

TOKIO CELEBRATING FALL OF TSING TAU

German Fortress Taken After Actual Siege of More Than Three Weeks

FINAL ATTACK OPENED FRIDAY

White Flag Hoisted on Coast Forts at Mouth of Haipo at 7:30 O'clock

Tokio, Nov. 7, 9.15 p. m. — After desperate assaults, in which the Japanese in the face of heroic resistance rivaled the bravery of their forces at Port Arthur, Tsing Tau surrendered at 9.20 o'clock this morning.

It was in the middle of September that the real attack began, although preparations for the taking of the German stronghold in Asia were begun immediately after war was declared by Japan on August 15.

The final and successful attack on Tsing Tau began shortly after midnight Friday morning and the first inroad by the allied forces, which was largely instrumental in the fall of the place, was the taking of the middle fort of the first line of defense.

Simultaneously with the charge of General Yamada others were made, the troops dashing forward with cries of Banzai. Taiungchen, the fortification on the east, fell at 5.35 in the morning. Chungchiawa was captured soon thereafter with its two heavy cannons.

A detachment of the first line occupied the Iltis, Bismarck and Moltke forts at 7 in the morning and then the enemy hoisted the white flag on the weather astronomical station adjoining the governor's office.

JUDGE KUNKEL GOT 21,459 VOTES HERE

Official Count Completed by the Clerks; Frazer Unofficially Ahead

Members of the committee that managed Judge Kunkel's campaign in the race against Judge Robert Frazer for the Supreme Court today busied themselves with comparing official returns, sent in from a few of the sixty-seven counties with the unofficial figures printed earlier in the week.

Judge Kunkel received 21,459 votes as against 13,721 received by his opponent, Judge Frazer. The unofficial figures compiled on Wednesday, following the election gave Judge Kunkel 21,433 and Judge Frazer 12,666, a majority of 20,167 for the local candidate.

Philadelphia newspapers this morning carried stories to the effect that with two counties yet missing, the unofficial figures give Judge Frazer a lead of 19,150 over Judge Kunkel. Members of Judge Kunkel's campaign committee yet believe the official count will show Judge Kunkel a winner.

Frank E. Zeigler and Benjamin F. Umberger, the tally clerks who recorded the official vote, began making comparisons this afternoon although they will not begin computing the vote until Monday.

TABERNACLE WILL NOT HOLD CROWDS

Thousands Turned Away by Police; Stough Preaches on the Home

IN THE DEMOCRATIC HOUSE

Attacks Divorce, Sunday Paper, Lack of Parental Authority and Example

"Responsibility of parents in bringing up their children and the necessity of Christian surroundings in the home was impressed by Dr. Stough last night on an audience that jammed the tabernacle a half hour before the service began, requiring the closing of the doors and the turning away of between three and four thousand people, many of whom had traveled from distant parts of the city and suburbs to hear the evangelist.

Dr. Stough's subject was "Home Makers and Home Breakers," a lecture in which he reviewed the solemnity of marriage, the rights of the child to be well born, the importance of parental authority, the value of the hickory stick, the inefficiency of some of the modern psychological methods of education, with scathing attacks on the divorce evil and the lax methods carried on in many American homes of to-day.

Courtship Is No Joke He impressed the importance of proper selection in marriage and said that courtship is not the joke it is made to be in the comic papers, but is the primary step in the formation of the home, the foundation of civilization. He emphasized especially the Scripture's command, "Be ye not unequally yoked with an unbeliever," as meaning that a girl should not marry an un-Christian man.

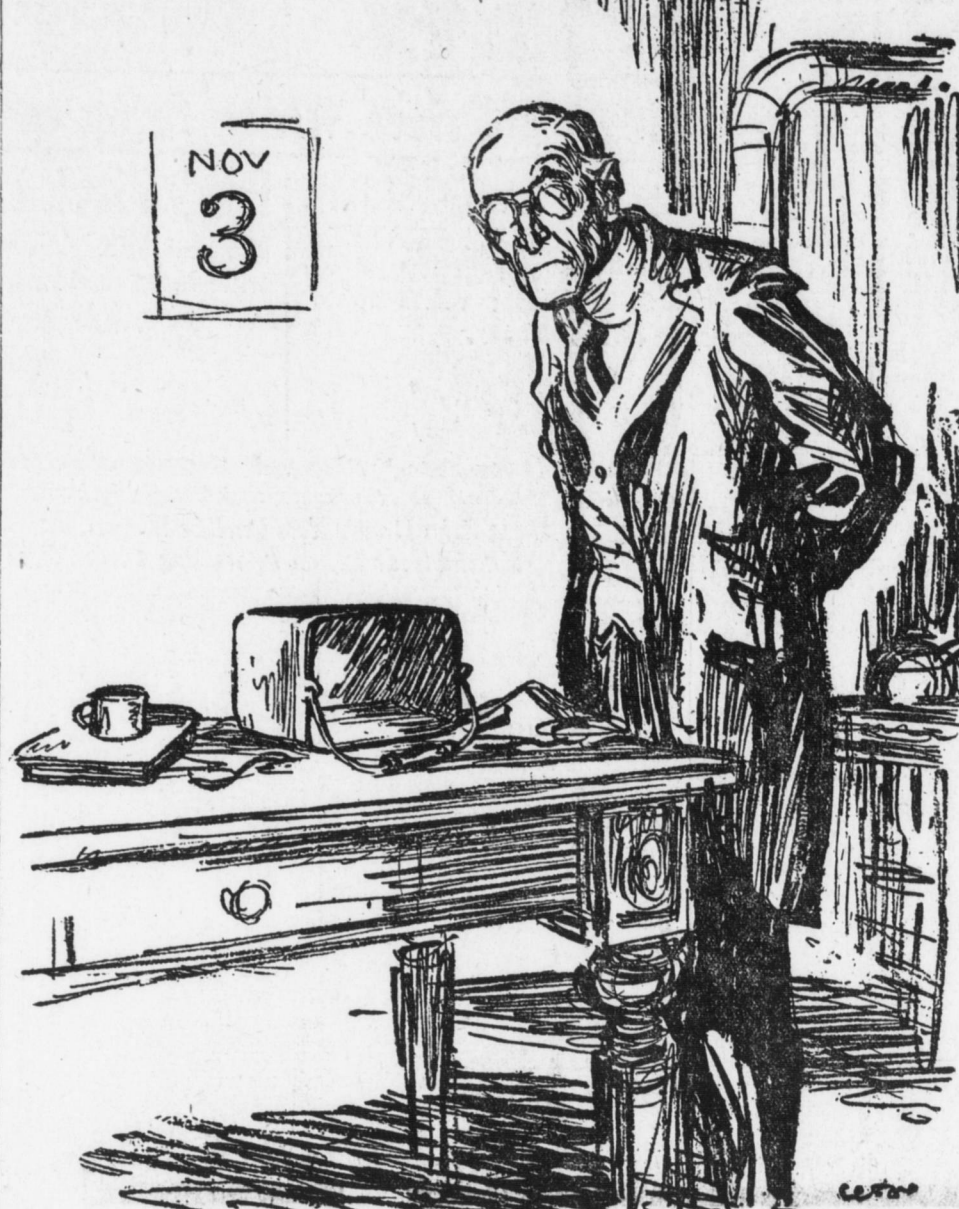

"Don't ever marry a man to reform him, because what a man won't do before marriage he will not do after," said Dr. Stough. He spoke of the more than one million divorce cases in the last two decades in the United States and the two and a half million of children made "orphans" thereby and declared that ministers have no right to marry some couples without making investigations.

Children Should Be Well Born "There should be a new conception of the responsibility of parenthood, that the child has the right to be born well and not by accident," shouted the evangelist. "The child that came into the world with the brand 'not wanted' has the greatest handicap conceivable.

Horse-thief Steals Stough Usher's Mare and Jenny Lind

But Railways Company Dispatcher Saw the Theft and Drove the Stolen Property Back to Owner

Interest in Dr. Henry W. Stough, the evangelist, was diverted in the rear of the big tabernacle last night when J. Fred Hummel, Burgess of Wormleysburg and an usher on one of the main entrance doors, let out a cry of "My horse! My horse! He's stolen! He's stolen!"

City Detectives Ibach and White, with the Burgess, ran out of the tabernacle to look for the horse-thief. When they had panted up to State and Cowden they met Linneaus M. Davis, dispatcher for the Harrisburg Railways Company, placidly driving Mr. Hummel's team toward the tabernacle.

"There's the thief!" shouted the Burgess before he saw who was driving. "Cut your wallin'," growled Mr. Davis. "That's sympathy for you, isn't it?"

Mr. Davis explained that had seen a tall overcoated man get into Mr. Hummel's team. The stranger started driving the mare rapidly toward the State Street bridge. Davis after the team and when the horse-thief saw he was being pursued he jumped from the buggy, and ran down Cameron street.

So Mr. Davis drove the stolen property back to its owner.

GERMANS' ATTEMPT TO REACH STRAITS OF DOVER IS HALTED TEMPORARILY

Paris Reports Situation Along Yser as Far as Dixmude as "Comparatively Quiet"; Fighting Is Now Turning Southward; Fall of Mighty German Fortress at Tsing Tau Occupies Attention of Military Authorities in Europe Today

The German attempt to reach the straits of Dover, prosecuted with such reckless abandon and courage as to wring praise from even the foe, appeared to-day to have relaxed temporarily. Along the now famous Yser, from the sands of the North Sea coast to the ruined town of Dixmude, the situation to-day, in the unemotional language of the French war office, was "relatively quiet."

The fighting there has all but ceased and the tide of battle has rolled southward, leaving behind it the countless dead whose torn bodies are stretched thickly over many a field. South of Ypres, on the line extending down over the French border to Arras, the Germans are preparing another furious onslaught, spurred on by their emperor. The main battle there, upon which depends so much for the Germans and allies alike, has not yet begun.

Pending decisive development on any of the European fields of battle, the fall of Tsing-Tau held first place in the attention of military men to-day. Official reports from Tokio show that it was not without desperate resistance that the German garrison, vastly outnumbered by British and Japanese, gave up the fight. For days the German forces had been subjected to a withering fire from land and sea. At last the central fort fell before the impetuous attack of the Japanese, whose bravery, says Tokio, rivaled that displayed in the historic charges on Port Arthur.

"Suddenly," says the official report from Tokio, "the flag of surrender ran up in the morning breeze on the weather bureau mound, towering above the sea and land." May Run Down Warships With the fighting at Tsing Tau at an end, the question is raised as to what Japan will do next. It is suggested that she will now inaugurate an offensive naval campaign on the Pacific, employing the fleet released from the bombardment of Tsing Tau in an attempt to run down the German warships which wrought such havoc to British shipping interests and defeated the British fleet of Chile.

Notwithstanding the Russian claims to an overwhelming success in the East, there is nothing to show that the German and Austrian forces have met great disaster, and although they were compelled to retreat, they apparently were able to fall back upon strongly fortified positions selected in advance. Russia, in an official statement, makes no claim that the resistance of the enemy has been broken after fighting of several weeks along a front of 350 miles. This campaign has now been closed, in the opinion of the Russian military authorities, who say that a new period of the war will be inaugurated.

Of the fighting on land and sea brought about by Turkey's entrance into the war little was learned to-day. Turkish officials at Smyrna are said to have had further seizures of vessels of hostile countries and the Russian general staff in Caucasus reports that the Turkish forces which attempted an offensive movement have been driven back with heavy losses.

Paris suggests that the Germans are making an important change in their military tactics. Mass formations is said to have been abandoned in the fighting in Flanders, infantrymen attacking in open order and seeking all available cover.
