Last night W. O. Kennedy won from C. S. Gaut, score 100 to 57; in the second class match, A. B. Chubb defeated W. G. Byerley, score 100 to 51.

MOTORCYCLE NOTES

Harry Holtz, a charter member of the Keystone Motorcycle Club, who has been suffering for some time with an injured foot, was at the clubhouse last Friday night wearing his usual smile. Holtz was injured November 15, when the club went to York.

A pie social, exclusive for Keystone members, will be held Friday evening at the clubhouse. The proceeds will be contributed to the Ladies' Auxiliary.

King Albert, of Belgium, being a lover of outdoor sport, is an enthusiastic motorcyclist. He is a born athlete, and on his hunting and fishing trips His Majesty finds the motorcycle of special value.

At an average speed of practically sixty miles an hour, Lee Taylor, of Middletown, Ohio, flashed around the Grand Prize Automobile Course at Savannah, Ga., and succeeded in capturing the second annual 300-mile motorcycle classic. His time was five hours, two minutes and thirty-two seconds. This smashed last year's record, made by Bob Perry, by twenty minutes.

BITS OF SPORTS

Winners in the Elks' bowling league last night were the Little Peps. The Peps went down to defeat by a margin of 223 pins.

Eddie Plank—Pitcher

The Gettysburg twirler who was practically canned by Connie Mack, and gave early notice that he was out for the cash, and was graduated at Gettysburg, Pa., and was graduated at Gettysburg College. He never played professional baseball except as a member of the Athletics, having signed with Connie Mack in 1901. Plank and Harry Davis are the only men still on the Athletics' list of players who were with the team in its first year.

Plank's record with the Athletics is a brilliant one. Each year the veteran southpaw has done his share toward keeping the Athletics in the race and in the Athletics' hands the pennants and world's championships for the Mackmen. Plank pitched in each world's series the Athletics engaged in, except in 1910, when Combs and Bender did the twirling. His pitching was one of the features of the 1913 series with the Giants, and this year he lost a 1-to-0 game to the Braves on misplays in the ninth inning.

PENROSE GIVES A FAREWELL SPEECH

Says Some Things Not Calculated to Make the Bull Moose Chieftains Feel Comfortable

A tribute of farewell was paid the Progressive party by Senator Penrose in Philadelphia yesterday. He declared it actually no more existed, although it nominally may linger for some time yet. His remarks were called forth by the announcement made by Gifford Pinchot, its senatorial candidate, that he proposed to live in this State and to continue the battle for conservation and other things. Said Senator Penrose: 'It is, of course, very cheering to learn that Mr. Pinchot has decided to live in Pennsylvania hereafter, after his life has been spent in the District of Columbia and in New York. The vote he received at the election is not nearly so substantial as he describes it to be. Many thousands of Democrats who left Palmer, knowing that his case was hopeless, voted the Washington ticket in the hope, through it, of electing a Democrat as Governor. Many more thousands of its votes represented the ballots of prohibitionists and local option voters, who cast their choice for McCormick and Pinchot because they had received the indorsement of the Anti-Saloon League. These factors entered very largely into the apparent Washington party vote, but they are elements which are just as likely to return to their original moorings in another election.'

ATHLETE IS BEST SCHOLAR

Special to The Telegraph. Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 3.—Watson McLeary Washburn, '15, of New York, has been acclaimed the foremost scholar at Harvard. This is an honor seldom achieved by an athlete, but Washburn's career has been brilliant from the start. Technically he finished his course last summer, but will not receive his degree until next June. The Phi Beta Kappa Society, in announcing Washburn's appointment as first marshal for the commencement exercises next June, said he was deserving the title of first scholar in the senior class. Washburn got an 'A' in each of his courses last year. He is also ranking tennis player and represented Harvard in that sport and hockey.

WILL THE JAPANESE AMES COME TO EUROPE?

The discussion of the possible entry of Japanese forces into the European field of war, which has cropped up since the fall of Tsing-Tau, must take into account the terms of the Anglo-Japanese Treaty of August 12, 1905. As quoted in the Encyclopaedia Britannica, this sets out its objects as follows: 'The consolidation and maintenance of the general peace in the regions of Eastern Asia and India; 'The preservation of the common interests of the Powers in China, of insuring the independence and integrity of the Chinese empire, and the principle of equal opportunities for the commerce and industry of all nations in China; 'The maintenance of the territorial rights of the high contracting parties in the regions of Eastern Asia and of India, and the defense of their special interests in such regions.' These terms would seem by implication, at least, to confine warlike operations by Japan to 'Eastern Asia and India.'

FISHING THROUGH LAKE ERIE'S ICE

Few and far between are the winters that do not provide an opportunity to fish through the ice of Lake Erie. As soon as a period of still, cold weather has formed a thick covering to warrant the venture, scores of men with dog sledges, and other equipment suggestive of polar exploration, open the winter fishing season. In the December number of Popular Mechanics Magazine appears an interesting account, by Roy C. Dower, of the methods employed by the fishermen. He says: 'Regardless of how luck is running, care is taken not to stay out too long. It is the aim of the fishermen to be close ashore by the time darkness sets in, which means that a start must be made by 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon, unless a sudden drop in temperature compels breaking camp earlier. The lines are hauled in, the 'tip-ups' sticks removed, and the windbreak taken down, with the exception of the poles, which are left standing for the following day. All the equipment, together with the 'catch,' is then packed in the sleds and the homeward journey begun. If a fisherman spends six hours watching his 'tip-ups' and succeeds in landing one fish each hour, he considers himself in fair luck.'
