

VICTIM AND ACCUSED IN ATLANTA TRAGEDY

JAMES P. CALLAWAY

James P. Callaway, a popular young businessman, was shot to death in the home of William B. Carhart, another businessman of the city. Callaway had been one of the guests at a social function of a popular club in the evening. The Callaways were there. Later Callaway was found in the Carhart home in the room of the son of the head of the house. Carhart, before the coroner's jury said he believed Callaway, in the dark, to be a burglar, and fired a shot. The jury acquitted him, but the case has aroused much attention. In their underground shelters. They are well supplied with blankets, food, water and clothing and are in good spirits despite their long residence in the trenches. Desultory infantry fire is always in progress here and the rattle of machine guns breaks out now and then. The artillery on both sides has thrown tons of iron daily, but there have been no great fights of late in this section of the front.

SOLDIERS AT FRONT HAPPY AND WELL FED

Associated Press Correspondent Tells of Condition on Battlefield in France

Headquarters of a Certain German Army in France, Dec. 11.—Forwarded by automobile courier to Berlin, thence to London, 4.11 a. m.—A correspondent of the Associated Press, spending a week in the field operations, has also been the guest of Generals Von Heering, formerly War Minister and now commanding the Seventh Army; Von Zuehl, the conqueror of Liege, and Namur. Several hours were spent in the trenches in a picturesque old town where German riflemen and French legionnaires plan and play grim practical jokes of war upon each other from positions a scant 200 yards apart. A race of German Trogodytes was found in one place on this front. Men, horses, supplies, hospitals, and so forth, were housed in hillside caverns, formerly stone quarries, which were absolutely protected by a fifty foot stone roof from even the most powerful of shell fire. The morning was passed in an artillery observation stand opposite Rheims, where a powerful stereoscopic telescope, through which the fire of the artillery is directed, brought the observer within a hundred yards of the city and the cathedral and enabled him to see that the cathedral and its towers were standing fairly intact, although blackened by fire. Men Well Supplied. A trip of inspection was made through a labyrinth of field fortifications and approaches along the Aisne, at its nearest point to Paris, where the lines are normally two or three hundred yards apart. The soldiers even in the foremost trenches were found living in comparative comfort

COURT TO CONFIRM 7 ACCOUNTS JAN. 14

Prothonotary Holler Files Notice of Presentation; Trustees Report

Seven accounts will be presented to the Dauphin county court for confirmation January 14. Prothonotary Harry F. Holler to-day filed notice to that effect. Here are the accounts: Third and final, by the York Trust Company, receiver for the Standard Building and Loan Association of York; first and final, Lewis N. Neiffer, assignee for J. J. Return Girl to Insane Asylum.—Following a habeas corpus hearing this morning the Dauphin county court remanded Florence Adams to the Pennsylvania State Insane Asylum. She had been confined there for some months but it was thought that she had recovered sufficiently to permit her release. The woman, it was explained, is suffering from the same type of "mental inaccessibility" which was discussed by experts at the Edward G. Smith murder trial. Realty Transfers.—Realty transfers in city and county included the following: W. A. McElhenny to F. D. Donaldson, 153 Royal Terrace, $1; H. A. Hipple to A. H. Baldwin, 722 North Eighteenth, $1; S. J. Brown to Fannie T. Morne, 1716 Herr street, $2,700; W. Speece, two properties in Middle Paxton township, to H. J. Sourbeer, $100 and $50, respectively; R. A. Carl to Inazja P. Mercurio, Swatara township. Engineers' Club to Count Election Ballots Tonight

To-night will be a big night at the clubhouse of the Engineers' Society of Pennsylvania, as the ballots for the annual election of officers will be counted. These ballots are coming in from members all over the State, and it is expected that there will be a big attendance of members to hear the results. The announcement will be made about 8:30. The society is electing a full set of officers, Farley Gannett, chief engineer of the State Water Supply Commission, being the only candidate for president. There are interesting contests for other offices. In addition to the election the program for the night includes talks on Europe, when the war broke out, to be given by Dr. John Price Jackson, Commissioner of Labor and Industry and president of the society, and George F. Watt, president of the Elliott-Fisher Typewriter Company, both of whom were caught by the mobilization. There will also be a collation.
