Governor John K. Tener Will Preside and Noted Speakers Will Discuss Issues of the Campaign

STRONG EFFORTS TO GET DR. BRUMBAUGH

Adjutant General Thomas J. Stewart to Speak; Clubs Will Parade Preceding Meeting

Republicans of Harrisburg and vicinity will unite in a great rally at Chestnut street auditorium to-morrow evening.

Governor John K. Tener will preside and every effort is being made to have Dr. Brumbaugh brought here for a talk in the early evening, a special train being placed at his disposal if he can make connections.

Senator Penrose will be the first speaker. He is coming here after a vigorous campaign that will continue right up to election day.

Congressman Aaron S. Kreider, who has developed into one of the very best campaign speakers in Pennsylvania, is also on the program and there will be speeches by others, including Adjutant General Thomas J. Stewart, who is regarded as one of the brightest and wisest orators in the United States.

Clubs Turn Out

The Harrisburg Republican Club will meet at its headquarters, 26 North Second street, at 7 o'clock to-morrow evening, and accompanied by a band and citizens' corps, will march to the West End clubhouse, where they will meet the West End Republican Club and the Colored Republican Club.

After a short walk-around the paraders will enter Chestnut street hall, where seats will be reserved for them.

The West End Club will meet this evening to make arrangements for the turnout.

The county committee, which has charge of the rally, received word today that several special cars will bring Republicans from Steelton, Enghart, and Highspire to attend the rally.

This will be the final meeting of the campaign in Harrisburg and every indication points to a big turnout.

DR. M. G. BRUMBAUGH REPUDIATES ACTION OF PERSONAL LIBERTY PARTY NAMING HIM

Did Not Know He Had Been Nominated Until Oct. 22; Is Trying to Get Name Off; Makes a Pledge

By Associated Press

Philadelphia, Oct. 27.—Dr. Martin G. Brumbaugh, Republican candidate for Governor, to-day issued a statement, repudiating the action of the Personal Liberty party in making him its candidate for Governor.

The statement says: "I learned for the first time on October 22, that I was on the Personal Liberty ticket as a nominee for Governor. No one ever suggested to me the intention to name me on this party's ballot, and I did not know there was such a ballot or such a party. Had I been consulted or informed I should certainly have declined to be nominated because I sought only the Republican nomination. I do not know what this party stands for, have never seen its principles, and know no one in its organization, but had learned indirectly that it is presumably favorable to the liquor interests. "Immediately after learning that my name appeared upon this party's ballot I consulted my attorneys and directed them to have my name removed. They, they have informed me, is impossible under present election laws. "I therefore, hereby and in the strongest language at my command repudiate utterly its endorsement of me, and pledge myself, if elected Governor, to demand the immediate enactment of such legislation as will make it absolutely impossible hereafter in Pennsylvania for any man's name to be placed upon a ballot without his written consent."

MERCURY FALLS TO 33

Cold? It certainly is. Thirty-three degrees around these parts early this morning. All over the eastern part of the United States and as far south as Texas, according to the weather bureau, freezing temperature is being reported. Through Pennsylvania it is felt the most. In New York State the first snow fell yesterday. You blame it on the weather man and he blames it on the high atmospheric pressure. He said this morning that the cold spell will not last a week and that in the far West it has started to grow warm again.

THE WEATHER

For Harrisburg and vicinity: Fair to-night, with lowest temperature about 30 degrees. Wednesday fair, continued cool moderate northwest winds.

The main river will continue to fall slowly to-night and Wednesday. A stage of about 1.5 feet is indicated for Harrisburg Wednesday morning.

Note—The slow rise in the river at Harrisburg during the last few days was caused by the gradual closing of the low dam under construction a short distance below the river entrance.

"Buck the Line Hard"

"Don't flinch, don't foul, buck the line hard, don't be a mollycoddle."
This old-time appeal of a famous American is good advice to business men in these times. Business is no game for weaklings.
This is the time to go after business and go after it hard.
This is the time to produce, to sell, TO ADVERTISE.
Across the line is a goal—the goal of good times, of prosperity, of the best business America has known in a generation.
Let us paraphrase that quotation and make it real.
Go after business, don't falter, advertise—don't be a mollycoddle.

PINCHOT HITTING AT PALMER NOW; BREAK COMPLETE

Pittsburgh Story Tells How the Rival Senatorial Candidates Fell Out

The compact which has long been rumored between A. Mitchell Palmer and Gifford Pinchot to abstain from thumping each other and to concentrate their fire on Boies Penrose has been broken forty ways, says the Philadelphia Press to-day in a very circumstantial story from Pittsburgh.

The Press story appears to have been borne out by the manner in which Roosevelt yesterday attacked Palmer and by the criticisms Palmer and Pinchot have been leveling at each other. The Press says that an agreement had been reached in Pittsburgh and declares:

"It now develops that the plan proceeded smoothly until the time for the second conference which was the day before the time limit for withdrawal, October 19. Then William Flinn appeared as the Pinchot champion. He argued strenuously that Palmer should withdraw for two reasons: "First, that W. Draper Lewis, the Washington party candidate for Governor, had withdrawn in favor of Vance C. McCormick. Second, that Roosevelt carried Pennsylvania in the last Presidential election, and that in the event of Palmer's withdrawal, Roosevelt would come into Pennsylvania and make a continuous State-wide fight for Pinchot until election day."
"In reply to this Palmer pointed to the meager registration total of the Young Women's Christian Association by the 'Rainbow workers' during the [Continued on Page 7]

Democrats Can't Give State Local Option

"The Democrats pledge local option in their platform. They pledge something which they know they cannot deliver," declares Senator W. E. Crow, Republican State chairman. "From 60 to 65 per cent. of the Democratic nominees for the Legislature were nominated as opponents of local option, and will so vote. I pledge that every Republican on the legislative ticket in Pennsylvania, if elected, will be left absolutely free and untrammelled to vote on the liquor question as his constituents demand."

300 Men Caught in Mine by an Explosion of Gas; Scores Reported Dead

By Associated Press

Royalton, Ill., Oct. 27.—Three hundred men were caught in the Mitchell mine, near here, by a gas explosion soon after the day shift entered the workings this morning. One hundred men escaped, thirty or forty bodies had been found by rescuers at 11 o'clock and one hundred were known to be imprisoned in a lower level which was burning.

The mine is a mile from this town and the explosion was distinctly heard here. Every one in town, except the telephone operator, hurried to the mine and aid was summoned from Duquoin and Murphysboro. A rescue car also was sent from Benton.
The work of rescue began quickly and within less than two hours several bodies had been taken from the workings.
No hope is held out for the 100 men on the lower level. The flames make it impossible for rescuers to reach them and it is thought here that all are dead.

At to-day's session ordinances transferring $1,800 from the Dock street bridge fund to the fund for the repairing of the State street bridge and $300 from the same fund for the construction of a culvert over Spring creek at Cameron street were offered by Mr. Lynch. Mr. Lynch also reported that the city had received $3,877.19 from the Harrisburg Railways Company for paying on the Dock street bridge.
A letter was received from the mayor of Toronto thanking Harrisburg and its officials for the splendid time it accorded the Canadians on their recent visit here.

CONGRESS COULD HAVE AVOIDED TAX, DECLARES KREIDER

Useless and Extravagant Expenditures Caused Assessment, Not the War

Congressman Aaron S. Kreider decried another of his rousing speeches at Union Deposit last evening where the biggest Republican campaign meeting in years was held.

Mr. Kreider again declared that the country would not now be laboring under the burden of a special Democratic tax if it had not been for the extravagance of the Democratic Congress and he again predicted that as long as the Democratic party is in power it will be necessary to assess this burdensome tax against the consumer.
"The revenue laws in force would [Continued on Page 8]

To Appoint Committee For Big Improvement Celebration Next Year

Further plans for observing the proposed celebration next year of the completion of Harrisburg's River Front improvements will likely be discussed at a meeting next week of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce. The committee which will have charge of the affair will likely be named and perhaps the official date for the observance will be fixed. The time for the directors' meeting has not been definitely fixed.
The executive committee of the Chamber met yesterday and talked over the body's affairs informally. Some committees were suggested to arrange for various lines of the Commerce Chamber's work, but these will not be announced until the names are submitted to the directors next week.
Data relative to the big river celebration is now being collected and among other things the possible date for completion of all the work is being looked for. It is just possible that July cannot be picked for the big time if the improvement work is not entirely completed by the date.

German Line Reported to Have Been Broken; Allies Take Offensive

After Long Period of Comparative Inaction, French and British Resume Operations at Many Points and Claim Advantages at Several Places; Invaders Driven Back to German Soil Near Eastern End of Battle Line; Results, However, Are Not Decisive

The unyielding German line, which for six weeks has been stretched across France, is said on the authority of the French war office to have been broken at last. Near the eastern end of the line in the region beyond Nancy, to-day's French official statement reports the invaders have been driven back onto German soil. At other points over the long line the offensive has been resumed by the allied forces, after a long period of comparative inaction.

The French claim to have won the advantage in an engagement at the point where the line sweeps eastward from the north, less than sixty miles from Paris. Between Soissons and Berry-au-Bac, to the east of the bend in the line, heavy fighting has been resumed. Apparently the engagement was limited to an artillery duel, the entrenched positions of the opposing forces forbidding the use of infantry.

To the northward, along the Franco, Belgian border the fighting continued with undiminished ferocity. Along the Yser, where the struggle has been most intense, the allies have not drawn back, says the French official statement while toward the south further progress has been made between Ypres and Roulers.

As reports filter in from the scene of fighting along the North Sea, supplementing the unemotional official statements, it became evidence to-day that the recent battles along the shore of the North Sea have been the most terrible of the war. From Emperor William, himself, it is said, came the order that the German advance down the coast must be continued at any cost, and that Calais must be taken. The desperate assaults which followed, particularly along the Yser canal, have few precedents in modern military history.

5,000 GERMANS CROSS CANAL

British newspaper correspondents estimate that some 5,000 Germans succeeded in forcing their way across the canal. They did it at a frightful cost. Into a hail storm of shrapnel and shot the Germans charged night after night, only to be cut down by the thousands until the canal was clogged at points with their bodies. Those who succeeded in forcing their way across came to death grips with their waiting adversaries, and with rifle shot and bayonet the struggle went on. Of the Germans who crossed the Yser, according to British reports few escaped alive.

All reports agree that the fighting in the east continues without decisive results. The French official statement says that on the river San and south of Przemysl the Russian offensive is becoming "more accentuated." The latest official Austrian communications state the main Russian army is being engaged and that minor successes have been won by the Germans and Austrians. From Petrograd no report had come up to early afternoon.

Further fighting in Bosnia is reported from Vienna, where the claim is made that the Servians have been driven back to Vishnegrad and that eastern Bosnia is cleared of the enemy.

Although it is impossible to make even a rough estimate of the sacrifices in men entailed by the war all indications point to an enormous total of dead and wounded men. Berlin sends a report that the French have 400,000 men wounded and incapacitated through illness. Rome relates that what are styled official reports place the German average of casualties at 10,000 daily.

The condition of General Von Moltke, chief of the German general staff who was compelled by illness to relinquish his duties is general in Berlin to be such as to cause no alarm.
