The following notice has been posted on the bulletin board of the Pennsylvania Railroad Young Men's Christian Association. "This season we hope to have a representative basketball team, a representative reserve team and an eight-man basketball league. All candidates for the first and second teams will meet at the association Tuesday, November 10, at 7:30 p. m. All candidates for the league teams will meet Friday, November 20, at 7:30 p. m. The basketball league will start its schedule the first week in December, playing two games each Monday and Wednesday night.

The association has had no reserve team for the season, and will probably enter the Central Pennsylvania League of first-class amateurs now being formed by the Harrisburg Basketball Association.

TYPHOID FEVER AT LAFAYETTE

Football Team Is Badly Crippled; Food Is Undergoing Examination

Special to The Telegraph. Easton, Pa., Nov. 7.—Three more of the Lafayette College football team are stricken with symptoms of typhoid fever and are out of the game, making seven members of the team now laid up. The situation, so far as athletics is concerned at least, is most serious. Extra precautions have been taken by the coaches to safeguard what is left of the team from typhoid, and all food and drink placed on the training tables is carefully examined.

WOMEN CUP WINNERS

In the October-November issue of the Du Pont Magazine reference is made to the good marksmanship of Mrs. R. Boyer, of Enola, and other women who participated in the recent Westy Hogan shoot at Atlantic City. A photograph of Mrs. Boyer and four other cup winners appears with the story.

Three Strong Attractions on Today's Football Bill

Central and Steelton Clash in Second and Final Battle; Tech Meets Allentown Strong Eleven

Central High to-day met Steelton High at Steelton. Steelton was well primed for Central, but the work of the Harrisburg eleven yesterday indicated victory for the Blue and Gray. Both schools had their cheering crowds on the job.

Tech High went up against Allentown at Island Park. Tech did not expect a runaway victory, for the Allentown bunch has been winning laurels this season.

On the Harrisburg Academy fields the Academy eleven and the Yeats School team, of Lancaster, were lined up. The Yeats eleven is in the same class with the Gettysburg Academy, defeated by the local Academy two weeks ago.

In the big college games the Penn-Michigan battle and the Harvard-Princeton contest were the two big attractions this afternoon.

Ruth Roye Jumped Into Fame at the New York Palace Theater

RUTH ROYE
Another instance of the important and timely Keith attractions that come to this playhouse next week. Miss Roye's fame hasn't spread from coast to coast as yet, because it hasn't had time. But in New York City, where she has been a feature attraction at the Palace Theater for the past six weeks, her name was one of the few that loomed into the limelight overnight. Good looks and delightful costumes, coupled with an irresistible personality, have passed Miss Roye into the headlines without an effort. She will offer a budget of tuneful ballads at the Orpheum next week as one of the clever Keith acts supporting "The Lawn Party," a musical comedy extravaganza. Advertisements.

Harrisburg Will Play Rockwood Five at the Armory To-night

Harrisburg Basketball Association will open the season at the Armory to-night. The first game will be between Harrisburg and the Rockwood five of Philadelphia. Receipts of to-night's game will go to the Belgian sufferers. A dance will follow the game. The teams will line up as follows:

BITS OF SPORTS

In the Holtzman duckpin series last night the Tri-Staters won over the Nationals; margin, 86 pins.

Steelton high school students paraded to-day before the game. The Giants of the P. R. R. Y. M. C. A. bowling league last night defeated the Barons; margin, 273 pins.

Lebanon Valley played a practice game with Middletown A. C. to-day at Anville.

HORTON WINS SEMIFINALS

Finals in the tennis tournament at the Harrisburg Academy were played to-day. In the semifinals yesterday Charles Horton defeated Burgess Broadhurst after three hard-fought sets. The scores: 7-5, 4-6, 6-3. Although the final set was not so exciting as the first two, Broadhurst put up a game fight and was not beaten until Horton scored the last point.

ELKS BOWLING LEAGUE READY

Bowling at the Elks' will open Monday night with a game between the Braves and Artisans. A total of forty-five games will be played by each team. All games will be played Monday, Wednesday and Friday until March 5.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

In business it may mean a fortune. Reputation makes reputation. Therefore it is essential that the name of your establishment stands out prominently from the merchandise you have for sale. An attractive name plate not only serves to embellish your advertisement but it makes the name stand out in decided contrast from the sameness of type in the group of advertisements around yours. Question of Peace With Federal League Seems No Nearer Solution

Special to The Telegraph

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 7.—The most important matter taken up by the club owners of the American League, who concluded their meeting yesterday, was the discussion of a plan to reduce the price of seats at world's series games. The plan found unanimous support and the magnates agreed that the prices charged should exceed the regular admission prices by a small margin, if at all. The National League will have to agree to this plan before any change can be made.

"UNDER SOUTHERN SKIES"
To-day the Myrtle-Harder Company will give a special production of that grand play, "Under Southern Skies." This play is something different from anything this company has ever attempted, as it is a costume production, mounted in proper Southern atmosphere, but the characters will fit the good, wholesome "before the war" pieces that will live forever, as it takes us all back to the old games, such as "Cameo." This celebratory play of Old South has made a hit in every large city in which it has been seen in trans-continental tours and occupies with the American public a distinctive position of its own. Its scenes, which are set amidst the magnolias and live oaks of the far South, make the play so real that when you shut your eyes you can see the cotton fields and hear the strumming of the banjo. This great play has absorbed all the tradition and folk-lore of her native South, moving her hearts from tears to laughter, then back to mirth again.

Each play presented by the Myrtle-Harder Company is a distinct extravaganza and away from anything ever attempted at popular prices.—Advertisement.

JOHN DREW

The title of John Drew's present comedy, "The Prodigal Husband," in which the actor has been appearing at the Empire Theater, New York, since the beginning of the present season and which Tuesday evening, bears a resemblance to the title of one of Mr. Drew's earlier successes, "The Perplexed Husband." The two comedies must not be confused. "The Prodigal Husband" had its first performance on stage only this season, being the joint work of J. H. Nicodemus, the distinguished French actor, and the late Michael Morton, author of "The Yellow Ticket."

It is perhaps a note of interest to women playgoers who look forward to John Drew's annual visits, to know that the ladies of Mr. Drew's company have opportunities for the display of several very charming and extremely beautiful gowns. Since the action of

He doesn't care that I'm not rich Or that I'm poorly dressed, That I'm a toiler in the ditch He hasn't even guessed. My faults that other people know He doesn't even see, For every night, with eyes aglow, He tumbles up to me.

To come to me he'd leave a king If one were sitting near. Unto no millionaire he'd cling If only I'd appear. And, though but tattered rags are mine, When I get home to tea, With eyes that fairly beam and shine, He tumbles up to me.

And so I've reason to be glad And reason to rejoice, It's worth the world to be a dad, To be a baby's choice, There is no prize game can bestow, No joy can eyes aglow, He tumbles up to me.

Are Your Dollars Flying up the Flue?

SMOKE should go up the chimney—not the heat. The heat should circulate through the house.

If it doesn't, then your coal money is literally being wasted through the chimney route.

Kelley's favorite furnace coal—hard stove at $6.70—gives more heat for the money because it is clean and absolutely high-grade.
