DISCUSS REVISION OF CLARK ACT FOR THIRD CLASS CITIES

Special Committee of City Solicitors and Mayors Meet to Revise Clark Act

All the third class city solicitors and several of the mayors of Pennsylvania met in City Council chamber this afternoon and discussed suggestions for the revision of the Clark commission form of government law.

At the recent convention of the Pennsylvania Third Class City League at Meadville the delegates talked about the beneficiary results that would obtain by revising sections of the act pertaining to the police powers, the dates for collection of taxes, the compilation of assessments, the conduct of affairs by a "city manager" and a dozen or more others.

That certain radical changes are necessary along these lines was generally conceded, and in order to have the suggestions placed before the Legislature at its session this winter, it was decided to have them threshed out by a special committee. This consists of the law committee, including all the city solicitors and Mayors John K. Royal, Harrisburg; William J. Stern, Erie; William Ward, Jr., Chester, and Ira W. Stratton, Reading.

The special committee held its first meeting this afternoon and it was decided to vest the work of making the necessary revisions in the hands of a subcommittee consisting of three or five members.

One of the principal subjects discussed was the referendum. Under the provisions of the Clark act it is only possible to make the referendum effective by obtaining 20 per cent. of the voters of the previous election for the referring petition. The method whereby the petition is framed is the point upon which there is considerable contention. Not only does the paper require 20 per centum of the voters, but it must be signed and certified to before the city clerk. And the most unsatisfactory feature about it all is the time—only ten days being allowed for the purpose. In Harrisburg this would mean that from 2,500 to 3,000 voters would have to go to the city clerk's office within ten days and sign the paper.

$132,000 WORTH OF BONDS SIGNED BY COMMISSIONERS

The bonds were signed by Mayor John K. Royal, City Treasurer O. M. Copelin and Commissioner W. L. Gargas, finance and accounts. They were signed after being carefully inspected and approved by E. M. Field, of the United States Mortgage and Trust Company, New York.

Had Tuberculosis, Now Insured

When you know a man has been afflicted with consumption, and later obtained insurance, in fact, absolutely no ambition whatever, I consulted a physician, who told me my lungs were affected. Not satisfied, I went to another doctor, who said that I was in the first stages of consumption. At this point I started to take Eckman's Alternative. The night sweats stopped almost immediately, my cough became looser and gradually disappeared. My weight is now 142 pounds and my physician has pronounced me perfectly sound—which, together with the fact that I have just been accepted by two different insurance companies for insurance, makes me sure of my entire recovery. (Abbreviated.)

W. E. GEE, Eckman's Alternative is most efficacious in bronchial catarrh and severe throat and lung affections and rebuilding the system. Contains no harmful or habit-forming drugs. Accept no substitutes. Sold by leading druggists. Write Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for booklet of recoveries.—Ad.

LYING ON STRETCHER BOY TESTIFIES THAT HE WAS SET AFIRE

Charges Enterline Pair With Giving Him Liquor; Lad May Never Recover

Paul Sidney Erb, aged 15 years, 236 Charles street, who has been a cripple since July 3, was brought to the office of Alderman C. E. Murray on a stretcher this afternoon, to give testimony against Mrs. Anna and Joseph Abiltz, of Enterline, who are charged with furnishing liquor to minors.

The old police ambulance was used to convey Young Erb from his home. The stretcher was placed across two chairs in front of Alderman Murray's desk so that the boy's testimony could be heard.

On July 3, while on a visit to the Abiltz home on a farm near Enterline, it is alleged that Joseph Abiltz set fire to a sparkler which was sticking from the pocket of Paul Erb. The boy had in his pockets other sparklers, and a box of matches, which were exploded. Young Erb's leg was so badly burned that he has never since been able to walk.

The suit, it is said, is a forerunner of other suits to follow—one for neglect in not caring for the boy properly and another for damages. Young Erb testified to having been furnished liquor by the Abiltz family.

Charges were preferred against the Abiltz pair for furnishing liquor to Young Erb on July 3.

Steel Men Connected With Many Railroads

any important case brought under the anti-trust laws where the amount of competition said to be suppressed was so little as in the case now before the United States Court. "In reading the record of this proceeding," he said, "you will be astonished to find how slight the competition was that is alleged to have been suppressed."

Mr. Lindabury began his argument after Jacob M. Dickinson, chief counsel for the government in the dissolution suit, had concluded his opening address of six and one-half hours. Mr. Dickinson ended by declaring that the Steel Corporation had used its power more to exact non-competitive, high prices from the public than to destroy competitors. Referring to interlocking directorates, he declared that when the suit was begun against the Steel Corporation its directors were interested in companies that controlled nearly 50 per cent. of the railroad mileage of the country.
