M'CORMICK SHOWN UP BY BEIDLEMAN

Reveals McCormick's Labor Record in Light of His Protests About Labor

MERCILESS COURT RECORDS

They Show Just What McCormick Did About Damage Suits For the Lives of Men

Senator Edward E. Beidleman, of this city, last night uncovered some of the real labor record of Vance C. McCormick, the millionaire candidate for Governor on the mule ticket and four minor children, to No. 352, September Term, 1908, in the same Court of Common Pleas; another by G. H. R. Groke, to No. 346, September Term, 1908, in the same Court of Common Pleas of Cambria county; another by Virginia Ritchey, for herself and her two children, to No. 354, September Term, 1908, in the same Court of Common Pleas; another by G. H. R. Groke, to No. 346, September Term, 1908, in the same Court of Common Pleas; and still another in the same Court of Common Pleas by Bessie McAlister, for herself and her three children, to No. 347, September Term, 1908. These five suits were brought to recover the value of the lives of five men who were killed while working in a mine that was owned by Mr. McCormick and his associates; they were settled on a basis of $2,000, or an average of $400 per life.

The statements were made in a speech at Morrisville, where the senator spoke before a large crowd that listened in astonishment as the court records were read to give ideas of the way McCormick had really acted when he had a chance to provide for the families of men killed in mines. This is the way Beidleman put it before the people.

From the Court Records
"Is he the friend of labor and does he honestly believe in workmen's compensation?"
"I hold in my hand a record of a number of suits brought against the Sonman Shaft Coal Company. One by Veronica Kunko, for herself and four minor children, to No. 352, September Term, 1908, in the same Court of Common Pleas; another by G. H. R. Groke, to No. 346, September Term, 1908, in the same Court of Common Pleas of Cambria county; another by Virginia Ritchey, for herself and her two children, to No. 354, September Term, 1908, in the same Court of Common Pleas; another by G. H. R. Groke, to No. 346, September Term, 1908, in the same Court of Common Pleas; and still another in the same Court of Common Pleas by Bessie McAlister, for herself and her three children, to No. 347, September Term, 1908. These five suits were brought to recover the value of the lives of five men who were killed while working in a mine that was owned by Mr. McCormick and his associates; they were settled on a basis of $2,000, or an average of $400 per life.

I want to read you what is said in the report of these matters made by a true representative of labor in Pennsylvania. He says: 'I might state that these amounts were not settled upon between the parties and the company, but that a settlement was made for a lump sum of $2,000 for the five lives, and a distribution was arranged by mutual agreement between the families affected, and the attorneys representing them, and the U. M. W. of A. This settlement for this low figure was brought about because of the fact that the Sonman Shaft Coal Company was in a bad financial condition and it was agreed that no amount could be collected from them to exceed that amount. And, furthermore, Mr. McCormick, and Mr. Cameron, both told me that through some peculiarity in the affairs or titles of the Sonman Coal Company, they, the plaintiffs, would not have much standing in court, and that the settlement made was virtually all that the Sonman

THIRTEEN BRITISH MERCHANTMEN SUNK

British steamers Strathroy, Maple-branch, Highlandhope, Indrani, Rio Brazuu, Farn, Nicoto, Maria De Larrinaga, Cervantes, Cornish City, Pruth, Condar and Lynrowan, all of which were sunk by the Karlsruhe. The Crefeld was accompanied into port by the German steamers Patagonia, Rio Negro and Asuncion.

A later message states that over 400 men of the crews are prisoners and that the merchantmen were mostly sunk in the Atlantic. The ships were mostly engaged in the South American trade and their total tonnage was about 60,000.

The cruiser Karlsruhe, a ship of a tonnage less than 5,000 tons, has had in this war, a career as eventful in the Atlantic as that of her smaller sister ship, the Emden, in the Indian Ocean.

The Karlsruhe first came into notice at the outbreak of the war, when she appeared in the vicinity of Sandy Hook, apparently in wait for British merchantmen leaving New York. For a few days the British shipping hugged their coasts and then came news that the Karlsruhe had been driven away by the approach of several British cruisers.

On August 9 the Karlsruhe appeared in the harbor of San Juan, Porto Rico, where she coaled and then again took to the seas. Soon after it was learned that the Karlsruhe had been in a sensational running fight at sea with the British cruisers Suffolk and Bristol.

It appears that the British cruisers came unexpectedly upon the Karlsruhe while she was coaling from the German steamer Kronprinz Wilhelm.

The cruisers engaged in a running fight while the Kronprinz Wilhelm, through her superior speed, easily escaped. The Karlsruhe also eluded her pursuers and an unconfirmed report had it that she damaged the Bristol in this fight.

Since then the Karlsruhe has appeared in several West Indian ports for coal after preying in various Southern seas on British commerce.

An official statement, given out in Berlin on October 3 said she had sunk seven British steamers in the Atlantic.

Harrisburg Gunners Shoot Three Black Bears on Trip

A hunting party, consisting of J. L. Sheaffer, John G. Martin, Harry B. Shoop, Lockwood B. Worden and Saul Reed, returned home last night from a hunting trip in the northern part of the State, where they had been successful, well satisfied with their success, although game seemed not as plentiful as in previous years. They succeeded in killing a good number of pheasants and three black bears.

of what the coffee trade think of the harmfulness of the coffee-drug, caffeine, is shown in their efforts to get rid of it—to get a coffee that doesn't contain caffeine!

When they do succeed in getting rid of some of the caffeine drug-content, the result is a weak, "clover-tea" decoction that few appreciate.

But after all their efforts to rid coffee of part of its caffeine, how about the other coffee-drug, "tannin"—about 2-2.5 grains to every cup of coffee?

Tannin is the drug used to tan hides with. Do you know what it does to your stomach? Probably not. Here is what good authorities say about it:—

"Tannic acid in coffee interferes with digestion."
"The caffeine and theine in coffee and tea are cerebral stimulants and the tannic acid is an astringent, affecting especially the muscular fibers of the intestinal walls."
"Tannic acid is universally condemned by all authorities as a hindrance to digestion and health."

Why keep on running the risk of serious interference with health. Why not quit a table beverage that bears in its train a lot of trouble like nervousness, headache, heart, stomach, bowel disturbance, insomnia, etc.

Thousands, suffering from these ills, find it easy to quit coffee when they have at hand the delicious, nourishing beverage—of Dubois, and so it was all through the trip.

"I can scarcely believe that a so-called evangelist would write such a slanderous lie. I shall at once consult counsel and give him the paper a reasonable time to make explanation and apology. It must be made decisively and as publicly as the libel was issued or I shall see that the full consequences of the law are meted out.

"Fortunately for me, my whole life is an effective and convincing answer to such villainous slander. I AM NOT AND NEVER HAVE BEEN A DRINKING MAN. The truth is that in this entire campaign I have not even been asked to touch liquor and I have not at any time, at any place, tasted even a drop of any sort of intoxicating liquors.

"I do not intend to allow anyone, even in the garb of a calling that ought to be heaven high above scandal, slander and lying to reflect upon my reputation or attack my character.

"MARTIN G. BRUMBAUGH."
The Altoona Tribune publishes the following relative to the incident: "Last Monday evening the Rev. Dr. Stough, who is now conducting an evangelistic campaign in Dubois, visited Clearfield and delivered his anti-booze lecture or sermon. In its report of the discourse the Clearfield Progress of Tuesday, which reached this office yesterday, credits Dr. Stough with the following statement and charge:

"The gang who traveled with Brumbaugh when he made his tour through Clearfield county were half drunk. Brumbaugh himself was led from the clubrooms and put to bed by Joe Bensinger, the leading hotel man of Dubois, and so it was all through the trip."

"The editor of the Tribune has written to Dr. Stough, calling his attention to the foregoing extract and inquiring whether he really said it or whether it is the invention of the Progress reporter. In the meantime we will postpone comment, except to say that the author of this accusation against Dr. Brumbaugh, whether it be the evangelist or the newspaper, is a liar and should be called to account."

STOUGH STATEMENT COMING
The Telegraph yesterday wired Dr. Stough as to the truth of the foregoing quotation. His reply late last evening follows: "Dubois, Pa., Oct. 22, 1914. "Harrisburg Telegraph, Harrisburg, Pa. "Quotation garbled. Will not trust to wire corrected quotation lest other mistakes be made in transit. "HENRY W. STOUGH. "This was followed by another telegram, received here to-day, in which Dr. Stough says: "Have mailed to you signed statement."

Thieves Rob Store and Steal Auto Truck to Carry Off Their Plunder
Special to The Telegraph
Waynesboro, Pa., Oct. 23. — Early this morning thieves broke into the general store of John J. Miller, in East Main street, and stole a large lot of merchandise and made their escape, after stealing an auto truck from a garage a mile away, but which they could not operate successfully. The Miller store is located in the Odd Fellows' building and it is thought the thieves entered during a meeting of the lodge and went to the cellar. After the people had left the building they went up a stairway to a door leading to the store room and with an auger bored holes around the lock and thus opened the door. They took a dozen pairs of the best shoes in the store and also half a dozen suits of underwear, several boxes of collars, ten or twelve dozen neckties, several boxes of men's hose and a number of shirts, collar buttons, shoe strings, etc.

They packed the shoes and some of the other articles in suitcases and carried them about a mile, to the garage of Welty Brothers. They broke open the doors and took out a large auto truck, but after running it about 100 yards were unable to keep it going and abandoned it on the highway.

About three weeks ago the hardware store of Daniel Richhart was robbed and about $100 worth of guns and ammunition stolen, under circumstances similar to the Miller robbery. The same store was robbed about two years ago.
