FOOD EXHIBITORS TO GIVE AWAY TEN BIG BASKETS OF "EATS"

pany, Evans-Burnett Company and other exhibitors will distribute samples and give special demonstrations.

Handy Ticket Seller
The numbered receipt for food baskets which will be presented to each visitor at the door was printed and numbered on the new automatic ticket printer at the latest make-up of the National Cash Register Company. This ticket seller hands out any number of tickets; numbers every ticket; and at the same time keeps a record of all tickets sold. It is a new thing for theaters and other places where admission is charged. The National Cash Register Company also has on display a number of the latest makes in cash registers. N. R. Black, the local manager, reported one sale last night, a cash register, to Samuel Kissinger, grocer.

Sauerkraut coffee is a product exhibited by the C. F. Bonsor Company. Demonstrators tell about the sanitary sealed packages in which the coffee is sold. The Toledo Scales Company, local manager, E. F. Reynolds, has a busy time telling about scales that have no springs to get out of order and give honest weight. Various styles of scales are exhibited and explained by Manager Reynolds. On the large scales 10,000 people have been weighed. In one minute yesterday Manager Reynolds weighed 40 persons. Witman-Schwartz Company last night placed an order with Mr. Reynolds for one of these large scales, to be used at their local warehouses.

Bon Ton Chips Are Clean
J. W. Strine, manufacturer of Bon Ton potato chips, had his forces working last night in order to prepare a supply of chips to be given out to samples to the visitors to-night. The Bon Ton chips on exhibition are supplied fresh daily. They are sold in sealed packages of various sizes and are clean, crisp and delicious.

The Dictaphone Company, Joseph Goldsmith, local manager, has had one of the biggest attractions of the week. The Dictaphone is a new device which enables the dictation of letters on an Edison record. It takes the place of a stenographer. This exhibit is on a platform in the rear of the auditorium and many visitors have tested the new business device.

All exhibitors have used the Underwood to take care of their correspondence on other business. The Underwood typewriters are shown and explained by typewriting experts.

Fall's candy and chocolates, made every afternoon and evening in full view of the number of visitors, furnish an interesting demonstration. This candy is a product of the Niagara Falls Company. It is made by latest scientific methods and free from any impurities. The chocolate candy is fork dipped, no hands touching it at any time.

Samples of Jell-O are in demand at the show. Demonstrators tell how many uses for Jell-O and hand out desserts made from the product every afternoon and evening.

THE NEWTOWN CUT WHEAT CE- REAL AND TRADING CO.

of Newtown, Pa., have a booth at the Pure Food Show this week displaying the very popular "Hol Wheat" cereal and their "Hol Wheat" pancake and Muffin flour. These goods are entire wheat products containing all the properties of the whole wheat grain. They are packed in all light cartons and are guaranteed to be thoroughly sterilized and germ proof. This firm is taking orders to be delivered by the very popular "Hol Wheat" cereal. Demonstrations at this very popular booth every day during the Pure Food Show.—Advertisement.

NEWS OF THE RAILROADS

HIGHER R. R. RATES

IS BANKER'S DEMAND

Unanimous Action by Leading Financiers in Session at Richmond, Va.

Special to The Telegraph.
Richmond, Va., Oct. 16.—Delegates to the fortieth annual convention of the American Banking Association before adjournment yesterday afternoon adopted resolutions favoring higher railroad rates. The resolution was presented by Oliver J. Sands, president of the American National Bank of Richmond, and was unanimously adopted.

The preamble sets forth that the shock to financial and business interests of this country and the derangement of foreign exchanges, resulting from the European war, are being overcome and the most serious conditions now confronting the financial, business and investment interests of this country arise from the fact that there is no market for securities and that until this is remedied the financial exchanges cannot be reopened and business restored to normal conditions.

It was pointed out that the railroad companies have been constantly increasing their rates, and that the increasing rates of freight and the cost of operation, maintenance and improvements constantly had increased.

The resolution in part says: "The American Bankers Association, assembled in Richmond, Va., on October 15, 1914, does hereby declare that in its opinion a prompt and liberal increase in railroad rates throughout the United States is essential, to enable the railroads to finance their maturing obligations and to provide the money with which to operate, maintain and improve their properties, and that such increase in rates must be made before we can hope to restore the confidence of the investing public, both at home and abroad."

The Interstate Commerce Commission is respectfully, but earnestly, requested to act promptly and favorably upon pending applications for increase of railroad rates, and in the exercise of its broad powers and in the discharge of its obligations, to protect the interests of the railroads under its control.

William A. Law, first vice-president of the First National Bank of Philadelphia, had been elected president for the ensuing year, and James K. Ebb, of San Francisco, vice-president.

Fred E. Farnsworth, of New York, was re-elected secretary; J. W. Hoopes, of Galveston, Texas, treasurer; Thomas B. Patten, of New York, general counsel, and L. W. Gammon, of New York, manager of the protective department.

James H. C. Gardner, of Washington, was chosen as the 1915 convention city.
