TANGOED FOR $150; SUES AND GETS IT
Taffy-Headed Madrey Maple Had to Put It Up to Sheriff—to Try Again
Pretty taffy-headed Audrey Maple, who all last week edified, then electrified big vaudeville audiences by the way she did the tango, "dead or alive," got her check for $150 to-day. That represented a week's pay. Furthermore, she promptly left for New York to carry another $150 in the same way provided the management of the theater is willing; if he isn't willing and won't let her tango as per her job, then she'll sit around whilst her lawyers take the matter into court.
That, in brief, is the net result of the action for wages Miss Audrey brought late Saturday afternoon against the company which had employed her and the local theater manager as cashish.

After graduation he toured Europe, giving concerts in all of the larger cities. While in Harrisburg he will be the guest of his friend, Meetch Stroup.

Eye Talks
By J. S. Belsinger
No. 1
The chap who said "better late than never" couldn't have had any serious eye trouble. The fellow who added, "better never late" struck home in true fashion.
Eye trouble like anything else starts on a small scale. Then is when "better never late" applies.
At the time you feel the first eye discomforts you should consult an oculist—a physician who is thoroughly competent to examine and treat your eyes. He won't give you glasses, but if you need them he will prescribe them.
Then it becomes your duty to see that your prescription gets into the hands of a reliable prescription optician; one who is known for efficient, thoroughly reliable, pains-taking service. He is the man who follows the doctor's orders, and grinds the lenses from the prescription and gives you optically perfect glasses for your eyes.
This is the correct method of giving your eyes proper attention and it can have but one result. It will make for your complete comfort, and in the end cost you less than any other method.

WHAT THE SHOPS ARE SHOWING
A beautiful autumn has encouraged outdoor exercise and the woman who enjoys long tramps in the woods, or any kind of sport, will be interested in the smart, extra-high-topped laced boot of heavy tan leather, with very low heels, which the Walk-Over Boot Shop, 226 Market street, is offering for $5.00. It is the Norwegian model, and the wide eyelet, extended sole, and heavy perforations, defining the sturdy toe, make it a very distinctive style for the well-dressed sportswoman. They are also showing a buttoned model in tan, with medium heel, and rounded toe, not so heavy as the Norwegian, but splendid for service, and very stylish for street wear. The price of this model is also $5.00.
A REAL LUXURY
For motor picnics, travelers, for a score of varied uses, the Thermos bottle fills a long felt want, and the Gorgas Drug Store, carries a complete line of these bottles in pint and quart sizes and in both the white metal and nickel finishes. They also show some beautiful Thermos carafes for table use, and the leather traveling cases for carrying Thermos bottles on railroad or motor journeys. It is not too soon to plan for Christmas giving, and the gift of one of these Thermos bottles is a luxury which anyone will most thoroughly appreciate. The prices are very conservative.
A HELP IN MAKING CHRISTMAS GIFTS
To-day began the very interesting yarn demonstration at the Woman's Exchange, Third street at Hill. Miss McCleary, who was so successful with the demonstration last year, is again in charge, and anyone interested in making Christmas gifts will find at this "shop individual" not only a complete line of the splendid Columbia yarns, but also free instruction and assistance in beginning any article for which the yarns are purchased. This is a splendid opportunity for making charming Christmas gifts at a very small cost for materials and no charge for instructions. Baby sacques, afghans, bedroom slippers, caps, sweaters, and some charming novelties are a few of the possibilities for gifts which may be made with the soft pretty yarns.
THANKSGIVING AND CHRISTMAS
Now is the time to make Christmas and Thanksgiving fruit cakes and plum puddings, as they gain in flavor with long standing, and at the Studebaker Grocery Store, Second street at State, all the necessary ingredients may be purchased. Nuts, raisins, currants, spices and preserves of the finest quality are on sale, and the careful housewife enjoys buying where the foodstuffs are sure to be only of highest grade, assuring cakes and puddings of delicious flavor and tastiness, and with the rich flavoring only obtained with the dainty floral effects suggested and only the best is purchased.
THE BREAKFAST ROOM
The sunny morning room, in which breakfast may be served, must be lighter in tone than the more formal dining room, and the decorations must be wholly suggestive of immaculate daintiness and cheery brightness. The furnishings are usually of light structure, and the color value in wall coverings must be correspondingly light, maintaining the necessary balance. The A. B. Tack Wall Paper Shop, 1216 North Third street, understanding these principals of color balance, are offering some delightful papers suitable for the morning room, some of which carry out most artistically the dainty floral effects suggestive of old-fashioned cheery chintzes.
