CANDLES AND OIL TO FIRE DWELLING

Incendiaries Make Complete Plans to Destroy Building at Waynesboro

Special to The Telegraph
Waynesboro, Pa., Oct. 23.—A desperate attempt was made some time early yesterday morning to fire the double frame house in Philadelphia avenue, this city, occupied by John Graft and Mrs. Minnick. The attempt to fire the house was made on the side occupied by the Graft family. None of the Graft family were home over the night and the coast was clear for the incendiary. Coal oil and lighted candles were used in the attempt to fire the house. A candle was placed in a dip of oil with the carpet under it saturated with oil. The candle was lighted and when it burned down it was to set fire to the carpet, which would soon set fire to the floor. There were six of these candles placed throughout the house—one in the parlor, two in the dining room, one on the stairway, one in the front bedroom upstairs and another in an adjoining room. It was the candle on the stairway that caused the fire, which was discovered by Mrs. Minnick. She discovered smoke pouring into her side of the house and gave the alarm. A portion of the stairway was cut away and several buckets of water were used in putting out the flames. Chief Staley is investigating the matter.

DRUGLESS HEALING

The Hyomei Catarrh Remedy Is Nature's Own Method.

You would not take a pill to heal a burn, and no one should think of trying to cure catarrh, or head colds by dosing the stomach.

The sensible way is to medicate the air you breathe with Hyomei. This treatment goes by once to the sore and congested membrane lining the nose, and throat, and lasts for a long and lasting end of distressing catarrh, and similar ailments.

Hyomei is nature's true method of treating all diseases affecting the air passages—you breathe it. The Hyomei complete outfit consists of a neat hard rubber inhaler, easily carried in the pocket, and a bottle of Hyomei. This is usually sufficient for the ordinary case. Chronic and deep-seated trouble may require a little more of the liquid, in which case you can get an extra bottle of Hyomei at a trifling cost.

Hyomei is sold by druggists everywhere, and H. C. Kennedy guarantees to return the money to any customer who says it did not give satisfaction. If it cures the treatment is inexpensive. If you are not benefited it costs absolutely nothing.—Advertisement.

DRUMBAUGH MAKES QUESTIONER DIZZY

Man at Latrobe Handed Him Three Interrogatories and Then Ran Away From Him

GOT A ANSWER IN MEETING

Westmoreland County Gives a Tremendous Greeting to the Republican Candidate

Dr. Martin G. Brumbaugh, Republican candidate for Governor, last night made it plain as can be done in English that he is his own master and that he has no entangling alliances. In the course of his campaigning through Westmoreland county yesterday it became known that a scheme to embarrass the candidate was under way and last night when he went into the theater at Latrobe, an unknown person handed him a paper containing three questions and then disappeared.

The people back of the scheme expected the doctor to ignore the questions they were victims of a tremendous mistake, because he went right into the stage and opened up his speech with his answers to the questions which were delivered with a great deal of force, evoked wild cheering and the visit of Dr. Brumbaugh to Latrobe was an ovation where his enemies had planned to make him uncomfortable.

In addition to speaking at Latrobe Dr. Brumbaugh and his campaign manager, J. H. Greenburg, The Latrobe meeting, because of the effort to heckle him, turned out to be the biggest.

Brumbaugh Hits Back

These are the questions and the answers:

1. Was there anything in any way connected with the circumstances surrounding your determination to be a candidate for Governor that can or will prevent you from living up to the last promise of your personal platform in the event of your election?

Answer—"Absolutely not. In spite of what my enemies say, I stand here to-night to say to you absolutely this, that I have no promise or individual or group of individuals who are promoting that have the least string, either remote or direct, on me."

2. Are you at the present time under any legal obligation to any person in Pennsylvania or elsewhere that can in any way interfere with your absolute freedom in the government?

Answer—"Certainly not. Have you ever read the oath or affirmation of office which the Governor of this Commonwealth must take? I have read it and I know only one thing, and that is, I would not under any circumstances make any promise or pledge, or have any promise or understanding whatever with anybody as to what I shall do in the event of my election to this Commonwealth. I am eternally myself. Do you get that?"

3. Have you, yourself, or has any person for you with your consent, expressed or implied, made any agreement with the liquor interests, organized or unorganized, to secure their support of your candidacy in this campaign?

Answer—"Certainly not. I have no agreement with the liquor interests or any other interests, to do or not to do anything in this canvass or as Governor of your Commonwealth.

Life Should Tell

"My friends, after all, those are silly questions to ask, because if you know me, know my life, know the man I have worked with me, lived with me, and labored with me, know me as my old neighbor and friend, Brother Meyer, who sits on my left, know me you would not ask those questions. I have all my life stood up in Pennsylvania for clean, decent, honorable things, and I shall please God, stand for such things as long as I live."

"If I am chosen Governor of your Commonwealth I will be your Governor, nobody else."

He said that for local option for the right of every county in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to express for itself whether or not it wanted liquor sold in its territory. I have on my mind that if somebody did not understand whether I was for county local option or whether I was for foreign local option, I spell it for you. I have taught others for a generation how to read and write and to speak the English language, I somehow feel that I know how to spell what I think."

Dr. Brumbaugh's Speech

In his address at Greensburg Dr. Brumbaugh said:

"The Commonwealth is a corporate entity pledged in all its departments to serve the interests of the people who are its honest citizens. We must never lose sight of the fact that the first business of legislation and administration alike is to make it easy for people to live under law and hard for people to violate it. The business of the Commonwealth is to care for the rights of its individuals, to recognize their rights, and to protect them from every form of injustice and wrong. It should be a fundamental maxim that no one should hurt the people of the Commonwealth. It should likewise be recognized that every one should be pledged individually and in corporate power to care for and conserve the rights of the individual. The mighty army of people who work in Pennsylvania and who therefore turn the potential resources of the Commonwealth into actual value should do so in a happy and steady, contented and prosperous people, makes for the good of the Commonwealth; for the Commonwealth must always prize above every other thing the protection of the brains of endeavor."

"I believe in a good, sane, sensible and effective workingmen's compensation act. I regret that the last Legislature failed to enact such a law, and I shall insist that the incoming Legislature shall speedily crystallize the wish of the people in this matter into the law of the Commonwealth, and if elected Governor I shall assuredly sign such an act. Our liability is not sufficiently far-reaching in its provisions as to guarantee to the widows and orphans of those who are fatally injured in our industries the protection which the corporate power of the State should guarantee to them. It may be that by taxing these corporations in some other fair and equitable manner the money may be put into the hands of the Commonwealth itself and paid by the Commonwealth directly to those who by law are entitled to receive it. It ought to be possible for the Legislature in Pennsylvania to know that if by unavoidable accident he should lose his life in his service to his family in earning for them bread, that they because of his sacrifice shall never want for bread."

Health Department

"Our great corporations are increasingly insisting that men who seek employment under them shall be physically able to withstand the stress of the toil which they undertake. It is a wise and important provision, and
