A WOODLAND FRAGRANCE.

A WOODLAND FRAGRANCE. The carefully-groomed woman adopts a single perfume to use ex-clusively, and naturally her choice is a French extract, usually a scent which may be duplicated in scap and powder. The Gorgas drug store car-fumes to suit each individual taste, and they are maintaining before the war prices on all but one of their French extracts in spite of increased cost of importations. The delightful Sous Bois—sweet woodland fragrance, mingling the scents of delicate blos-soms and the fresh sweet odor of leafy dells—is so unusual and dis-tinctive that it deserves special men-tion. It is one of Goedet's perfumes, a fact, which alone, is assurance of jus quality, and sells at the usual price.

A DECORATOR'S SUGGESTION.

A DECORATOR'S SUGGESTION. The choice of wall coverings is often a problem to the inexperienced, but modern decorators, not only show the newest and best designs, but are such expert suggestions. The A. B. Tack Wall Paper Shop, 1216 N. Third street, advocates the treatment of valls as a background for pictures and furnishings, rather than as the focus of attention. This does not may all should be dull, for a wall may be hung in light or dark torose, in figured or plain papers, pro-vided that the values of the combined olors are correct, and the tones, at all times property balanced to make the walls a perfect background for a prefect picture.

THE HIGH COST OF LIVING. While the high cost of living often diminishes both the quality and quan-tity of food, it is good to find oc-cassionally that there are still stores which make special efforts to furnish high grade food stuffs at moderate prices, cutting down their profits rather than make the consumer suf-fer. The Studebaker Grocery store, State and Second streets, has long en-loyed a reputation for square dealing, and whatever they offer is pretty sure to be the best that can be bought at the price. They are offering now a Studebaker Special Coffee at 32 cents a pound, which is an unusually ex-cellent and delicious blend.

THE GIFT OF HAND WORK.

THE GIFT OF HAND WORK. The gift of hand work has a value all its own, and the woman who plans her Christmas-giving in advance, will be interested in the abundant assort-ment of underwear stamped in dainty designs, which the Woman's Ex-change. Third street at Terr, is show-ing. The various styles of combina-tion suits are especially attractive, the envelope combinations and knicker-bocker suits, being pleasing variations of the more usual styles. They make lovely gifts, and aside from the cost of one's time, the completed gift costs but 85 cents for the envelope com-binations, as this price includes the completed garment, stamped ready for embroldery and all materials for working.
