

CARMAN JURY 10 TO 2 FOR ACQUITTAL

Judge Kelby Discharges Men After They Had Deliberated Thirteen Hours

Special to The Telegraph Mineola, N. Y., Oct. 26.—Thirteen hours and ten minutes of the most wretched, harrowing mental torture that a woman can endure, and which has left her almost a nervous wreck, will be the full extent, in all likelihood, that the State will ever demand of Mrs. Florence C. Carman for the killing of Mrs. Louise D. Bailey.

Council May Meet on Monday Instead of Next Tuesday to Receive Bids

City Council may meet next Monday instead of Tuesday for a very, very brief session. Tuesday, as is generally known, will be election day and the session would have been postponed entirely had it not been that the commissioners must act on the bids for the construction of the new entrance and roadway in Reservoir Park.

Gathering Up the Loot Stolen by Thieves

Detective Joseph Ibach was busy today gathering up booty alleged to have been stolen by Paul W. Schubauer and Martin Schreier in recent robberies. Packages containing clothing, several musical instruments and other articles have been recovered.

MACHINE RULES TRANSCEND LAWS OF PENNSYLVANIA

of the partially allied parties, but every nomination is endangered.

The opinion establishes that the legislature of 1913 in enacting the famous primary and party regulation act wrote into law the principle of home rule or local self government and points out that the Democratic State machine arrogated to itself powers to which it had no right. While the case was started too late to strike off the nominations yet the decision will prove to the State that the machinations of the Democratic organization are without warrant of law.

The decision was given in the context of the nominations of T. Henry Walnut and W. T. Robinson, as Democratic candidates for the Legislature in the Seventeenth Philadelphia district made by the Democratic State executive committee by two Democrats residing in the district on the ground that they should have been made by the local Democratic committee and not by the Democratic State executive committee. The case was presented on Friday when counsel for the contestants contended that the principle of home rule had not been followed, to which counsel for the candidates rejoined that under the primary and party act of 1913 the State committee has authority to make rules for the government of the party in the State and that it had power to make nominations for the Legislature where vacancies occurred.

The effect of the decision will leave the Democrats without any legislative candidates in this district as the time for making substitutions is too limited.

BREAK HIS JAW AND TAKE AWAY HIS WATCH

John Ostap, 118 Christian street, was admitted to the Harrisburg Hospital yesterday with a broken jaw. He was found early in the morning by the police at Eleventh-and-a-Half street. He was held up, he says, by two negroes, who stole his watch.

POSTPONE HUNTING HEARING

At the request of the Pennsylvania State Game Commission, Alderman C. E. Murray postponed the hearing of W. George and Frank George, of Lingletown, and Merlow Hoover, of Speecheville, charged with hunting without a license, until the morning of November 10.

Points From Which German Zeppelins May Attack London

Many military experts have thought the purpose of the Germans in taking Antwerp was to sweep on to the English Channel and there find a base for an attack of Zeppelins on London.

With the failure of the first great German rush toward Paris, when the Kaiser's masses were repulsed in the battle of the Marne and driven back to the present line, military and naval experts predicted that the next great German strategic move would be made against London.

None of the great ships of the Kaiser's navy has so far been engaged, submarines, destroyers, and small cruisers having borne the brunt of what naval action there has been in the North Sea.

Dispatches from Amsterdam quote an unnamed German aviator as saying that Germany's aerial invasion of England will be made in February. While there may be occasional raids before that time, the general assault by Zeppelin and aeroplanes, he says, will not begin until then because Germany is not ready earlier.

Orders Were Given by Germans to Execute All Prisoners of War

Washington, Oct. 26.—The French embassy to-day issued the following statement: "The report appeared in the press some time ago, according to which General Stenger, commanding a brigade of the German army in France, had issued an order to his troops prescribing to them to give no quarter to any prisoners, but to shoot them all and to finish the wounded."

"An official statement from Berlin, via Sayville, was issued thereupon declaring that this was an 'impudent lie.' "The atrocious order had, nevertheless, really been given and carried out, and proof of it is in the hands of the French government. Over twenty German prisoners of the 112th and 142nd regiments of infantry (forming the Stenger brigade) are now held in France at Mont Brison and St. Etienne. They have declared, under oath, before the magistrate, that this order was actually issued and that in accordance with it, all French wounded found that day were at once dispatched. Officers and notably Captain Curtius personally of the 112th regiment, superintended the execution."

LEWIS EGOLF DIES

Lewis Egolf, aged 32 years, died yesterday at the Harrisburg Hospital. Mr. Egolf was a paymaster at the Harrisburg Pipe and Bend Works, and was long a member of the West End Gun Club. Funeral services will be held at the home of Mrs. George Jeffries, a sister, 520 Forrest street. Burial will be made in the East Harrisburg Cemetery, the Rev. A. S. Williams officiating.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

LYBARGER'S REPLY

In order to correct any wrong impression that may have found lodgment in the minds of any who have read Mr. Wildman's speech of last Thursday evening, I submit the following: Jesse J. Lybarger, Democratic candidate for the Legislature, personally appeared before me, an alderman, and made the following solemn statement, as hereinafter specified: "The assault and battery cases, referred to by above opinion of Mr. Wildman, were the outcome of an altercation in getting possession of a sewing machine. This occurred about fifteen years ago and is as follows: The machine had been left for approval by an agent working under my supervision. Not one penny had been paid, either as rental or purchase money, yet the persons with whom it was left refused to surrender up the machine to the said agent. It then became my duty to secure the company's property, if possible. In doing so not a hand was raised to either the agent or woman mentioned in the cases. Two people tugged slightly at one end of the machine, while I, at the other end, pulled it through the hallway and out of their possession. "The suits at law (both cases mentioned by Mr. Wildman) cover one and the same transaction, and, to the best of my recollection and belief, are stated substantially as above set forth. Further, to the best of my knowledge and belief, the company's attorney in the cases received a check with which to pay all costs and charges." (Signed) JESSE J. LYBARGER. "Subscribed to in my presence and sworn to this 26th day of October, 1914."

FRITZ KRAMME, "Alderman"

Personally I have nothing at all against Mr. Wildman. In his public capacity I oppose him. A public official is but a public servant and is at all times open to public criticism. I, therefore, referred to the fact of Mr. Wildman's opposing, by his voice and vote, upon the floor of the House in the last Legislature, the reading of that Book of books—the Holy Bible—in our public schools, and his supporting a hunters' license bill in opposition to the wish of a large percentage of those directly interested. Out of more than seven thousand hunters (representing nearly as many families) that took out license in Dauphin county last year, and were branded with as many tags, I am assured that at least ninety per cent. of these oppose a hunters' license. Mr. Wildman also opposed local option. I stand for The Prohibition League also stands for local option. It endorsed it editorially on May 29, 1914, closing the article in these words: "It is so congenial to basic principles of democracy that it is not easy to understand how the Legislature can longer refuse to submit the question to the people." Most respectfully yours, JESSE J. LYBARGER. Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 26, 1914.

CLAIRVOYANT HAD STRANGE "POWERS" WILL CASE SHOWS

Prevented Electrical Storm From Occurring in Midwinter, Court Learns

When Mrs. Martha Adams dreamed pleasant dreams of star-studded moonlit skies and waving green trees and many colored flowers and luscious grass and silvery brooklets and birds singing in the three-tops and lowing cows and bleating sheep and so on, Harrison Seiferd was the only person that could tell her what it was all about.

And when Mrs. Adams dreamed rather unpleasant dreams of a sudden change of scenery and weather, Mr. Seiferd was also the sole personage of her acquaintance who had an explanation for that.

This was developed to-day at the continued hearing before Register of Willis R. C. Danner of the contested will of Mrs. Adams. Mrs. Adams had bequeathed most of her $12,000 estate of Mr. Seiferd. The regular heirs, who will not get more than $200 apiece out of it, are protesting against the probate of the will. They contend that Seiferd, an alleged clairvoyant, unduly influenced Mrs. Adams.

Stayed Electrical Storms? While some of the witnesses told of Mrs. Adams' exchange of confidences in which she told of her good and bad dreams and of how she relied upon Seiferd for an interpretation, other witnesses told of Seiferd's methods of staying electrical storms, emptying cellars of water, and so on.

Mrs. J. C. Rummel told of the storms and the cellar water. One time her husband had paid Seiferd $100 for a storm-staying "force" or "power." This power, contained in a bag, was placed over the roof during the week between Christmas and New Year's Day. There were no electrical storms that week.

For several days there was no perceptible abatement of the water flow. In the interval the city extended its sewer facilities past the Rummel house. Then the overflow ceased.

PLANS FOR NEXT SESSION

Washington, Oct. 26.—Plans for the administration program at the December session of Congress will be discussed by President Wilson and party leaders at a forthcoming conference. The President expects the House will be busy with appropriation bills until February and the Senate meanwhile may busy itself with other measures among them the Philippine bill. After final adjournment Saturday most of the members hurried home.

Gen. Antonio Villareal to Be Mexican President

London, Oct. 26, 2:55 A. M.—A dispatch from Suis, Netherlands, to the Express says: "All British subjects living in Belgian coast towns between Mariakerke and Knocke Sur Mer were summarily expelled and sent to Holland Saturday. This is the result of the issuance of a German proclamation at Ostend stating that British spies were directing the fire of the British warships."

BISHOP AT ANNIVERSARY

Bishop James H. Darlington, of this city, preached the seventeenth anniversary sermon yesterday morning in the Protestant Episcopal Church of St. Jude and the Nativity, Eleventh and My Vernon streets, Philadelphia. He took for his text the verse, "I speak concerning Christ and the church," and emphasizing the necessity for endowments in maintaining the position of the influence of the city church, because of the rapid changes in population taking place in American communities.

PRISONERS TOTAL 298,869

London, Oct. 26, 5:40 A. M.—A Reuter dispatch from Amsterdam says according to the Berlin newspapers received there the number of war prisoners up to October 21 aggregated 298,869 including 5,401 officers. Of these it is said that there are 2,472 French officers and 46,897 men; 2,164 Russian officers and 104,524 men; 547 Belgian officers and 31,378 men and 218 British officers and 8,659 men.

Survivors of Karluk Reach Victoria, B. C.

Victoria, B. C., Oct. 26.—The United States Revenue Cutter Bear arrived from Nome, Alaska, yesterday bringing Captain Robert A. Bartlett, master of the wrecked Stefanson, exploring ship, Karluk and eight Karluk survivors who were taken off Wrangell Island by the power schooner King and Wingo, which transferred them to the Bear in the Arctic. Captain Bartlett and his men were landed at Esquimalt because, and the Bear proceeded to-night for Seattle with 48 officers and men rescued from the United States Revenue Cutter Tohoma which was wrecked last month on a reef in the Alutian Islands.

This is General Villareal, who in all probability will be chosen president of Mexico, having been nominated by the military convention composed of Carranza and Villa sympathizers at Aguascalientes. He has been one of the constitutionalists of influence since the revolution against Huerta began. At this time he is governor of Nuevo Leon. By the choice of Villareal General Villa and General Carranza are both eliminated from the coming election. Villa has succeeded in doing what he has long aimed at—keeping Carranza out of the presidency.

WIFE'S LOVE FOR POLITICS GETS HER ON DIVORCE LIST

Ardent Suffragette Wanted "Wider Sphere," She Tells Her Husband

Mrs. Jane Hunter's love of politics and a desire for a wider sphere of activity were the snags that interfered with the smooth sailing of the Hunter matrimonial ship, and eventually swamped it on the rock of the Dauphin county divorce court, according to Robert L. Hunter, the libellant, to-day.

Hunter's action was one of just fifty cases listed for October term and was heard before President Judge Kunkel. Hunter, who is a traveling salesman for one of the big firms which has branches in various parts of the world, said he had been married in 1909. In 1912 he returned from a ten-day trip to find his wife missing—and a drayman loading the household furniture on a wagon. That was the first tip, he had had, he said, of his wife's intended desertion.

Hunter said he had been abroad for a while in an effort to establish a branch agency in London, but the regular war—the clash of the powers of Europe—had made it advisable for him to return.

In For That Suffrage Stuff

Mrs. Hunter was a college girl, Hunter said, and was dissatisfied apparently at the circumstances in which they were required to live. Both of her sisters had married wealthy men. Mrs. Hunter at an early date went in for politics and was an ardent suffragette. Her husband explained to the court, her often expressed desire had been for a wider sphere of life.

REPUBLICAN CLUBS PREPARE TO MARCH

West End Republican Clubs will participate. The speakers will be United States Senator Penrose and very likely ex-Governor Stuart. Dr. Brumbaugh is scheduled to speak in Lancaster on that evening and an effort is being made to bring him here for the Harrisburg rally after he has spoken there. A well-known admirer of Dr. Brumbaugh has offered a special train for the purpose.

The Harrisburg Republican Club will hold a meeting this evening to make preparations for the event. The West End Club will meet to-morrow night for the same purpose. Very large delegations will turn out from these organizations and Republicans not members who desire to parade will meet at the Harrisburg Republican Club's headquarters, 26 North Second street, and march as a citizens' corps.

HOLD PUMPKIN SOCIAL

The Queen Esther Circle of Stevens Memorial M. E. Church will hold a pumpkin social to-night in the church at 7:45 o'clock. The feature of the evening will be "The Pumpkin Girls From Pumpkinville."

THE GREAT STRUGGLE IN THE EASTERN THEATER

The most stationary line of battle in the north, where the Germans and the Russians are apparently deadlocked. Military experts point out that the result of this battle cannot affect the greater struggle now raging along the Vistula river. 2—Where the Russians have been the Germans of line back from Warsaw, forcing the German front to a triangle along the northern bank of the Pilita river, and the west bank of the Vistula. 3—Austrians forming the German right wing are here making valiant efforts to cross the Vistula and cut the Russian line.

This is General Villareal, who in all probability will be chosen president of Mexico, having been nominated by the military convention composed of Carranza and Villa sympathizers at Aguascalientes. He has been one of the constitutionalists of influence since the revolution against Huerta began. At this time he is governor of Nuevo Leon. By the choice of Villareal General Villa and General Carranza are both eliminated from the coming election. Villa has succeeded in doing what he has long aimed at—keeping Carranza out of the presidency.
