Six Austrian Battalions Annihilated by Counter Attack of Servian Army

Nish, Servia, Nov. 12, via London, 11.57 A. M.—The six battalions of Austrian infantry, with quick-firing guns, which crossed the Danube near Szevevo under cover of artillery fire on November 9 have been annihilated by a Servian counter-attack, according to official information given out in Nish to-day.

"All the men not killed, wounded or drowned in the Danube fell into our hands," the Servian announcement continued. "We made 2,000 prisoners and captured two quick-firing guns."

TALL SCAFFOLDING IN RIVER

Giant Structure Extends from Stream Bed to Level of P. and R. Bridge

While big gangs of men are pushing work on the concrete foundations for the new Cumberland Valley bridge piers so as to raise the bases from the high water zone another gang is completing repairs to the piers of the Philadelphia and Reading bridge near the Cumberland side.

A great frame scaffolding that extends to the level of the bridge has been constructed from the bed of the river. By means of this structure stones, cement and other materials for the concreting of the piers is shot to the flats on the river below by means of a grea long chute.

VILLA IS MARCHING SOUTH

JUDGE KUNKEL THANKS VOTERS FOR SUPPORT

Issues Letter Expressing His Appreciation For Confidence Thousands Have in Him

Sincere appreciation of the loyalty of the people of Pennsylvania as well as Dauphin county in supporting his candidacy for the Supreme bench was expressed to-day in an open letter to his fellow citizens by President Judge George Kunkel of the Dauphin county court.

I take this method of returning to you my sincere thanks for the loyal and generous support you gave my candidacy for judge of the Supreme Court at the recent election.

Respectfully yours, GEORGE KUNKEL. In issuing his letter Judge Kunkel explained that it was his wish to express in some way his thanks to every voter in Dauphin county and in the State who had demonstrated confidence in him at the polls but as it was impossible to write each a personal letter, he used the next best method.

PLANT TREES IN RIVER FRONT

Young trees are now being planted in the River Front Parks under the supervision of the park department. It is expected that several hundred young "canoe bushes" will be set out between Paxton street and "Hard-scrabble" before the snow flies.

MINERS ENTOMBED 4 DAYS RESCUED ALIVE

Chewed Boots and Flannel Shirts to Stave Off Pangs of Hunger WITHOUT FOOD AND WATER

Men Were Huddled Together in Blind Heading When Rescuers Broke Through

Pottsville, Pa., Nov. 12.—John Evans and William Schreiner, Tower City, coal miners, who had been imprisoned for four days behind a huge fall of coal in a mine in which they were working, were rescued alive this morning.

The men were crazed in robbing mine pillars when the accident occurred. They were tearing down the inner pillar of a breast when the whole structure collapsed, placing between them and daylight a vast wall of coal, rock and timber.

Rescuers felt sure the men could get enough air to keep them alive for days, and working in a limited space, forces of miners dug desperately in the effort to reach their imprisoned comrades, the work never halting for a minute.

While the rescuers worked the greatest excitement prevailed at the mine opening. Hundreds of people, including the despairing families of the two men, stood around in suspense hoping against hope and there was little sleep in the two mining villages in which they lived while the fate of the miners hung in the balance.

Men Huddled Together The men were found huddled together in a blind heading when the rescuers broke through the mass of coal and debris and then a great cheer resounded through the workings. They were without food and water for three days, but were in good condition and able to walk.

They were forced into the ambulance against their wishes and taken home, but walked into the ambulance. Nourishment was provided and they soon fell into a sound sleep. They said they chewed their boots and flannel shirts to stave off the pangs of hunger and thirst and were able to keep track of the time by removing the crystals from their watches. They hoped continually, but no sound was heard by the rescuers.

Schreiner's wife was at the mine and spurred the rescuers on with her firm belief that her husband would be able to find a place of safety and would be found alive. Both are married and have two children.

CITY TAKES STEPS TO OPEN FRONT ST.

Settlement of Question Hinges on Paving Assessment; Council to Decide

EASIER THAN CONDEMNATION

Notices to 100 Property Holders Out; Want Compensation Statements

Front street from Kelker to Maclay street may never be formally opened by the city to low water mark of the Susquehanna.

The question will likely be settled, however, when City Solicitor D. S. Seitz and City Council confer Tuesday on several suggestions for settling the paving assessment problem.

In city circles it is generally agreed that the easiest and best solution all around would be for the municipality to arrange to take over deeds for the conveyance absolutely to the city of the park frontages not yet acquired.

In return the city would agree to hold the abutting property owner responsible for the payment of the assessment for paving to the middle of the street only.

PIPE LINE IN THE PARK

Front Street Water Main Not to Be in Highway from Cherry Southward

From a point a short distance above the Front street subway to the connecting point at Paxton street the water main will be laid in the park, although it is understood that the contractor will take every precaution to avoid damaging the trees. The pipe line will be put down close to the curb.

From North street southward the mains were placed in the street, but at the subway it was figured that the trench laid paving would have to be torn up.

Pittsburgh Mills Resume; Employment Offered to Thousands of Workers

Pittsburgh, Nov. 12.—Orders were issued yesterday by officials of the Pittsburgh Steel Company, at Monaca, for the firing of four large open hearth furnaces which have been idle for some time. They will resume operations next Monday, and the 4,000 men employed in the steel company's plant will get five days' work each week instead of less than three, as at present.

The barbed wire department at the plant has been working under pressure for some time, labor being continued on Saturday nights and Sunday. This activity is due to large orders from Russia and France.

The Pittsburgh Products Company's plant near the Pittsburgh Steel Company's mills, is working full time. Two mills which have been shut down for some time due to lack of orders began operations yesterday morning at the plant of the Carnegie Steel Company, in Homestead.
