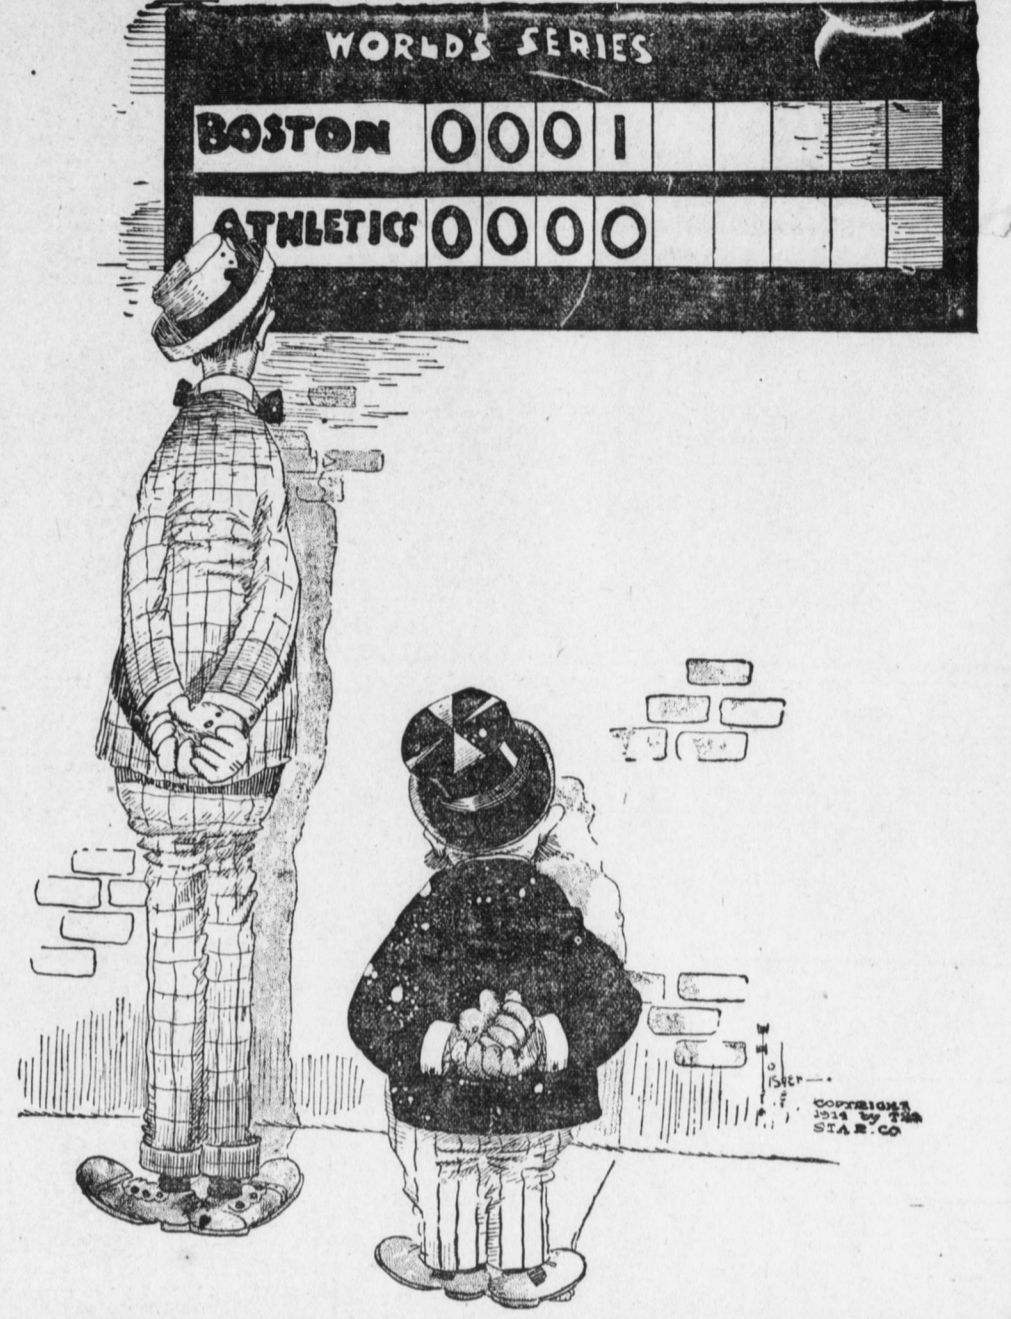

As to Good Roads

On the subject of good roads he said: "I think it is a shame that this great, splendid Commonwealth of ours has not roads commensurate with its dignity and worthy of its people, and if I am chosen to the office for which my party has nominated me I shall turn my attention to such a reorganization of the road problem of Pennsylvania as to give to the people quickly and promptly good earth and solid built, drained and crowned roads from the farms to the markets of Pennsylvania. Without in any way reflecting upon any past administration of that proposition, I shall guarantee to you a dollar's worth of roads for every hundred cents of your money put into the roads, and I shall also labor zealously to see that every capable as a roadbuilder is put in charge of each section of that road to keep it daily in as good repair as it was the day it was built. I want you to understand that we are all committed—every candidate on the State ticket—absolutely to the working out of a good transportation system for the people of Pennsylvania, and it won't be done, let me assure you, by politicians, but by men who know how to make good on the job. "I am interested in such a reorganization of the legislation to the employment of women who toil in Pennsylvania as to make it absolutely as wholesome and as clean and as comfortable as the pride and chivalry of our people can make their employment. It is an unfortunate thing that women anywhere should have to toil in our industries, but if that must be, I shall see to it that they shall be protected in the toil so that they can reasonably continue to be what they are by the will of Almighty God—the mothers of the next generation, unimpaird by their toil, to be good mothers of the childhood of the future of Pennsylvania. "I have also said, not only in my platform but elsewhere in Pennsylvania, in my discussions of the fact that the coming Legislature should pass again the amendment which it passed at its last session submitting to the people the question as to whether or not the women should vote in Pennsylvania, and I also, in exactly the same way, have taken a stand for local option, county by county, in Pennsylvania, and would be false to the statement of my principles if I did not make myself plain on that and every other moral proposition to the people of Pennsylvania."

Rain Was Good Thing For Hunters Today

Rain, in the opinion of many hunters, was a good thing for the first day of the hunting season. As long as the rain does not fall in torrents, hunters will be able to trail the woods and hills. Nimrods will tell you a wet field gives a hunter a better opportunity to get close to the game, than does tramping through dry leaves. Hunters were up against trespass warnings everywhere in this county. Common quail, better known as the Bob White, cannot be killed for two weeks. This game will be found with grouse, partridges, pheasants and ring neck and hungarian quail, and hunters will have to pick their birds.

BASKETBALL LEAGUE FOR MIDDLETOWN TEAMS

Middletown basketball enthusiasts organized a league last night, at a meeting held in the Middletown A. C. rooms. Representatives were present from eight teams. The league will include: Middletown car works, Union hose company, Wincroft stove works, Liberty fire company, Kreder shoe factory, Rescue hose company, Jednota school, and Middletown A. C. The season will open November 1. The officers are: A. B. Cressler, president; Joseph Flanagan, vice-president; Samuel Snyder, secretary.

MANAGER MCGRAW'S SALARY

New York, Oct. 15.—Manager John McGraw, of the New York National League team, finally decided to tell what his salary for managing the Giants. It is $18,000 a year, according to his statement when he appeared at the tax office to swear off personal assessments the city had levied against him. McGraw declared that all of his salary is required for the maintenance of his family. The amount which the New York National Club owners pay McGraw has long been a matter of speculation, some guesses putting it as high as $25,000 a year.

THERE is plenty of good tobacco growing in Cuba and the United States.

But you can't go and pick it up like you would a ripe apple or pear. It's all Greek to a novice. It takes an expert to select good leaf, and expert care to put it in prime condition for filler. A half century of experience and 23 years specializing in one particular brand is the reason.
