BOAT PROVES UNSINKABLE IN TESTS AT BERLIN.

An unsinkable sailing lifeboat, which is fitted with an auxiliary motor, is described, with illustrations, in the December Popular Mechanics Magazine. The craft is built with a rounded bottom and broad beam, quite similar to the lines of a dinghy, while its top is decked. Two-leaved doors in the deck are opened when the boat is right-side up, its occupants sitting in the hold. When a wave strikes the craft and capsizes it, the doors are automatically closed. The passengers are then within the craft. An aperture in one of the sides furnishes them with air, while it is also possible for them to open one of the deck doors on the up side. In this way they can loosen the mast, and by throwing their weight to one side, right the craft again.

BUDGET MAKERS TO DEAL FOR EXPENSES

are only a few of the new items that Council are just talking about. The anniversary of the inauguration of the commission form of government affords a chance to recall briefly just what has been done by the various department heads under the new government. Among the things the city was able to wipe out some $65,000 or $70,000 debts.

Department of Public Safety

In the public safety department Commissioner H. F. Bowman has reduced, among other things, the minimum water rate from $6 to $5 per year, installed an automatic fire alarm, chemical firing and boiler systems at the pumping station and filter plant; abolished the position of milk and meat inspector and established office of city veterinarian; created department of food inspection; provided assistant city health officer; laid thousands of feet of water pipe including the extension of the new mains in Front and Market streets; and was responsible for the cutting of about $2,200 from the salary list in the city treasury. The Board of health and sanitation as a bureau of health and sanitation.

The Department of Streets

Under the supervision of Commissioner W. H. Lynch, department of streets and public improvements, approximately 30,000 yards of street paving was put down and as much more contracted for the $25,000 voted for the erection of an asphalt repair plant was also provided for and the work on the new plant will be started next spring. Automatic street sweepers were installed; the Dock street bridge was completed; provision for erecting bridges over Paxton creek at Rely, Cumberland, Walnut and Mulberry streets was made; the operations on the river dam, wall and Paxton creek were carried on almost to completion. The Board of Public Works was retained to assist in the completion of the public improvements.

The Park Department

While the important work mapped out by City Commissioner M. Harvey Taylor, parks and public property, is yet to be done, some radical changes were effected in that department. Additional help was provided by the employment of two new assistants. The treating of the river front slopes was begun, including the construction of the depressed walk north of "Hardscrabble"; the initial steps for the elimination of "Hardscrabble" were taken by the introduction of an ordinance authorizing the opening of Front street from Here to Calder streets. A move was made to take over the remaining acquired park land through an ordinance authorizing the city to acquire deeds. Commissioner Taylor purchased the Sycamore and Fourteenth street playgrounds, began negotiations toward the acquisition of another in the upper end of the city; is now engaged in planting several hundred young trees in the various parks; began the construction of bridges in Wildwood and Cameron park; is planning a new tennis club house, and a new shelter at Reservoir, and has begun plans for a new golf house at Reservoir; has negotiations pending relative to acquiring the necessary park to connect up Cameron parkway east of the city; appointed a city planning commission; raised the salaries of the fire drivers; created office of city forester.

Mr. Gorgas and the Mayor

The work of Commissioner W. L. Gorgas, superintendent of finance and accounts, has been more of a routine character. He has inaugurated a system whereby all funds changed from one branch of a department to another must first be transferred to the treasury and then appropriated by resolution or ordinance; he has had Council prepare the new license tax ordinance and elect a license tax officer; he has served as a city controller, retaining Marion Verbeke to help out.

Mayor Royal's activities have been confined, too, to the police department. Under his jurisdiction by action of Council, a captain of police has been appointed; additional policemen provided; a new ordinance offered to provide street signs for all the highways in the city.

The Benefits

The City Commissioners did a whole lot with the money at their disposal. For instance, an accumulation of $55,000 for paving lens that had been costly for years for interest outlay was paid off; $2,000 in interest and $10,000 in the sinking fund for the county improved; $10,000 was provided for and accumulated debts in the park, health, highway and printing departments that dragged along from year to year were cleared up. These alone totaled close to $10,000. Other follow: Parks, $3,236.94; health, $1,377.37; highway, $1,835.27, and printing, $3,094.38.

Baby of Future is Considered

Much thought has been given in late years to the subject of maternity. In the cities there are maternity hospitals equipped with modern methods. But most women prefer their own homes and in the towns and villages must prefer them. And since this is true we know from the great many splendid letters written on the subject that our "Mother's Friend" is a great help to expectant mothers. They write of the wonderful relief, how it seemed to allow the muscles to expand without undue strain and what a splendid influence it was on the nervous system. Such helps as "Mother's Friend" and the broader knowledge of them should have a helpful influence upon maternity. Science says that an infant derives its sense and builds its character from cutaneous impressions. And a tranquil mother will transmit to her child a helpful influence that no other remedy can give. This is what a host of women believe who use "Mother's Friend." These points are more thoroughly explained in a little book mailed free. "Mother's Friend" is sold in all drug stores. UNITED STATES MUST SALT CLASS farms, their workshops, their livings and their means of making livings. I saw them tramping aimlessly along wind-swept, rain-washed roads, fleeing from burning and devastated villages. I saw them sleeping in open fields upon miry earth, with no cover and no shelter. I saw them herded together in the towns and cities to which many of them ultimately fled, existing God alone knows how. I saw them—ragged, furtive scarecrows—prowling in the scattered ruins of their homes, seeking salvage where there was no salvage to be found. I saw them living like the beasts of the field, upon such scraps as the beasts of the field would reject.

Standing in Lines

I saw them standing in lines, waiting for their poor share of the dole share of the charity, which already nearly exhausted. I saw their towns which hardly one buried upon another. I saw their abandoned farm lands, where the harvest rotted in the furrows and the fruit hung uncolored and unripe on the trees. I saw their cities where trade was dead and credit was a thing which no longer existed. I saw them staggering from weariness and from the weakness of hunger. I saw all those sights repeated and multiplied infinitely—yes, and magnified, too—but not once did I see a man or woman, or even a child, that wept or cried out.

If the Belgian soldiers won the world's admiration by the resistance which they made against tremendous forces of overpowering numbers, the people of Belgium—the families of their soldiers—should have the world's admiration and pity for the courage, the patience and the fortitude they have displayed under the load of an affliction too dolorous for any words to describe, too terrible for any imaginations to picture.

Suffering in France

In France I saw a pastoral land overrun by soldiers and racked by war until it seemed that the very earth would cry out for mercy. I saw a country literally riddled with men in order that the regiments might be filled. I saw women hourly striving to do the ordained work of their fathers, husbands, brothers and sons, hourly piecing together the tattered and broken fragments of their lives. I saw countless villages turned into smoking, filthy, ill-smelling heaps of ruins. I saw schools and churches, hospitals and factories changed into barracks.

I saw the industries that were abandoned and the shops that were bare of customers, the shopkeepers standing before empty shelves looking bankrupt in the face. I saw the unburied dead lying between battle lines, where for weeks and perhaps months to come they would continue to lie, and I saw the graves of countless soldiers, the dead who were so hurriedly and carelessly buried that their limbs, in places, protruded through the soil, poisoning the air with hideous odors and giving abundant promise of the pestilence which must surely follow. I saw districts noted for their fecundity on the raw edge of famine, and a people proverbial for their light-heartedness who had forgotten how to smile.

Thousands of Widows

In Germany I saw innumerable men, maimed and mutilated in every conceivable fashion. I saw these streams of wounded pouring back from the front. In two days I saw which stamper in 14,000 wounded men passing through one town. I saw people of all classes undergoing privations and enduring hardships in order that the food for the front might have food and supplies. I saw thousands of women wearing widow's weeds and thousands of children who had been orphaned and were being cared for in orphanages.

Holland Also Suffers

In Holland I saw the people of an already crowded country being crowded valiantly with the problem of striving to feed and house and care for the enormous numbers of penniless refugees who had come out of Belgium. I saw work-people in Holland, already crowded on railroad platforms and along the railroad tracks, too weary to stir another step.

In England I saw still more thousands of these refugees, bewildered, broken by misfortune, owning only what they wore upon their backs, speaking an strange tongue, strangers in a strange land. I saw, as I had seen in Holland, people of all classes giving of their time, their means and their services to provide some temporary relief for these weary wanderers who were without a country. I saw the new recruits marching off, and I knew that for the children many of them were being held and there would be no Santa Claus unless the American people, out of the fullness of their own abundance, filled the Christmas stockings and stocked the Christmas larders.

burg, Enola and Marysville will occupy reserved seats at the tabernacle. Preparations have been made to do the special railroad night of two weeks ago, when almost one thousand of the Philadelphia and Reading men attended the service. The Enola Band of forty pieces will lead the march of the "cross-river contingent."

Eighty New Trailblazers

Stough preached to a full tabernacle and drew eighty trailblazers last night, which was the best result on a Tuesday night since the opening of the campaign. Despite the bad weather about 800 "White Ribboners" of the Women's Christian Temperance Union gathered at the Market Square Presbyterian Church at 7 o'clock and marched along Market street to the tabernacle, headed by a band. They sang several temperance songs, accompanied by the waving of small flags. Dozens of banners were carried in the parade, such as "We Want Pennsylvania Free," "Whiskey Can't Terrorize Us," Temperance Unites With Christ

MRS. CARTWRIGHT BURNED

Mrs. C. T. Cartwright, wife of the associate evangelist, the Rev. C. T. Cartwright, of the Stough party, was burned about the face and arms when something exploded in rubbish which she was sweeping together in the yard of her home, Delaware, Ohio. The Rev. Mr. Cartwright immediately went home. He will return to this city to-day.

STOUGH CAMPAIGN NOTES

Mrs. Stough and son Paul have returned to their home in Wheaton, Ill. The delegation from Lebanon and vicinity, about 200 strong, came on a special train last evening.

The Rev. C. D. Huber, pastor of the Chestnut Street United Evangelical Church, Lebanon, led a delegation of about forty persons from his congregation to the tabernacle last evening.

The Rev. E. H. Hart, pastor of Fifth Street Methodist Episcopal Church, offered the opening prayer last evening.

The banners in the Women's Christian Temperance Union parade bearing slogans were as follows: "Drink Cost Wages"; "Whiskey Cannot Temperize Us"; "Who is to Blame?"; "Saloon Increase Taxes"; "Saloon Must Go"; "Whiskey Cannot Terrorize Us."

The Rev. S. F. Daugherty, college pastor of the United Brethren Church, Annville, and a member of the Lebanon Valley College faculty, was at the tabernacle services last evening.

A beautiful basket bouquet of white chrysanthemums were presented by the W. C. T. U. to Miss Palmer.

Among the visiting ministers on the platform last evening were the following: The Rev. A. E. Hagen, United Evangelical, Mohnton; the Rev. G. S. Renz, Presbyterian, Hershey; the Rev. C. O. Bosserman, Presbyterian, Shippensburg; the Rev. J. H. Hummer, Lutheran, Seven Valley; the Rev. George Sigler, D. D., Church of God, Linglestown; the Rev. S. F. Daugherty, D. "The Tipperary" Military Turban

An entirely new millinery mode, patterned after the typical Scotch turban. 'Twas introduced in New York but a week ago from Paris, where the military tendency in apparel is strong, and quoting an authentic journal—"New York has gone mad over it."

Small in shape, and with chic little floral wreaths or flowerettes, are very stunning.

Come in putty and sand shades — New York's favorites, also apricot, yellow, white and black. Priced at $4.95 and $5.95.

The Millinery Department

Just as large and spacious as ever, offers splendid assortments of the season's newest models.

In most places it is usually the custom to take over the millinery department for holiday wares. Owing to the many new styles that are constantly coming in, you may still enjoy the freedom of making a selection without being crowded.

STREET RAILWAY MEN ARE COMING

Public Service Will Be Discussed at Length at the Annual Meeting Next Week

Public service will be discussed in a variety of its branches at the winter meeting of the Pennsylvania Street Railway Association which will be held here December 9-10 and it is possible that matters pertaining to legislation will be brought up.

C. L. S. Tingley, of Philadelphia, the president, will open the meetings with a review of the year and there will be addresses by Dr. Emory R. Johnson, Public Service Commissioner; William A. Healdie, Southern Pennsylvania Traction Company, and W. H. Steinmetz, Westinghouse Manufacturing Company, who will discuss the latest developments in street railway equipment. An interesting feature will be a report by C. B. Fairchild, Jr., on preparing and filing rates and tariffs.

The next day, E. F. Stevens, H. J. Crowley and Gordon Campbell will discuss crossings, car steps and voltages, respectively; H. S. Swift, West Penn Traction Company, E. C. Spring, Lehigh Valley Traction Company, and Commissioner of Labor John Price Jackson will also speak. Officers will then be elected.
