

Believe Me I Eat Everything

For I Know a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet Will Digest Any Meal At Any Time

How often do we see men who can not eat and how often do we hear other men boasting of their abilities to eat.

The secret of all health is digestion. The secret of digestion is the juices which are supplied by the body to separate the ingredients needed from those that are of no use to the system.

The Pessimist—"Your appetite disturbs me. You eat like a giant north." The Optimist—"Believe me, I give my body what it tells me to give it, and whether it be midnight or noon I always obey appetite and then I eat a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet."

When a heavy meal has been eaten the entire body is called upon to furnish the digestive organs with forces to take care of it. The more the strain the weaker become the forces to take care of the next meal as well.

A Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet aids Nature in Nature's own way. These little tablets are filled with the very ingredients and essences so needed to every normal and perfect stomach.

One quality or ingredient of a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet will digest 3,000 times its weight in food. Think if you can what a big help this means to a depleted digestion. Other ingredients aid in building up the digestive juices and blood. The stomach and intestines have their duties assigned and thus irritation, soreness and raw linings are permitted to be cured by the system naturally, quickly, harmlessly.

Thousands of dyspeptics and stomach sufferers would be glad to tell you what Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have done for them. This is what makes these tablets sold in every drug store in this country, price 50 cents.

To anyone wishing a free trial of these tablets please address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich., and a small sample package will be mailed free.

WHAT DYSPEPTICS SHOULD EAT

A PHYSICIAN'S ADVICE

"Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble are, nine times out of ten, due to some defect in the stomach. Sufferers should, whenever possible, avoid eating food that is acid in its nature, or which by chemical action in the stomach develops acidity. Unfortunately, such a rule eliminates most foods which are pleasant to the taste as well as those which are rich in blood, flesh and nerve building properties. This is the reason why dyspeptics and stomach sufferers usually so thin, emaciated and lacking in that vital energy which can only come from a well fed body. For the benefit of those sufferers who have been obliged to exclude from their diet all starchy, sweet or fatty food, and are left to keep up a miserable existence on gluten products, I would suggest that you should try a meal of any food or foods which you may like, in moderate amount, taking immediately afterwards a teaspoonful of bisaurated magnesia in a little hot or cold water. This will neutralize any acid which may be present, or which may be formed, and instead of the usual feeling of uneasiness and fullness, you will find that your food agrees with you perfectly. Bisaurated magnesia is doubtless the best food corrective and antacid known. It has no direct action on the stomach, but by neutralizing the acidity of the food contents, and thus removing the cause of the acid irritation which inflames the delicate stomach lining, it does more than could possibly be done by any drug or medicine. As a physician, I believe in the use of medicine whenever necessary, but I must admit that I cannot see the sense of dosing an inflamed and irritated stomach with drugs instead of getting rid of the acid cause of all the trouble. A little bisaurated magnesia from your drugist, eat what you want at your next meal, take some of the bisaurated magnesia as directed above, and see if I'm not right.—Advertisement.

SAYS AMERICA IS NOT NEUTRAL

S. N. Patten Says We Will Soon Be Come Involved in Great War.

Special to The Telegraph Philadelphia, Nov. 11.—Unless the Government and people of this country maintain a stricter and truer neutrality than is now being observed, the United States will become involved in the present European war. This statement was made yesterday by Prof. Simon N. Patten, head of the University of Pennsylvania Department of economics, at a meeting of the Philomathean Society.

His lecture was on "The Economic Aspects of the War." Professor Patten, who is an Englishman, declared that the Americans were supplying the Allies with munitions of war. "We have a moral duty to perform in this struggle," he said. "It is that of neutrality. American bullets are killing the Germans; American food is feeding the Allies."

GERMAN SPY SHOT TO DEATH

IN ANCIENT TOWER OF LONDON

Special to The Telegraph London, Nov. 11.—Carl Hans Lody, who was tried on the charge of being a German spy before a court-martial under the presidency of Lord Cheylesmore and found guilty on November 2, was shot to death in the Tower of London on Friday last, it was officially announced to-day.

Not since 1745 has the Tower of London, with its gloomy memories, been the scene of the carrying out of the death penalty. In that year Lords Kilmarnock, Balmerino and Lovat were put to death for political offenses after the rebellion of that period. Anne Coleman, Lady Jane Grey and Sir Walter Raleigh were among those who were killed and buried within the shadow of the Tower. The last previous execution of the death penalty for espionage in the Tower of London was carried out 214 years ago.

JOHN DREW PLAYS TO LARGE HOUSE

Well Balanced Company With Martha Hedmon as Leading Lady Plays Cleore Show

As Michel Giroux, the prodigal husband, in the play of the same name, John Drew delighted a good house at the Majestic last evening. He interpreted the part of the estranged husband, who still loved his wife, but stubbornly refused to admit it, to perfection.

From the rise of the first curtain on a scene in Giroux's bachelor parlors in Paris until the drop of the final curtain on the scene of the reconciliation in the home of Madeleine Giroux, in Brittany, the audience sat in the grip of Drew's consummate acting.

As Slome, an orphan, Miss Martha Hedman, the young Swedish actress, who played the leading female part, won her way into the hearts of the audience by her refreshing acting. Her slightly accented speech lent an additional charm to her part.

The supporting cast was up to the standard set by the principals. MAX ROBERTSON.

STAGING PLAYS BY ZODIAC

People may say there is nothing new under the sun, but Miss Fannie Ward, star of the French farce, "Madame President," which comes to the Majestic to-morrow evening, found something new where the stars are concerned. Miss Ward is the first actress, so far as is known, to put into practice the idea of staging plays by the signs of the Zodiac. Miss Ward is a firm believer in the influence of the Zodiac upon human life. She believes that the horoscope is an infallible index to character, nature, thought and action, so far as man—and woman,—are concerned. Strongly entrenched in this belief, she has carried it into her stage work. Miss Ward never appears in any character in a play until she has placed that character under the sign of the Zodiac that would seem to govern it. Of course, this preference that the character should come under her own Zodiacal sign, but if this is not the case, she believes she can chart so as to bring out its ruling principles, temperament, emotions and impulses. By this means she believes she is enabled, truthfully and convincingly, to portray the character.—Advertisement.

"SEPTEMBER MORN"

That much talked of musical comedy "September Morn," comes to the Majestic, Saturday, afternoon and night, coming direct from its successful run of fifteen weeks, is alone a guarantee of the popular appeal of this popular musical comedy. The many songs hits are being sung in all Chicago theatres and phonograph records are in great demand. Books and lyrics are by Arthur Gillespie; music by Aubrey Shaffner. The dramatic material is staged by Frank Tannehill. Rowland and Clifford are responsible for the production and the cast as one of the greatest musical comedies of the century. The cast includes Nat Phillips, Shannagh, Adelyn Estes, Wm. Cameron, John Fattor, Fred Dubois and forty-seven other efficient helpers. Seat sale starts to-morrow, at 9 a. m.—Advertisement.

ORPHEUM

Stored up in the "think-tank" of every vaudeville lover is a list of popular players who have come and gone from time to time. And naming over some of them no one will overlook Conlin, Steele and Curtis, the young, breezy trio of song, dance and comedy artists, who were here on two other occasions, and the second time they were an enforced host of friends. A pretty girl, youthful and full of life, and who wears several interesting costumes; a comedian, who is also a piano player; and the third, a youth who sings and dances with the trio, and whose material is snappy and full of life and they seem to get as much fun out of their performance as the audience does. Several new song bits are interpolated and their comedy gags are new. Happily, it is not so much the material that the trio has that proves their greatest asset, but it is the way they do it. Vivacity and pleasing personalities that do "it" over and over are the qualities that always make this act a rock-solid hit. They are one of the big bits on the most popular bill in the Orpheum's new season. Appearing as one of the popular turns with Ruth Royce, the immensely popular singer of the popular songs; also with "The Lawn Party," a rattling good juvenile production, and several other interesting attractions.—Advertisement.

COLONIAL

A "nifty" musical comedy duo, comprising a pretty girl and a young man as pleasing a youth, are scoring at the Colonial with a corking good turn of song, dance and sparkling repartee. Another winner of the bill is the Oxford Four, male harmonists, in new song hits, and some old favorites. The Brightons offer an interesting "Novelty in Rags," and J. C. Lewis and his "kiddies" are also delighting immensely. "The Painted Lady," a splendid moving picture film, with Blanch Sweet and Dorothy Gish in the leading roles, is also an added attraction of a bill that appears for its final engagements at the Busy Corner to-night. "The House That Jack Built," the finest and most pretentious musical comedy yet shown at the Busy Corner, will headline there for the last half of the week.—Advertisement.

PALACE, TOMORROW, "OLAF ERIKSON, BOSS"

When it comes to portraying the elemental man, or a character such as Olaf Erikson in this drama of the lumber region, Robert Leonard stands first among the screen leading men to-day. Mr. Leonard is a versatile actor and has established a reputation as a lead in various roles, but his greatest success, his greatest popularity, has been achieved through the portrayal of the big, strong, brutish man who rules as it were, by the right of physical strength. "Olaf Erikson, Boss" is a drama of strong passions, quick actions, gripping situations and striking character delineations. The play concerns the coming of a girl into this big man's life and of her challenging his right to rule by right. Her appeal is one of mentalty. The various incidents which show the breaking down of the big fellow's will and the final transformation, are highly absorbing. "The girl" was the first real girl that Olaf had encountered up in that wooded, lonesome section, but even at that, it is possible that if she had succumbed to his bullying ways, he would have passed her by as one not worth a second thought.—Advertisement.

FARMER KILLED ON ROAD

Found Dead With Fractured Skull Caused by Mule's Kick Special to The Telegraph Lewisberry, Pa., Nov. 10.—Wendell Ream, 45 years old, one of the most prominent farmers of Fairview township, was killed in a peculiar driving accident shortly after 5 o'clock last evening while on his way home with a wagon load of tin and roofing materials. There was no eye witness of the accident, but a short time after it occurred the body was found in the road by Elmer Behrson, son of the storekeeper at Yocumtown. From the position of the body the conjecture is that Mr. Ream lost his balance and fell off the wagon seat and then was
