RAILROAD NEWS

PENNSY INSPECTIONS WILL BE CONTINUED

General Manager A. C. Long Says
They Are a Necessity on the Pennsylvania Railroad

Inspections on the Pennsylvania Railroad will be continued. This announcement came from the office of General Manager S. C. Long, yesterday. Rumors were abroad that in order to further economy in inspection trips would be stopped. Officials of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company are of the opinion that inspections are absolutely necessary to maintain the safety and efficiency of the big system.

The general manager's inspection trip on the tracks of the Pennsylvania Railroad will be continued at which amounting to $11,000 were awarded for excellence of track, was considered of such paramount importance by the Board of Directors that they decided to be one of the last things to be done away with in effecting economies.

Before the recent inspection was made it developed yesterday the suggestion was advanced that the trip be done away with this year to save the cost of making it, as the Pennsylvania Railroad is in common with other carmen, engaged in a campaign in order to offset as much as possible the considerable losses in gross revenues. It was decided, however, that to do away with this aid to deficiency would be the failure of economy and the trip was made as usual, over 300 of fees from all over the railroad who help General Manager S. C. Long in maintaining sound tracks participating.

TALK ON EXPLOSIVES—At the P. R. R. Y. M. A., last night, C. G. Baldwin, representing the National Bureau of Explosives, Washington, D. C., gave an interesting talk. Mr. Baldwin's subject was "Handling Explosives."

BRONCHIAL COUGHS

When the bronchial tubes are affected with that weakening, tickling cough, they need immediate and sensible treatment. The breath seems shorter because of mucous obstructions; usually fever is present and your head aches with every cough. Your chest aches and the inflammation often spreads to the lungs.

The food-tonic that has proven its worth for forty years—is Scott's Emulsion. It drives out the cold, which is the root of the trouble, and checks the cough by aiding the healing process of the enfeebled membranes.

If you are troubled with bronchitis or know an afflicted friend, always remember that Scott's Emulsion builds strength while relieving the trouble.

head of the party will preach on "The Trial of the Gods." The first meeting will be open to the public. In the afternoon of the same day, however, there will be a meeting for church workers and local Stough campaign committee men. Admission to this meeting will be by card. Dr. Stough will explain in detail the work which he plans to do during his six weeks' stay in the city. He will learn at first-hand what has already been done here in a preliminary way.

The Big Choir to Sing

At 7:15 o'clock in the evening the opening song service will be held, and the large chorus will be heard for the first time. Regular services will follow at 7:45 o'clock. The subject of the sermon to be preached by the Rev. Dr. Stough will be announced later.

Announcement was made at headquarters last night that the Stough party will end the Dubots campaign next Monday night. The Rev. Dr. Stough and members of his party will take a few days' rest prior to coming to Harrisburg. They expect to reach the city Saturday, October 31. It is probable that a conference will be arranged between Dr. Stough and his officers said that they found interest in the work increased all over the State.

Mrs. Payne Speaks

The welcome address to the auxiliary was given by Mrs. Sarah Payne, of the St. Paul's Church of this city. The response was given by Mrs. L. Richardson, of Pittsburgh. After the enrollment of the delegates to the Women's Auxiliary the introductory sermon was preached by the Rev. J. Robinson, of Pittsburgh, who praised the work done by the women of the State.

This afternoon the annual address of the president, Mrs. A. R. West, was given. Mrs. West said that never before in the history of the auxiliary has there been so great an amount of work done for the betterment of missions and education in the State. At a late hour officers for the next year were named and the auxiliary outlined plans for the auxiliary outlined briefly.

This evening short addresses will be made by the wives of the presidents of the colored schools in the State. These speakers will tell of the care taken of the young girls that come to the institutions and of the methods employed in teaching the students.

Committees Named

At the session the following committees were appointed by the president:

Committees on Obituaries—Mrs. G. W. Washington, Mrs. M. B. Turner, Mrs. Gamble, Mrs. J. Friend, Miss Carter, Mrs. E. Eppes.

Sessions Close To-morrow

To-morrow morning reports of the committees appointed by Professor E. W. Johnson will be read and acted upon. In the afternoon meeting of the executive board and this and next year's officers will be held. This will be followed by the session of the convention. Some of the delegates will remain here over Sunday before reporting for their respective homes. The pastor present will leave at the close of the session to-morrow so that they can take charge of their church services on Sunday.

Meet at Washington Next Year

The Nazareth Baptist Church, of Washington, Pa., will be the place of meeting for the sessions of the convention next year. The sessions will begin October 4, 1915. The following men have been chosen to give addresses at the convention next year:

Introductory sermon by the Rev. J. P. Greene, of Bryn Mawr; missionary sermon by the Rev. E. W. Moore, of Philadelphia; temperance sermon by the Rev. T. H. Hughes; educational address by the Rev. A. Credit, of Philadelphia; doctrinal sermon by the Rev. L. Cunningham, of St. Paul's Church, of this city.

Memorial services for the Rev. G. L. Tallafarro, editor of the Christian Banner, were held after the business session in the afternoon. Short addresses in his honor were made by nearly all of the pastors present. The Rev. F. G. Jordan, of Philadelphia, then gave a talk on the work in the foreign missions.

In the evening short fifteen-minute talks on the institutions of the State were made by the president of each one. The increase in enrollment and the advantages of these schools, together with the work that they have done in the uplift of the race, were the most important things discussed. The Rev. F. M. Jordan, of Philadelphia, gave an educational sermon immediately after the presidents of the institutions spoke.

He said that the negro owes his freedom to education and that there is nothing in the present day that is helping that race more than the educational advantages that they now enjoy.

Yesterday afternoon a letter written by Justin Carter enclosing Judge George Kunkel as candidate for the Supreme Court was read to the delegates of the twenty-third annual Colored Baptists' convention. The letter was unanimously approved and placed on the minutes of the convention.

To the President and Members of the Baptist State Convention, assembled in Harrisburg, Pa., October 22, 1914.

Gentlemen: I am advised that a resolution will be proposed in your convention to give to the candidacy of the Honorable George Kunkel, of this city, your endorsement for Judge of the Supreme Court of this State.

As a member of this bar and a colored man, who has known Judge Kunkel for almost twenty years, I want to say to you that you can make no mistake in such endorsement. If ever it behoves colored men to support and rally to certain friends of the race, it does now. I assert this from personal experience of him as a judge and association with him in many ways that we have no better friend in this State. I could exhaust your time with instances wherein he has done things for our welfare.

When a member of the Legislature a bill was proposed to prohibit the intermarriage of white and colored persons. At that time Judge Kunkel was one of the leaders of the Legislature. I went to him and asked him to give his support against that bill. His exertions were such that the bill did not leave the committee room.

As a judge he has so administered the criminal law so that he has not only tempered justice with mercy but in every instance where he could, he would see to

It that the culprits were given an opportunity to reform.

In a case in this city, wherein a Negro, a colored person, was accused of attacking colored people, Judge Kunkel and Judge McCarron rendered the only opinion which has been rendered in this State against discrimination. The only decision in this State upholding the law which prohibits hotels from making discrimination on account of color, was rendered by Judge Kunkel and Judge McCarron is in entire accord with this decision. I have talked with him personally on the questions involving our race's welfare and I know that his thoughts and opinions are with us.

Your association will be doing an act which redounds to the benefit of our people if they endorse his candidacy and urge their pitchers to support him.

With best wishes for your success, I am,

Most respectfully yours,

W. JUSTIN CARTER,
A paragraph appearing in a recent paper, read at the convention yesterday, was declared untrue and denied by the delegates. The resolution was carried unanimously branding the statement as a falsehood. The false statement was as follows:

Office of the Recording Secretary of the Pennsylvania Baptist State Convention.

227 Oliver Street, Braddock, Pa., July 16, 1914.

I am pleased to say that the Negro in Pennsylvania is not aware of the fact that Gifford Pinchot is their friend. The 200,000 Negroes of Pennsylvania love him and will cast their ballot unanimously for him as their representative in the Senate.

J. H. DWELLE, Secretary of the Pennsylvania Baptist State Convention.

The resolution adopted is as follows:

"Whereas, In a recent publication of some politicians appears a paragraph from the pen of our ex-secretary, who at the time of its publication was an official of this organization; and

"Whereas, The said publication is too sweeping in its scope; let it be resolved, That this convention do here and now declare said paragraph to be untrue."
