CAN "HORN TRAP" BE LEGALLY KEPT UP?

Question Will Be Argued Before Dauphin County Court; Riot Case Before Johnson

The question of whether the constables of Middletown had a legal right to maintain the so-called "horn trap" for autoists just outside the borough limits will be argued before the Dauphin County Court following the present week of criminal court, according to a decision this morning of Judge Charles V. Johnson, specially presiding.

The court announced that it would entertain argument following its formal instructions to the jury to return a verdict of guilty in the case of J. Clyde Myton, secretary of the Motor Club of Harrisburg. Myton was arraigned on a test case brought by constables of Middletown, who charged him with failing to sound his horn upon entering the borough.

The other case that occupied Judge Johnson in No. 2 room was the trial of David Rehrer, Charles Heval, Linias Heagy, Samuel Brandt, David B. Zerbe and Harry Shaffer, charged with rioting by Railroad officials. The officer contended that he was attempting to arrest two foreigners for fighting in Middletown when the defendants incited the foreigners to "turn" upon him.

OBERLIN

African Missionary to Tell of Liberian Work

How he survived the deadly germs and atmosphere of a barbarous seacoast settlement in Liberia, Africa, for several years after nearly a score of his predecessors had succumbed to the diseases prevalent there; how he learned the language and customs of the half-barbarous people, and how he finally overcame their prejudice and taught them the Christian religion—all this and many other interesting things will be told by the Rev. J. D. Curran, a returned African missionary, when he lectures in Salem Lutheran Church, Oberlin, to-morrow evening. The lecture will be given under the auspices of the Woman's Missionary Society and the Lutheran Brotherhood. The doors open at 7.45 o'clock.

WOMEN'S WAGES IN NEW YORK VERY LOW

Over 8,000 of 15,000 Workers Get Less Than $6.50 Week, Report Shows

New York, Dec. 2.—During the busy season last year, of 15,000 women workers in this city 8,000 received less than $6.50 a week's wages, according to Howard B. Woolston, director of the wage investigation of the State factory investigating committee who to-day summed up the findings on wages in New York city at the first of the preliminary hearings of the commission to be held here.

"Half of the wage earners throughout the State investigated by the State Factory Commission get less than $8 a week," said Mr. Woolston. "Out of a total of 104,000 persons, one eighth earn less than $5, one third less than $7, two-thirds receive $10 or less, and only one-sixth make $15 or more."

"It is difficult to see how a girl manages to live properly on $6 or $7 a week. A typical weekly budget shows how near the ragged edge many exist: Clothes, $1.50; room, $2; food, $2.50; carfare, 30 cents; incidentals, 20 cents."

"Our figures show that at a mature age and after years of experience in the business, half the women do not attain $18 nor do the majority of men reach $18."
