Sermon at 7.30 o'clock.

past three months. A few scattered persons rose from their seats.

Then he asked how many had got right with God since the opening of the campaign, and some more responded, probably a score altogether. After a minute of silence he said: "How many of this audience will say I have not been right with God; I have not been indifferent; I have dropped interest in the prayer meetings and other activities of the church; I am out of touch with Christ and I want to get right? All of you stand up."

One by One

One by one, slowly at first, the troubled ones got to their feet. From all parts of the audience they came. Graybeards and girls, and men and women in the prime of life stood up. Dr. Stough started in a quivering voice the hymn, "Just As I Am," and scores more jumped from their seats. Sobs were heard on all sides and several persons had to be taken aside and comforted by the ushers.

Dr. Stough explained he would rather have only one person come forward who knew and understood what he was doing than 500 answering an emotional call. He said he would now ask a harder task than merely standing up, and invited each to walk down the aisle to the front of the platform and meet him face to face.

Five Hundred Hit the Trail

The crowd of converts, hurrying from all corners of the tabernacle and pouring from the choir loft, jammed the open space at the front and orders were immediately given to clear enough seat sections to accommodate at least 500 persons.

Spomer and Cartwright, as well as all other members of the party and the corps of personal workers, were busy assisting as the trail hitters continued to come for many minutes. The call was then given for non-church members and those who long ago drifted away from the church.

The touching hymns, "I Am Coming Home" and "Almost Persuaded," were sung by the choir and the choir as the sobbing hites took their places in the vacated seats. The audience was then partly dismissed, about half remaining for the after service.

What It All Means

When quiet was restored Dr. Stough explained that "it was no coward's act to let the world know how you are confessing. God knows it and you know it yourself. In the first place, you never get right unless you repent, and second, return to God. Confessing Christianity is the easiest thing to understand and the hardest to do, because you must repudiate many of your acts of former years. But before men, him that confesseth me before men, him will I confess before my father which is in heaven." Walking down the aisle alone is not hitting the trail. Kneeling in the sanctuary is necessary to complete confession.

With all kneeling, including the rear audience, Dr. Stough led in the following prayer of confession: "Lord Jesus I do accept thee as my Saviour; I do sincerely repent of my sins and I do come to thee. Forgive all my sins; create in me a clean heart and help me henceforth to lead a clean Christian life, and give me courage to confess before men. May I never be ashamed of what I have here done. I believe Thou hast accepted me according to Thy promise."

Converts to Tell Everybody

After repeating this prayer the converts were asked to stand and a promise was made that each would confess to his family and to his neighbors in work and daily life that he had hit the trail. Everyone promised by raising his hand. Each also promised to help in the work of saving others. The women were made to promise the same things.

A number of men spoke of booze as being the cause of their downfall, and of how they had hit the trail so as to influence her children to do the same.

Decision cards were then passed and each convert signed according to his preference, as a church member, a non-church member or a person with an out-of-town church letter. These cards will be referred to the members of the churches indicated. The card bears a pledge announcing acceptance of Christ as a personal Saviour. Trail-hitting buttons were given to each convert.

"After Services Hereafter"

It was 10.30 when the meeting finally closed. An announcement was made that after to-night the regular service will close promptly at 9.30 o'clock, after which an after service will be held, to which all may remain who desire.

Lashes Criticism

The sermon on "The Lost Christ" began as a cutting, lashing criticism against the church, which he started by sobbing and several into loud weeping and hysterics. Dr. Stough told how Christ was lost to many by neglect or by disobedience. He said people are not walking with Christ when they go places where He would not go; when they say and do things He would not do.

He declared that there are some ministers who have lost Christ, who will never get back until they burn many of the theological books in their libraries. He also spoke of the business men and women who have lost Christ.

Throughout the entire sermon the evangelist reached a height of effective and appealing oratory that he has never yet equaled in his series of sermons so far. He used all the arts of logic, gesture and incident and tempered his entire discourse with a fervor that convinced all conscience-stricken persons of their sin.

Dr. Stough can move the hard-hearted sinner who will hear him in his sermons during the remainder of his stay here in the same proportion as he last night moved the professed Christians of the church, he will make a stir in the city to equal the predictions of the most optimistic of the backers of the campaign, was the assertion of several prominent persons connected with the movement.

REOPENING OF CHURCH

David 13—On Sunday evening the United Evangelical Church will have opening services after being remodeled at a height of effective and appealing oratory that he has never yet equaled in his series of sermons so far. He used all the arts of logic, gesture and incident and tempered his entire discourse with a fervor that convinced all conscience-stricken persons of their sin.

As far as the week's demonstration is concerned, with the youngsters. The school children of the city will be given exhibitions of educational films every day between 4 and 5.30 o'clock. The moving picture owners have given the use of their houses, machines and operators free to help the cause along, and the school teachers will give tickets to the youngsters.

The Harrisburg Railways Company will take a big share in advertising "Safety First." The cars will carry advertising signs printed in red on their fenders.

The policemen and firemen will wear "Safety First" badges during the conference week and everyone attending the meetings at the Capitol will be given a badge. The city will show its interest in safety and other movements for the betterment of life by talking for them.

Big People Coming

Men and women who have taken prominent parts in the movement for safety, sanitation and welfare in the industries of the Keystone State will gather Tuesday for the opening of the conference. A big exhibition is to be held at Chestnut Street Hall in conjunction with the conference and will be the largest ever attempted here.

Governor John K. Tener will welcome the conference on Tuesday morning. Secretary of Labor William B. Wilson and John F. Tobin, president of the labor trades department of the American Federation of Labor, are expected to speak.

Each day the conference will have a general meeting and then divide into sectional meetings on "Safety," "Hygiene," "Welfare" and "Fire Prevention." The speakers will include:

Some of the Speakers

Tuesday—Carl Hansen, chief engineer, Workmen's Compensation Bureau, New York city; Dr. Thomas Darlington, American Iron and Steel Institute; W. T. Doyle, New York State Department of Labor; C. O. Smith, Pittsburgh Emery Wheel Company; Lucien W. Chaney, Bureau of Labor Statistics; Dr. J. M. Wainwright, Lackawanna Railroad; J. G. Scrushan, University of Nevada; C. R. Dooley, Westinghouse Manufacturing Company, Philadelphia; R. W. Campbell, president National Safety Council, Chicago; Dr. C. M. Price, director Joint Board of Sanitary Control, New York; James Lord, president mining department, American Federation of Labor; Frank Duffy, Indiana Commission on Industrial Education.

Wednesday—Lewis T. Bryant, Commissioner of Labor, New Jersey; Charles P. Neill, former Commissioner of Labor; Timothy Daley, International Pollsters' Union; John R. Perkins, International Clarendon Union, and J. H. Maurer, James C. Cronin and others of the State Federation of Labor, will speak.

Safety Discussions

On the evening of the first day there will be a safety meeting at which the safety councils of Harrisburg, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Reading, York, Scranton, Lebanon and other places will report and demonstrations of safety with motion pictures will be given. These pictures are now being made in industrial plants.

Wednesday afternoon after the sectional meetings there will be a general conference on unemployment and mediation and Thursday compensation will close the general sessions.

The first conference was held last year and this year's meeting is the result of a call for another meeting made at that time. The scope has been enlarged and various welfare movements will be taken up and discussed, it being the idea to get as many elements and interests working in harmony as possible.

The topics are all very practical, including elevator hazards, ladders, hoists, foundry regulations, industrial education, uniform boiler code, bakeries, woodworking machinery, fire alarm systems, fire drills, child labor laws, unemployment, mediation, brass foundry poisoning, explosives, fire waste, community welfare, housing and the like. The plans of the Pennsylvania Industrial Accidents Commission, which has drafted the compensation bill to be submitted to the next Legislature, will be set forth by Mr. Bohlen on the afternoon of November 19.

STOUGH CAMPAIGN NOTES

Sometimes when, through adversity, some one may be unable to go to hear Dr. Stough at the tabernacle, the Stough party manages to go to the disabled one. Such an incident occurred on Monday when the party was on its way back from the Gettysburg trip. One of the party, W. S. Roebuck, who superintended the tabernacle building, has a sister in Mt. Holly, who has been bed-ridden for years. When Dr. Stough heard that she had expressed her regret at not being able to attend the services here, he decided to drop in Mt. Holly and paid her a twenty-minute visit.

The lecture by Dr. Stough for men only in the tabernacle on next Sunday afternoon promises to be one of the greatest meetings to be held. It will be a confidential talk on "Red Lights and Searchlights." The meeting will begin at 2.30 o'clock. The "Booster Chorus" and male chorus will render special music.

Two big meetings for women only will be held at 2.30 o'clock on Sunday afternoon. Miss Palmer will speak in the Ridge Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church. Another meeting will be announced to-night.

One of Dr. Stough's popular lectures to women will be delivered to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the tabernacle, subject "Mother Eve's Daughters."

A meeting was held at noon to-day.

Had Lung Trouble and Expected to Die

The many recoveries brought about by Eckman's Alternative are attracting wide attention. Read about this case:

33 B St., Keyser, W. Va.

"Gentlemen—I was taken sick in November, 1908, and grew steadily worse. Had two consultations. The verdict was the fever had affected my lungs and that my case was hopeless; only gave me two months to live. My physician had tried most all kinds of treatment and none did me any good, so he asked my husband if he objected to him trying a proprietary medicine. I began your Alternative. I was in bed from November 29, 1908, until February 25, 1909, and was thought dying several times. To-day I am healthier and stronger than ever." (Abbreviated.)

(Signed) MRS. H. K. BRILEY.

Eckman's Alternative is most efficacious in bronchial catarrh and severe throat and lung affections and upbuilding the system. Contains no harmful or habit-forming drugs. Accept no substitutes. Small size, $1; regular size, $2. Sold by leading druggists. Write for booklet of recoveries.

Hundreds of Sunbury people expect to attend the meetings in the near future when special trains will be run. Hazelton is trying to get a special rate to run special trains to this city in the near future. A large delegation from Lykens are planning to come down on "Breaking the Draught." This sermon will be on sale at the book stand in a few days.
