AMUSEMENTS

ORPHEUM

This is the week that all Harrisburg is urged by the Rotary Club to chip in their share of the relief fund by purchasing a ticket for the Orpheum Theater. The Rotarians are this week operating a popular theater, which has been turned over to them, and which they are exerting every effort to make highly successful financially. In order that they might realize this aim to send to the stricken Belgians. To offer the proper inducement for a big week, it was, of course, necessary to book a bill that will please local amusement seekers. To this end the last stroke of care was exerted, and Manager Hopkins made a special trip to New York City to look over available material. He wisely chose a list of attractions that he thought would strike the fancy of Harrisburg theatergoers. The names of the choice bill include Bessie Wynn, Harrisburg's favorite singing comedienne who appears in a charming and new and useful songs. Miss Wynn said to have a repertoire of songs that are especially charming. Comedy will also be well represented this week, not less than Joe Jackson, the monarch of mimicry, and Howard and his particular direction. The Farber Girls in a new vocal offering, also appear in each of their acts. Comedy will also be well represented in the line-up will include: Ed Howard and company; Lorraine and Dudley; LeHoan and Dupree; and Dorothy Kell. PALACE TODAY—THE EMPIRE OF ILLUSION

With its locale in the desert of Sahara, twentieth century men suddenly find themselves as the result of unusual circumstance in a play of stirring tale of modern-day romance, adventure, the clatter of sabers and the hot whirl of passion, fire. And breathing through all is a dauntless, young soldier-of-fortune, Terence O'Rourke. The settings for this play were secured in the Mojave desert, Southern California. The Universal spent a small fortune in transporting men, munitions of war, building an Arab tent city, making costumes for those impersonating Arabs and French soldiers, etc. And in connection with this, it might be said that the Universal was the first film company to use French reservists in the production of a film. A lot of work, stranded many of these men were hired and utilized in the staging of the present "O'Rourke" story. They met, in a fierce rifle duel, some 150 cowboys, in a scene that was a hand-to-hand struggle, with the Frenchmen, armed with their bayoneted rifles, their way through the ranks of their "opponents." As the results show on the screen, it was one of the most vivid thrilling battles imaginable.—Advertisement.

78 MORE BALLOTS TO ELECT BOYER

Houtz Refuses to Extend Parliamentary Courtesy, So Bretz Breaks Deadlock

New School Board committees to serve for the ensuing year will likely be announced by President Harry A. Boyer at the board meeting Friday evening.

Mr. Boyer was re-elected president for the sixth time at a special meeting Saturday night. The choice was made on the one hundred and fifty-sixth ballot. Seventy-eight ballots were taken last Monday afternoon and another seventy-eight were necessary Saturday to break the deadlock between Mr. Boyer and Directors Adam Houtz and the Rev. Dr. William N. Yates. Harry M. Bretz was re-elected vice-president by a vote of 6 to 2.

Five votes were necessary to a choice, but up until the final ballot only Messrs. Boll, Fohl, Kennedy and Saul voted for the president's re-election. Directors Yates, Werner and Boyer voted for Mr. Houtz and Messrs. Bretz and Houtz voted for Dr. Yates.

After the one hundred and twentieth ballot, or thereabouts, Mr. Bretz swung over to Mr. Werner, but this didn't materially affect the situation, and when he felt certain that the deadlock could not be broken in any other way he turned in his vote for Mr. Boyer.

In a statement issued after the meeting Mr. Bretz pointed out that Mr. Boyer was eminently qualified for the presidency; that he could have been chosen on any one of the ballots had his opponent, Mr. Houtz, extended him the parliamentary courtesy of a reciprocal vote, and that a settlement of the question was necessary and imperative to avoid probable legal action against the directors.

Dr. Yates had suggested Mr. Werner for the vice-presidency. When Mr. Werner suggested that the votes for the president and vice-president be made unanimous only Dr. Yates and Mr. Houtz voted "No." The two candidates didn't vote.

Once during the session Dr. Yates and Mr. Werner offered to withdraw their names for presidential honors, but Mr. Houtz vigorously protested against this because he said "it wouldn't allow him a chance to vote," so they allowed their names to stand again.

Would Restrain Building Inspector From Tearing Down Apartment Walls

The question of whether or not the city building inspector may order the walls of a new apartment building razed because the construction regulations have not been complied with, was raised in the Dauphin county court this morning at the hearing of the equity suit instituted by James F. Lyons and W. F. Martin, contractors. They want an injunction to restrain Building Inspector James H. Graevic and John Wagner, owner of the property, from tearing down the structure because of bulging walls.

Wagner, who owned the property at 602 York street, directed the contractors to proceed with the erection of the walls, the plaintiffs contend, even after they had warned him that the weather was unpropitious for the work and that bulging walls might result because of the cold weather. The case dragged all through the day and will probably last throughout tomorrow.

Arrangements for cutting the municipal Christmas tree were taken up by Robert H. Hoy, chairman of the committee today. Mayor John K. Royal with other members of the committee will go to the mountains either tomorrow or Wednesday to cut the tree. It is said to be fifty feet in height.

DIDN'T VIOLATE EGG ACT

Hebe, representing the Breisford Packing Company, for alleged violation of the cold storage act. The State charged that eggs which had been kept in cold storage in Chicago had been shipped to this city and placed in cold storage again, contrary to the act of 1913. The case was a test.

$20,000 PARED OFF ORIGINAL ESTIMATES

City Commissioners Figure 1915 Budget on Basis of $549,000

While an approximate appropriation of $549,000 is the basis, it is understood, upon which the City Commissioners this afternoon began the preparation of the skeleton budget ordinance for 1915, it is said that initial prunings and parings from the total of the original requests have already been made to the extent of $20,000.

All told the year's departmental estimates amounted to between $58,000 and $59,000, and the cutting was begun with the idea of reducing the mill rate from nine and a half to nine mills. Commissioner Harry F. Bowman, superintendent of public safety, said he believes this can be done and gave out some tentative figures to support his contention. The total estimates amount to approximately $58,389.

The increased valuations will amount to approximately $300,000. This will mean a total city assessment of $49,300,000 upon which to figure the taxes, a net income of $443,700. Ordinarily 3 per cent is deducted for exonerations, treasurers' commissions, errors, etc. After these deductions about $439,389 should be available from taxation alone. The other sources of income as estimated by Mr. Bowman are as follows:

Liquor licenses,	$28,000;
Harrisburg	Railways Company,
Valley	Traction,
$1,500;	delinquent taxes,
$25,000;	mercantile licenses,
$15,000;	ines and forfeitures,
$6,000;	other sources of a general character,
$6,000.

These estimated receipts and the estimated balance in the city treasury of $25,000.

The councilmen met for another executive session at 3 o'clock and for several hours they went over all the figures. Whether or not the measure will be ready for first reading tomorrow is a question.

Suppose Your Coal Burns Too Fast—

What is the first thing you will do?

Well, a good many people will telephone to another dealer and order the same kind of coal—and then they wonder why the results are the same.

The proper thing to do is to tell your coal dealer just what seems wrong. If he has made a careful study of his business he will immediately tell you what kind of coal to buy.

If you are using Hard Pea Coal in your Hot Air Furnace and it burns up to fast what is needed is a larger size coal.

Try Stove or Egg Size.

We are mixing Wilkes-Barre Egg and Wilkes-Barre Pea Sized together for $5.85. Try this size next time.

The Cigar That's Been on Gift Lists For 23 Years

Pretty safe to give a smoker a cigar with such a reputation!

Some persons who select gift cigars "fall" for fancy bands and fussy packages.

A smoker can't enjoy these things—he wants quality tobacco—and he gets it when you give him a box of

They don't have any frills, but each one is stuffed as full of quality as Santa's pack is full of good things.
