CITIZENS' BANK IS GROWING STEADILY

Deposits During Last Seven Years Have Been Rapidly Increasing

Just how remarkable has been the growth of the Citizens' Bank, Thirteenth and Derry streets, since its founding in 1907 was shown in a statement submitted at the annual meeting of stockholders yesterday. In 1907 the deposits amounted to $21,284.25; for the year just closed the deposits totaled $221,951.65. The growth has been quite steady from year to year, as these statistics show:

Deposits:
1908	$87,035.95
1909	114,789.54
1910	152,894.32
1911	175,872.22
1912	171,520.07
1913	194,504.00
1914	221,951.65

In his statement Edwin C. Thompson, president, stated that $1,000 of the earned profits have been turned over to the surplus fund. The capital stock is $50,000. These directors were elected for the ensuing fiscal year: Spencer F. Barber, Joseph C. Esleman, John F. Peeser, J. Newton Herb, Charles H. Hoffman, John H. McIlhenny, Edwin C. Thompson. The directors will organize next Wednesday.

PALMER ON HEELS OF BEDLEMAN TO KILL LABOR BILLS

tariff, but I never could see any reason why one should spend many words in explaining to a man, a woman, or even a child, what the tariff means. If one of the factories here is selling $1,000 worth of goods this month and next month your local factory sells $500 worth, and some fellow owning the factory in Europe sells the same $500 worth, it means that the people of this vicinity have lost trade to the extent of $500 and the man in Europe has won it to the extent of $500, and it also means that when you take labor away from here and employ it on the other side of the water, instead of protecting the American workman, you are throwing our men out of employment and you are putting your money where it will never bear any interest to you. You are discharging the American and are employing the foreigner.

During the last eighteen years that Senator Penrose has occupied his seat as United States Senator, he has devoted all the years in laboring for the interests of American workmen and the protection of American industries. We realize that the people of this Commonwealth are entitled to that service more than they have at any other time, for the Democratic victory of 1912 has brought to the American people a depression in business such as has seldom witnessed, and unless I miss my guess the coming winter will be the hardest winter the people here have ever suffered.

Palmer's Record

"The question therefore is: Are you going to the polls in November and cast your vote for one who has devoted his time and attention to the interests of the people of Pennsylvania, or will you support one who has been the enemy of labor and has devoted his time and energy to destroy our business and to crush our workmen? I want to make a little comparison of Senator Penrose with Congressman Palmer. During three sessions of the legislature I served in the House of Representatives, and in the session of 1913 it was my proud prerogative to represent the people of Dauphin county as their Senator. I have never yet been asked by Senator Penrose to cast my vote either for or against any measure that was introduced in the Pennsylvania Legislature, but I cannot, my friends, say the same thing for Mr. Palmer, who is also a candidate for United States Senator, because I want to ask him if he will recall when I was a member of the House of Representatives in 1907, and had the distinction of being the chairman of the committee on judiciary general, to which committee was referred approximately 60 per cent of all legislation, outside of appropriation bills; I want to ask him if he recalls coming to me in the hall of the House in the early part of that session, introducing himself and calling attention to the fact that for some time he was in Congressman Olmsted's Harrisburg office, as a lawyer, and that he left it, as he said, for the purpose of going into northern Pennsylvania to represent corporate interests that were there located.

"Mr. Palmer was one of the most bitter enemies and antagonists to labor in the session of 1907 as a lobbyist. There was not a single bill introduced for the good of the workmen of our Commonwealth but that Mr. Palmer, as the solicitor of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad Company, was there asking the members of the Legislature to defeat it, and constantly, day in and day out, he was on my heels asking me to throttle and kill legislation that favored the workmen of Pennsylvania. I do not object to his employment as counsel, but I ask him why he got his change of fish.

"I ask him, since he is now manifesting such an interest in the workmen of Pennsylvania, if in 1907 he was not on hand early in the session endeavoring to kill every piece of legislation that was intended for their good? At that time he was not a Congressman. He has since become one. He now pretends to be the friend of labor and is soliciting the voters of Pennsylvania to send him to the United States Senate as the successor of one who always has been and ever will be the friend of Pennsylvania workmen.

"Who is the other fellow? I am told he once contemplated a residence in the State of Delaware for the purpose of becoming a candidate for United States Senator to represent that Commonwealth, and two years ago he took up a fishing residence in Pike county with the thought that that would be a sufficient warrant for a candidacy for the United States senatorship from Pennsylvania.

"If you will select your next Senator upon the exercise of sound, deliberate and conscientious judgment, return Senator Penrose to the United States Senate, and thereby insure for yourself, and for every American, a continuance of faithful service in the interest of protection to American industry and to American labor."

The rally was one of the most enthusiastic ever held by the West End club. Every chair in the big assembly room was taken and there were quite a few who could not find seats but who stood in the rear throughout the meeting.

Harrie A. Douglas, president of the club, presided and introduced Augustus Wildman, candidate for the Assembly in the city district. Mr. Wildman spoke on State and national issues, saying with respect to his own candidacy that if he "had made any mistakes during his first term in the Legislature, they were of the head and not of the heart," and that if re-elected he would strive to profit by the experience gleaned during his first session.

Mr. Wildman recalled the fact that two years ago he had stood before the West End club when he and other speakers warned the voters that if they put the Democrats into power business depression would follow.

And it has said he, "My business is to buy and sell houses, mostly to workmen trying to put a roof of their own over their heads by purchasing on the easy payment plan. In the past five years not one of the men who have bought homes through me has defaulted in payments until this year. Now three of them have defaulted altogether and seven others have fallen back in their payments. They are all good men. They do not want to do this, but they tell me they have little or no work and cannot keep up. Does this indicate anything to you? Does this spell prosperity under Democratic rule? And if it does not, are you going to vote in November to continue this depression?"

Mr. Wildman's speech was well received. At the conclusion of the meeting James H. Craig, Deputy Secretary of Internal Affairs, Dr. E. S. Meals and others made brief addresses.

Congressman Aaron S. Kreider and Joshua W. Swartz, candidate for Assembly, were on the program for addresses, but Mr. Kreider was unable to get away from an important engagement in Lebanon in time and Mr. Swartz was detained in Philadelphia on business.

Political conditions in the West End have changed radically since 1912. Then the Roosevelt element of the West End club was almost as great as the Taft membership and throughout the district Bull Moose sentiment was overwhelming. But now all is different. The railroad men, the shop men and others there have suffered greatly as a result of the Democratic experimenting at Washington and they are still popular with some of them, but they say that he or any other man would have great difficulty in persuading the voters to desert the Republican ticket this year for one that stands for business depression and closed mills. Indications are for a sweeping Republican victory up town this Fall, according to reports received by the active members of the West End club.

Juvenile Sure Ten Commandments Are in New Testament

Juvenile Court sessions to-day wasn't without value educationally. Between them Additional Law Judge McCarrill and Assistant District Attorney Frank B. Wickersham let drop a tip or two of Biblical interest.

One of the youngsters who was arraigned for stealing some small articles from a store was quizzed very sternly as to whether he went to Sunday school and understood the Ten Commandments. The culprit said he knew 'em all right.

"In what part of the Bible are they found?" demanded Mr. Wickersham, "old or new testament? Do you know?"

"Sure, I know."

"Well, what testament---old or new?"

"New!"

GIRLS CUT MOUTHS

AFTER YOU ARE FORTY

Forty years is middle age or should be. People who squander their youth are old at forty; everybody needs to give a little more care to health and careful living after passing the fortieth milestone.

The reserve of strength is not what it used to be. Nature needs a little help if we are to continue the work and worry of modern life. To most people Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, non-alcoholic, but a supporting tonic, gives just the necessary assistance.

These pills make the thin blood rich and inflamed nerves, increase the appetite and make indigestion normal, correct sleeplessness and most forms of headache. Try them for any trouble caused by thin blood or weak nerves such as anaemia, rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica, lumbago, indigestion, sick headache or St. Vitus' dance. It is surprising how many diseases are due to the thin and impure blood, how quickly they yield when by proper treatment the blood is built up and the starved nerves nourished. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain no poisonous or habit-forming drugs and cannot do harm.

Pamphlets on the treatment of diseases of the blood and nerves will be sent free by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.---Advertisement.
