McCORMICK AGAINST UNIONISM

To the Editor of the Telegraph:

I enclose for the beenit of your readers extracts from the report of the proceedings of the sixth annual convention of Pennsylvania Federation of Labor, held at Harrisburg, March 12, 13, 14 and 15, 1907, to show the working men of this city that Vance C. McCormick not only had not signed the Typographical Union scale at that time, but was under some unedrstanding not to sign any union scale, which contract he has fulfilled up to the present time:

"On the convention resuming business, Delegrate Flury moved for the appointment of a committee to interview-the publisher of The Patriot (McCormick's newspaper) and endeavor, if possible, to bring about an agreement between the paper and the Typographical Union.

The motion carried, and the Chair and the Chair and the convention of the convention of the sample of the property of the property of the convention of t

BUMPS FOR T. ROOSEVELT

If all the city's voters whose names are enrolled on the registration books troop to the polls next Tuesday, Harrisburg's total vote will number just 13,775—probably the largest in the city's history.

To-day Dauphin county's Board of Commissioners sat in special session until noon to receive the prospective voters who by illness or unavoidable absence on the last regular registration day had failed to get their names on the lists and who wanted a chance to vote on Tuesday.

All told 71 were received to-day, making a total enrollment by the County Commissioners of 375. Many of these were of voters employed out of town who couldn't get to the city on the regular registration days.

The various boards of registers in the city enrolled 13,400 names on the three days set apart for the purpose, which, with to-day's completed total, swelled the number to the largest in Harrisburg's history. At that a few late comers had to be turned away. They got to the doors just a few minutes after the bars had been raised.

The registration before the County Commissioners covered a period of just half a dozen days, as follows:

October 9, 40: October 16, 48: October 28, 100: October 30, 40, and to-day, 71.

IN BEHALF OF JUDGE KUNKEL

A Strong Letter from James Scarlet, the Prosecutor of the Capitol Graft Cases

[From the Philadelphia Public Ledger.] James Scarlet, the distinguished Danville lawyer, who prosecuted the Capitol graft cases so successfully, and who represented the Gov-ernment in dissolving the Powder Trust, and who was one of the group of Central Pennsylvania lawyers who urged Judge George Kunkel to become a candidate for Supreme Court Judge at the May primaries, become a candidate for Supreme Court Judge at the May primarles, writes:

"To the Editor of the Public Ledger:
"Sir—I believe that the people of this State are going to elect a .an who is especially qualified for its highest judicial tribunal, and that man is George Kunkel. I have been meeting men from all parts of the State and have been impressed by the strength of Judge Kunkel's candidacy. He is not a lawyer's candidate, nor a politician's candidate; he is a plain people's candidate. He has demonstrated by his service in the Dauphin County Court that he is the right man for the State's highest court.

"The most forceful presentation of the reason fo rhis election was recently made in all editorial in the Public Ledger.
"Judge Kunkel's friends, who have been looking after his camwhile he has been conducting the affairs of the Dauphin County court, say that he is particularly strong among men of independent political opinions. He is as is his opponent, a Republican, but his attitude not only in the Capitol Graft cases, but in the various disputed nominations for State offices, which have been tried in the Dauphin County Court, shows that he does not allow his political affillations to blas his judicial determination.

"The fact that he was removed from party politics a year ago, when he was re-elected to the Dauphin County bench on the first nonpartisan ticket ever presented to the voters, and was the choice of all parties, has attracted many persons, who believe that politics and the bench should have no connection.

"Republicans, Democrats and Progressives alike are working in behalf of Judge Kunkel throughout the State, and I think he is going to be elected.

DOCTOR BRUMBAUGE AND HIS DEMOCRATIC COMPETITOR

[From the Philadelphia Public Ledger.]

[From the Philadelphia Public Ledger.]

Colonel Roosevelt's tour through Pennsylvania has ended without affecting in the slightest degree Doctor Brumbaugh's strength. It is problematical whether his visit has materially benefited his canidate for the United States Senate, who is laboring under a heavy handicap; indeed, it is questionable whether his loyal admirers, still exceedingly numerous in Pennsylvania, will follow his advice—that the best way to beat Penrose is to vote for Pinchot.

Ferences to Doctor Brumbaugh were half-hearted and facetlous; his endorsement of Mr. McCormick lacked the ring of sincerity. The Colonel argued strongly for protection in one breath. In the next he denounced the Republican and Democratic parties; sneered at the Wilson Administration, and declared that its policles had falled. What scant references he made to Mr. McCormick, very gingerly expressed when uttered, entirely ignored in a number of his speeches, were so inconsitent that they must have falled to carry conviction.

The campaign of defamation against Doctor Brumbaugh recoiled on his detractors, and has won him new supporters from the elements of the population who abhor the methods that have been pursued to blacken the reputation of one of Pennsylvania's purest citizens.

Doctor Brumbaugh telegraphed the Public Ledger Wednesday a terse statement, over his signature, in which he declares his attitude in most unequivocal language. His position on local option is absolutely explicit. The companies of the population who abhor the methods that have been pursued to blacken the reputation of one of Pennsylvania's purest citizens.
