

Davenport in Day Time

Bed at Night Time

A Perfect Bed A Perfect Davenport

These Davenports are made in the full size—6 feet long—or in the short size—4 1/2 feet long—either one opens with one slight pull on rear of seat; automatically unfolds. You do not sleep on or wear out the upholstery as in beds where back turns down and upholstery turns over for mattress, but on separate removable mattress. These beds are mechanically perfect and appear well when open. When closed make a Davenport of handsome and well proportioned lines. The upholstery is luxuriously comfortable. Finished in golden oak or fumed oak.

EMDEN DESTROYED BY AUSTRALIAN CRUISER

War Craft Which Menaced British Shipping Is Shelled and Burned

LOSS OF LIFE IS HEAVY

German Cruiser Sank Twenty-two Ships Before Being Put Out of Business

By Associated Press London, Nov. 10, 12.51 P. M.—It was officially announced in London to-day that the German cruiser Emden has been driven ashore and burned.

The losses among the officers and crew of the Emden are reported to have been very heavy.

The Emden was destroyed by the Australian cruiser Sydney. She was driven ashore on an island the Cecos, or Keeling, group, southwest of Java, in the Indian Ocean.

The Sydney sighted the Emden yesterday morning. With superior speed, she at once closed in and gave battle. The German boat could not escape. There was a running fight, at the end of which the Emden, burning from the shells of the Australian boat, was beached.

The casualties on the Sydney are said to have been slight.

The Emden has contributed to the history of the war one of its most remarkable chapters. For sheer audacity and success it has few parallels—certainly none since the Alabama, the famous old Confederate warship, roused the seas. Twenty-two ships, mostly British, have been sunk and one has been captured by the German cruiser.

Since early in August the Emden has been at work. Most of the time she was prevailing on British shipping in the Indian Ocean, but late last month she suddenly appeared at Penang, on the Malacca straits. It was here that the Emden performed her most daring feat. A fourth smelting stack was rigged on her deck and a Japanese flag run up. Thus disguised she steamed boldly into the harbor, passing unchallenged under the British guns of the fort, and fired torpedoes which sank the Russian cruiser Jemchug and a French destroyer. Then she took to her heels and escaped unscathed through the straits.

Speed Greatest Asset

The vessel destroyed by the Emden had a total value of about $4,000,000 exclusive of their cargoes. The Emden's largest guns are only 4.1-inch. Of these she had ten. Her speed of 24.5 knots was her greatest asset, as she was able to run down merchant ships with ease and then escape from larger but slower vessels that pursued her. British, Russian and Japanese warships in the East had been attempting for weeks to put an end to her career.

It has been more or less a mystery to naval men how the Emden has been able to keep at sea month after month without running short of coal and supplies. It is assumed, however, that she has obtained sufficient food and fuel to meet her needs from captured ships.

Carries 361 Men

The Emden had a complement of 361 men. Her armament consisted of ten 4.1-inch guns, eight 5-pounders and four machine guns. She also was equipped with two submerged 17.7-inch torpedo tubes. The cruiser displaced 3,600 tons. She was 287 feet long and had a beam of 42 1/2 feet.

The Australian cruiser Sydney carries a main battery of eight 6-inch guns against the Emden's ten 4.1, thus giving her a heavy advantage over the German ship. While the speed of the two warships was theoretically equal, that of the Emden being 24.5 knots as against the Sydney's 24.7, the former probably was foul and her engines badly racked from her three months of almost constant cruising in southern waters, chasing and being chased, with no port for refitting or repairs.

The Keeling, or Cecos, Islands are a group in the Indian Ocean belonging to Great Britain. They are about 500 miles southwest of the western end of the Island of Java and have cable connections.

WILSON'S CABINET MEETS

City's Mill Rate For 1915 Likely to Remain Same

Initial steps toward the framing of Harrisburg's budget ordinance for 1915 and the fixing of the mill rate for the year were taken by City Council this afternoon when a resolution was adopted directing the heads of the various departments to prepare and submit their estimates for maintenance and expenditures as early as possible.

Harrisburg's mill rate for 1915, it is understood will not be greater than it is now—nine and a half mills—and there is a bare possibility that it may be decreased. Additional bids to increase salaries up to April 1; increased expenditures in the Health Department; a possible increase of one or more officers in the Police Department; a probable increase of from $300 to $500 annual for the chief of police; some additional expenses for maintenance of streets; and provision for the erection and maintenance of 150 or more standard electric lights on the river wall—all these are items which will help to run up the budget requirements. However, the city will have no deficit to take care and the additional outlay will be partially balanced by the increased valuations of some $50,000.

WEISS HELD FOR COURT

BRYAN SAYS PRESIDENT WAS ENDORSED AT RECENT ELECTION

Special to The Telegraph Washington, Nov. 10.—William J. Bryan finds victory for the Democratic party and the national administration in last Tuesday's election. The Secretary of State returned to Washington yesterday after an absence of several weeks on stump-speaking tours, and one of the first things he did was to prepare a statement giving his views on the outcome of the political contests of November 3.

The statement indicates that Mr. Bryan finds considerable satisfaction in the return of a large segment of the Progressives to the Republican party in spite of the fact, according to Mr. Bryan, that Republican leadership has undergone no change. The statement of the Secretary of State contains the virtual accusation that manufacturers ought to make the tariff law obnoxious by closing their plants or reducing their working forces.

LONGWY FORT SMASHED BY 16-INCH GERMAN GUN

The rent in this thick steel encasement at the great French fortifications at Longwy, near the German border, shows the enormous power of the German 16-inch gun. The fort was taken by the army under Crown Prince Frederick, and was the second of the great French fortresses to succumb to the new German gun. After the Germans had taken Liege and Namur with the aid of this gun they moved on to Maubeuge, and that city did not last long. The photograph here shown is the first ever taken of the interior of Longwy. The French have guarded their great frontier fortresses so carefully that no one except the war authorities knew what they looked like. One shell, however, from the great German gun, properly placed, cracked the steel encasement so it was impossible for the French gunners concealed within to hold their place.

NATIONAL GRANGE IN SESSION

Wilmington, Del., Nov. 10.—The National Grange opened its forty-eighth annual meeting here to-day with a full attendance. Delegates representing thirty-four States are participating in the convention.

Dr. Osler on Tuberculosis

Sir William Osler, one of the foremost of living medical men, formerly of Johns Hopkins, Baltimore, and now Regius Professor of Medicine at Oxford, says in his "Practice of Medicine" (1902), on page 249:

"The healing of pulmonary tuberculosis is shown chiefly by the recovery of patients in whose spin elastic tissue and bacilli have been found. In the granulation products and associated pneumonia a scar tissue is formed, while the smaller caseous areas become impregnated with lime salts. To such conditions alone should the term healing be applied."

Many eminent medical authorities have testified to the efficacy of lime salts in the treatment of tuberculosis, and the success of Eckman's Alternative in this and allied throat and bronchial affections may be due partly to the fact that it contains lime salt so combined with other valuable ingredients as to be easily assimilated. Widespread use of this remedy in numerous cases of tuberculosis—many of which appear to have yielded completely to it—justifies our belief that it is worth a trial, unless some other treatment already is succeeding. It contains no opiates, narcotics or habit-forming drugs. We make no promises concerning it any more than reputable physicians give promises with their prescriptions, but we know of many cases in which IT HAS HELPED. Your druggist has it or can get it, or you can send direct. Eckman Laboratories, Philadelphia. Advertisement.
