

ON THE FIRING LINE
What It Means to Most Men

There are many true heroes that have perished in the European war who "never smelled powder," but who succumbed to sickness after hard campaigning—coupled with bad water and lack of food. This sick and debilitated man is as much out of place in his struggle for life and existence as he would be on the firing line. On the other hand the strong, vigorous man, his veins filled with rich, red blood, has an enormous advantage in whatever position he may be fated to occupy, in war or business.

The new Jeffery "Six," known as the Chesterfield model, is among the recent new 1915 models to be shown in Harrisburg. J. A. Bentz, manager of the Bentz-Landis Auto Company, of 1808 Logan street, is at the wheel. The Jeffery has been established in this city for a number of years and is manufactured by one of the oldest and largest makers of motor cars, the Thomas B. Jeffery Co., of Kenosha, Wis.

PLAN TO USE WOMEN FOR DEMONSTRATORS

Automobile Dealers to Employ Them on the Selling Force

By ETHEL PEYSER.
Word comes that an entirely new field of endeavor is about to be opened to women; and it is one of the most pleasant as well as profitable labors to which women may aspire. The word is that Walter E. Flanders of the Maxwell Motor Company is about to make a nation-wide canvass of all the women's organizations to find capable women to act as demonstrators of the Maxwell car.

The plan has the endorsement of several of the most prominent club and suffragist leaders of New York, when interviewed last week by one of New York's leading papers.

It is a genuine business move on the part of the Maxwell Motor Company. Mr. Flanders believes that women will be successful in the automobile business and particularly in demonstrating and selling a car like the Maxwell, which is exceptionally light and easy to handle and has already proved highly popular with women drivers.

When questioned regarding the move, Mr. Flanders said: "To be frank, we want to sell our cars to women, and we think women can sell them successfully. It has been our experience that women in department stores as agents are good sellers and, therefore, we consider it no Utopian scheme to engage women as demonstrators of automobiles."

The long and the short of it is that we believe in women not only to the extent of employing them, but to the extent of paying the same as we pay men for the job. Every business man, the coming and the going for progress and we believe with Charlotte Perkins Gilman, that the main line of progress is towards economic equality and freedom. That is all there is to it.

Mrs. Harriet Stanton Blatch, president of the Women's Political Union, said: "Why shouldn't women go into the automobile business, or any other business they want to. It seems to me that this is a great opportunity for women." "Good business," flashed Mrs. Inez Milholland Boissevain. "I know that woman will prove just as efficient as men."

Belle da Costa Greene, Librarian of the Morgan Library, said: "Can't you see why some motor company did not think of it before. It is a splendid idea."

Plorence Currier, president of the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs, was just as encouraging when asked if women would take up the motor as a trade. "Women will jump at this chance for broadening their field for economic independence. The best chauffeur that I ever rode with was a woman."

Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Gilman, the noted writer, speaker and publisher, said in regard to the plan: "I never give interviews but I must give my word of endorsement to the Maxwell Motor Company on the new move. I wholly approve of opening all industries and all kinds of business to women, especially outdoor work. I can see a future for thousands of women in the business of selling automobiles. Hundreds of women have proven that they can sell goods, and many hundreds have proven that they can drive cars and become competent mechanics."

Mrs. Norman de R. Whitehouse, when told of the new plan, said: "Splendid! The women are bound to succeed. If a car is light enough—and you say that is a special feature of the Maxwell, a woman drives better than a man."

PECULIAR ACCIDENT
Special to The Telegraph
Lewistown, Pa., Nov. 21. — Mrs. Ralph Sigler met with a peculiar accident at her home here which has caused her much suffering. She was standing on a chair swatting flies on the ceiling of her room when she reached too far, overbalancing herself. Upsetting the chair, she fell to the floor, and a leg of the chair ran into her mouth. One of her teeth was knocked loose and her mouth lacerated.

Twenty Cars Will Enter For the Economy Contest

J. Clyde Myton, secretary of the Motor Club of Harrisburg, has received twenty entries to date for the economy contest on Thanksgiving Day. All the leading dealers and many individual members of the Motor Club will participate. Should the weather be favorable, there will be a rush of entries by those who will want to make the run for pleasure as well as for proving the merits of the car in competing for the silver trophy cup and the honor certificates. All those wishing detailed information should call Motor Club headquarters. The cars will report to the technical committee in Market Square at 7 o'clock on Thursday morning and all those who wish may be back in ample time for Thanksgiving dinner at home.

This Wire Mother Wishes To Tell You FREE How She Stopped Her Husband's Drinking

By all Means Write to Her and Learn how She did it.
For over 20 years Jas. Anderson of 34 Pearl Ave., Hillburn, N. Y., was a confirmed drunkard. His case was about as bad as it could be, but a little over twelve years ago his devoted wife, after years of trying, finally succeeded in stopping his drinking entirely.

Write to this woman if you have a relative or friend who drinks. Not only did she save Mr. Anderson but she stopped the drinking of her brother and several of her neighbors as well. All this she accomplished by simple home treatment which she now desires every man and woman who has a relative or friend who drinks, to know all about, for she feels that others can do just as she did.

books and papers and getting to the street. When the firemen arrived few of the tenants remained.

Fire Chief Kinder kept three chemical streams on the fire and thought he had the flames under control when a bystander called attention to the flames creeping along the ceiling. Those were again taken off the reels and the fight renewed from the second floor. After a half-dozen openings were made in the floor the flames were headed off.

Firemen Still On Duty
Fire Chief Kinder, in order to be on the safe side, ordered the Hope members to remain on duty until tomorrow morning in order to be ready should the fire break out again in some other part of the building.

On the third floor are lodgerooms. All Masonic bodies except the convalescent and Shriner's meet in this building. Members of the various organizations carried out books, records and valuable papers. Other occupants placed their books in safes.

In both dental offices on the second floor patients were receiving treatment. Dr. C. F. Kelm had a young man on the chair, but he worked until the smoke drove them out. In the front part of the building are the offices of Dr. C. M. McKelvey, another dentist, who had a woman patient in charge. It was with much difficulty that Dr. McKelvey got his patient from the building, the smoke filling the rooms vance over the snow-covered fields of Poland, but it is now assumed at the Russian capital that this movement has been halted. It is intimated in the same quarters that the latest turn in the campaign is likely to have "decisive consequences for the enemy."

The official Russian report of the capture of the battery at Lodz is interpreted as significant, suggesting a Russian flanking movement. Large reinforcements, it is said, have been thrown in by the Russians. From Berlin, however, came no suggestion of a reverse. The Germans, it is said there, are making steady progress not only in the center but in the north, driving back the Russians from the frontier of East Prussia. Unofficial advices from the west are to the effect that German reinforcements are still being rushed to the eastern battlefields.

Fighting Drags On
In Belgrade the fighting still drags on in a desultory manner. Along the Yser attempts at military activities have been virtually abandoned, largely on account of the weather. At Brussels the temperature is below freezing and an unusually severe winter is feared. The fall of snow has ceased, but the abatement of the storm has brought no relief from the hardships of the soldiers in the cold and wet.

Servia has broken the silence she maintained for several days to deny the Austrian claims of a great victory. The Servian legation at Athens, while admitting that the Austrians compelled a retreat from Valjevo, states that the Servians withdrew in good order without any serious fighting, and that they are now occupying advantageous positions, ready to engage the advancing Austrians.

The Khedive of Egypt, Abbas Hilm, who was reported several days ago to have cast his lot with the Sultan of Turkey, his spiritual leader, is said in Paris to have joined the Turkish forces in Palestine, preparatory to leading an invasion of Egypt.

REMARKABLE CASE of Mrs. HAM

Declares Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Saved Her Life and Sanity.

Shamrock, Mo.—"I feel it my duty to tell the public the condition of my health before using your medicine. I had falling, inflammation and congestion, female weakness, pains in both sides, backaches and bearing down pains, was short of memory, nervous, impatient, passed sleepless nights, and had neither strength nor energy. There was always a fear and dread in my mind, I had cold, nervous, weak spells, hot flashes over my body. I had a place in my right side that was so sore that I could hardly bear the weight of my clothes. I tried medicines and doctors, but they did me little good, and I never expected to get up again. I got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier, and I certainly would have been in grave or in an asylum if your medicines had not saved me. But now I can work all day, sleep well at night, eat anything I want, have no hot flashes or weak, nervous spells. All pains, aches, fears and dreads are gone, my house, children and husband are no longer neglected, as I am almost entirely free of the bad symptoms I had before taking your remedies, and all is pleasure and happiness in my home." — Mrs. JOSIE HAM, R. F. D. 1, Box 22, Shamrock, Missouri.

Zeitung am Mittag visited Dixmude while that town still was under heavy bombardment. In a dispatch to his paper he tells of the things that he observed there.

The sky was literally covered with smoke rings from shrapnel, he says. The enemy was commencing to waver under the steady succession of assault. The allies' fire was no longer well-directed and as the German preparations were well made, the German losses in the assaults usually were relatively small.

Such trenches cover the whole country and when one is captured the enemy retires to the next. The fighting is often at such close range that hand grenades are employed most effectively. The presence of the latest French an English newspapers in the trenches, says the correspondent, shows that the allied soldiers are being kept informed.
