ent Cases to Test Constitutionality of Act The acid test of the law is being applied to the anthracite coal tax of 1913 in the Dauphin County Court to-day, three coal companies out of sixty having been selected to present cases

Three Companies Out of 60 Pres-

ANTHRACITE COAL TAX

LAW BEING TESTED

day, three coal companies out of sixty having been selected to present cases which will raise the constitutionality of the act. Some time ago an action in equity was argued, but it is under-stood that it will be abandoned and the three cases submitted to-day taken. The cases are in the form of appeals from the settlement of the Anditor General and State Treasurer and are being defended by Attorney General John C. Bell and Deputy Attorney General W. M. Hargest, with Auditor General Powell and Corporation Clerk Hale Hill. There is a brilliant array of counsel' for the companies and somo municipalities which would benefit from the return of the coal tax if up-held are also represented. Dauphin county is largely interested in the out-come of the case, as it means big pay-ments to each district because of coal mined in the Lykens Valley. The companies making the appeal are St. Clair, Aldan and Plymouth Coal Companies. The Aldan was put on first, showing the tax assessed at 37.792.86, based on the coal mined and value when propared for market be-tween June 28 and December 31. It was contended that the act is uncon-stitutional because it taxes one of a kind of a commodity; that only four-teen of thirty-six townships in Luzerne county for instance, mine coal, yet all will share in the return of the tax; that there are kinds of anthracite coal and that the company already pays a capi-tal stock tax. This company in the six months covered shipped 13.7,017 tons. The State objected to the stat-ment, but it went in. It was also con-tended that the Sullivan county coal used to be classified as bituminous, but is now anthracite. W. S. Snyder, Clarence E. Miller and John T. Ohm-sted are the company sitorneys. The Company's Side K. M. Smith, general manager of anthracite expert, testified that there is no difficulty in getting market prices in difficulty in getting market prices of coal.

St. Clair Heard
The appeal of the St. Clair Coal Company came next. The company mines as $7.769.81 and it was admitted that the company mines at the associated the company and said that when the tax settlement was made. The familine heart gives a flutter of the fax was filed. He also contended that the tax was fineds the associated and that the requirements preliminary to enactment of local laws were non followed, thus making the act unconstitutional.
This case was on at noon.
