FRED WELSH WINS IN EIGHTH ROUND

Lightweight Champion Retains His Title; Decisive Victory Over Former Champion

Special to The Telegraph. New York, Nov. 3.—Fred Welsh, of England, is still the lightweight champion boxer of the world. He technically stopped Ad Wolgast in the eighth round of a scheduled ten-round bout at Madison Square Garden last night. At the end of that round Wolgast, with his face battered and with his face distorted with pain, called referee Roche to his corner and told him that a small bone in his arm was broken. Wolgast's chief second had to lift the Michigan Wildcat's hand so that Roche could examine it. Wolgast was powerless to use it. Roche then, realizing that Wolgast was in no physical condition to continue the bout, then ordered it stopped. Welsh at the ringside weighed 135 pounds and Wolgast 135 1/2 pounds. The sudden termination came as a surprise to the majority of the fight fans. But to those who occupied seats close to the ringside it was evident that Wolgast had been crippled. From the fifth round on it was noticeable that Wolgast rarely used his right hand. In the seventh round he only used it as guard occasionally. In the eighth round Ad's right hand hung helpless at his side like the broken wing of a duck. It swung back and forth with the movements of his body. Not once was he able to raise it, even to guard his face.

Lebanon Valley Scrubs Know How to Play

Special to The Telegraph. Annville, Pa., Nov. 3.—The Lebanon Valley scrubs had a hard battle with the Hershey team yesterday, winning by the score of 6 to 6. Hershey put up a good game, the playing of their star, Dearolf, a former Lebanon Valley man, being a big factor in the low score.

Race got the only touchdown in the game by catching a forward pass for a run of sixty yards.

TECH HIGH BANQUET AFTER THE BIG GAME

Members of the Technical high school alumni met last night and discussed plans for the annual banquet to the Tech high football team Friday, November 27. The following committee was named to arrange for the banquet: Earl Killinger, chairman; Poffenberger, '08; Kishpaugh, '08; Cornell, '10; Story, '11; Furman, '13; Willis, '14; and Herman Hahn of the 1911 class. Dr. Charles B. Fager, principal of the school, is acting as advisory head of the committee and promises a good time for the Tech men.

BODIE'S JUMP TO FEDS A RUMOR ONLY

PING BODIE

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 3.—No stock is being taken by Chicago fans in the report from Los Angeles to the effect that Ping Bodie, the hard-hitting outfielder of the Chicago White Sox, has jumped to the Buffalo Federal League team. Manager Callahan has announced that Bodie recently signed a contract for one year and that he does not believe the report.

BITS OF SPORTS

Basketball starts next Saturday. Steelton Nationals want a game for Saturday. Average weight 135 pounds. Manager F. J. Fezak, 206 Frederick street. Jim Bluejacket, the Cherokee Indian pitcher who jumped the Giants for the Brooklyn Feds wants to return. Late reports to-day say peace is still in sight.

Central high will play practice games with Harrisburg Academy this week in preparation for the game at Steelton Saturday. Reading's Eastern League team will be the opening basketball attraction at the Army Saturday night. In the Holtzman duckpin league series the Feds last night defeated the Americans, margin 163 pins. The Alphas won from the Colonials in the Casino league games last night, margin 23 pins.

JOE GANS IS BADLY BEATEN

Special to The Telegraph. Philadelphia, Nov. 3.—Knockout Brennan, 156 pounds, of Buffalo, beat Italian Joe Gans, 150 1/2, of New York, in five of the six rounds boxed in the windup at Olympia last night. In only one round, the fifth, did Gans make any effort to open up and box. Then he caught Brennan a half dozen left hand leads, which soon had the latter bleeding at the mouth. It was an easy victory for Brennan.

Son of Late Gov. Findlay Dies at Hagerstown, Md.

Special to The Telegraph. Hagerstown, Md., Nov. 3.—Judge James Findlay, a prominent resident and businessman of this city and a native of Pennsylvania, died suddenly at his home yesterday from heart failure. He was 77 years old. Mr. Findlay was born in Chambersburg, Pa., but spent nearly all of his life in Maryland. He was a son of Archibald Irwin and Sophia Van Lear Findlay. William Findlay, the grandfather of Judge Findlay, was at one time Governor of Pennsylvania and later became United States Senator. The father of Judge Findlay was a lawyer and born in Mercersburg, Pa.

JOHN DREW

The coming of John Drew is always an event of extreme importance to players and the announcement of this distinguished and popular actor's engagement at the Majestic Theater for one performance only, Tuesday evening, November 10, is a very welcome one. Mr. Drew comes in "The Prodigal Husband," a new comedy by Dario Nicodem and Michael Morton, in which he has been playing at the Empire Theater, in New York, since the beginning of the present season. The new play is said to fit him to the proverbial nicety, supplying him with ample opportunity for the display of the delicate comedy methods and moments of sincere and sympathetic characterization that have made him the leader among American players.—Advertisement.

MYRKLE-HARDER STOCK CO.

Having established itself firmly with the local theatergoers by its presentation of "Elevating a Husband" at two performances yesterday, the Myrkle-Harder Stock Company offers to-day at both matinee and evening performances at the Majestic Theater David Belasco's wonderful play, "The Girl of the Golden West." This is one of the biggest pieces ever undertaken by a stock company and the production carried by the Myrkle-Harder folks is in every way adequate. The settings for the piece are laid in the beautiful golden West with its grand mountain peaks and valleys, its fascinating sunrise and sunsets, the quiet shimmering moonlight and all the atmosphere to blend with the story of the gold hunters of '49. To-morrow's play will be "Stop Thief." Election returns will be given between the acts at to-night's performance.—Advertisement.

COLONIAL

Rita Redfield, a positive Harrisburg favorite, offering a dainty singing specialty: Anthony and Mack, clever character comedians, in a bright routine of wholesome nonsense and Swain's Cockatoos, a gorgeous group of cockatoos in a pictorial bird display, are the clever Keith hits grouped about "The Movie Models," a fine variety skit that is the big feature of the bill to hold forth at the Colonial during the first half of the week. "The Movie Models" is clever and diverting throughout and is a real vaudeville surprise act that must not be disclosed here. Fine moving picture features are also announced for to-day.—Advertisement.

"NORTHERN LIGHTS" AT PALACE

Captain Gray, of the United States Army, detailed to quell the Indian uprising, is wounded. Mrs. Gray, about to become a mother, receives a violent shock at the recital of the details of her husband's injury by the courier. The child born at this inopportune time is Wallace Gray. He is sent to college and there forms a strong comradeship with Swiftwind, an Indian, sent by his tribe to be educated. Swiftwind is a graduate physician and receives a commission as assistant army surgeon, detailed to Fort Terry, in command of Colonel Gray. His immediate superior of Dr. Sherwood, an unscrupulous man. Florence Dunbar and Wallace Gray, traveling in a stage coach to Fort Terry, are attacked by Indians. Wallace deserts his companion, who is saved by the timely arrival of Dr. Sherwood and troops. Sherwood marries Florence. Wallace enlists in another regiment under General Crook, deserts under fire and surrenders to his father. The boy is sentenced to the "pyramids." General Crook calls for a volunteer to pass through the Indian lines to deliver a message to Colonel Gray. Swiftwind volunteers, but, being weak from exhaustion, falls as he is about to commence his ride. Wallace begs for the opportunity to redeem himself, and, mounting his horse, arrives with the message to the besieged band just as they are about to recognize a false flag of truce of the Indians. Sherwood attempts to kill his wife by substituting cholera in a bottle labeled morphine. He is injured, however, and Swiftwind, intending to alleviate Dr. Sherwood's suffering with morphine, inoculates him with the cholera germs, unwittingly putting an end to him. Wallace's redemption restores him to the affection of Florence, whom he marries.—Advertisement.

by the police here on the charge of attempted highway robbery on the Pennsylvania Turnpike yesterday. Clarence Hollenberger, of West Reading, testified at police court that he was crossing the bridge when Rogers suddenly confronted him and tried to rob him of his money and jewelry.

Dauphin.—When two automobiles collided head-on here, Mrs. J. E. Stamm, wife of a Sunbury wholesale groceryman, was thrown through the windshield and suffered many lacerations. She was unconscious more than an hour, but will recover. Her husband was also badly cut and bruised.

Elizabethtown.—Mr. and Mrs. Martin Bherole, lifelong residents, yesterday celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. As Joseph Geisinger was cranking his auto it started off unexpectedly, knocking him down and running half a block high speed into another machine, wrecking it.

Hazleton.—One of the most important issues on which the citizens of Hazleton have ever voted will come before them to-day, when they will ballot on a proposal of council for a loan of $350,000 for the extension of street paving, repair of highways and the construction of more sewers.

Mt. Carmel.—Nicholas Gedro, 40 years, was reported to be in a dying condition in the Miners' Hospital following being shot here yesterday. Bruno Verano, of Kulpmont, who is charged with being his assailant, could not be found. The shooting occurred in front of a hotel in West Third street.

GOOD SHOWS BY MYRKLE-HARDER

Well-balanced Company of Merit Presents Popular Shows at Popular Prices

Beginning yesterday, Harrisburg was introduced for the first time to the Myrkle Harder Stock Company, playing repertoire for the entire week. The introduction was made in Louis Mann's starring vehicle of a few years ago, "Elevating a Husband." One of Myrkle-Harder's advertisements was that they presented repertoire in a manner which elevates them above the plane of the usual stock company, and that their program presented pieces which have enjoyed success wherever presented. Up to both of these statements the Myrkle Harder company lived. For one does not feel that one is seeing a show presented by a company which on the next day will present another show of entirely different character. The manner in which the show is put on the stage alone lifts this company from the ordinary, and the personnel of the company is no less noteworthy. The company is well balanced and of unusual ability.

TO HOLD PIE SOCIAL

Special to The Telegraph. Shippensburg, Pa., Nov. 2.—Kuwad-In Club of Camp Fire Girls will hold a pie social on November 14.

Laughter in the Supreme Court.

The supreme court of the United States is absolutely and indisputably supreme when it comes to solemnity, dreariness, and gloom. People do not laugh once a year in that funeral looking chamber. All you have to do is to set your foot inside it in order to understand that the dispensing of justice is a heavy, ponderous, and serious affair.

Not long ago, however Mr. Justice Lurton made the lawyers, the auditors, and the other justices laugh right out loud. A lawyer from the South was arguing a case concerning two secret lodges. "May the court please," said the lawyer heatedly, "the opposing lodge not only got hold of our ritual and used it, but also got our insignia and regalia."

"Just a moment," interposed Judge Lurton. "Did they also get your goat?"—The Popular Magazine.
