ARMORY BOARD TO MEET

Lebanon Matter Will Be Taken Up; News of the Day Found About Departments

The proposal to present a bill to the next Legislature for a constitutional convention as suggested by a number of organizations and individuals does not find much favor on Capitol Hill these days and there is said to be considerable opposition to the idea among political leaders of various parties.

There were bills presented for consideration last session, but they were attacked in committee hearings and were the subject of much discussion. Nothing came of them. It is probable that the efforts will be renewed early in the year and the considerable effort to get through the bill will be undertaken.

Forty-three applications for pardon or commutation were on file and there was so much business that the board determined to hear the first twenty-nine cases to-day and to take up the remainder next Tuesday. Three applications for commutation were argued, one being for Isaac Cross, of Fayette, who is to be hanged on January 20. Rocco Tassone, Lancaster, and Geremia Accitolo, Clearfield, sentenced to death.

Mr. Rider was prominently identified with the business interests of Harrisburg at one time being one of its foremost and most successful merchants. He was connected with the Central Iron Works Company in an official capacity.

He was kind and charitable, and loved by many people in the lower end of the city, where he resided. Merchants Join in Campaign to Raise Funds for Red Cross Work

In all 23,570 Red Cross Christmas seals were sold last evening by the twenty-four pretty Red Cross nurses at the big Zumbo Band and Patrol benefit concert and drill in Chestnut Street Auditorium.

Real, biting wintry weather had no appreciable effect on the attendance. Directly before the band struck up the opening selection, the great hall was filled.

Zumbo Band and Patrol demonstrated in always color spectacles and last evening's trouping of the forty-six Zouave-clad men in the drilling squad and the gayer scarlet and gold uniforms of the band added an especially bright color to the scene. Set off by the white caps and gowns and crimson crosses of the nurses. While the uniforms of the patrol suggested in a way the far-flung battle lines of the allied armies of Europe, and the white-clad nurses emphasized the thought, there were just two other more or less realistic touches that recalled the war-time.

Great excitement prevailed in the Big khaki field hospital tent flying the Red Cross flag had been pitched. And the band played that popular air of English origin, "Ypres"—"This a Long Way to Tipperary."

In addition to the band concert and drill a couple of vocal selections by the 16-year-old Harry Eiter, Jr., accompanied by Professor Alfred C. Kuschwa, were features of the program. Governor John K. Tener was guest of honor and had a place on the platform.

Chairman John Fox Weiss and other members of the committee. During the evening both the Governor and Mr. Weiss gave brief talks on the Red Cross seal campaign, its far-reaching effects in this city, and of the purposes to which the proceeds of the annual seal campaign are applied.

Director C. B. Shope and Captain Frank H. Hoy, Jr., leader and commander, respectively, of the band and patrol, never had their men in better form, and music and evolutions attracted round the auditorium. Special movements effected by the patrol included the arranging of the men into human letters that spelled "Tener," "Red Cross" and "Zumbo."

Seventy-two stores in the city, and other businessmen of Harrisburg have enlisted in the "Merchant Day" movement of the Red Cross Christmas seal campaign. Between 15,000 and 20,000 of the Yuletide stamps have been disposed of through this channel.

The plan is simple. No one who figures in the campaign is expected to sell the seals; he merely buys a lot and pastes one upon each package that goes out of his store or office on the business. The merchants' day end of the campaign is being handled by Edward Manser, who is assisted by some thirty other "Boys Scouts" of the city. The youngsters acted as canvassers and obtained the orders from the storekeepers. They later served as messengers in carrying around the supplies of seals.

Yesterday was clothiers and haberdashers' day and seals were pasted up by the following: Clothiers, Doutrich & Co., Hub, Globe, Sides & Sides; hatters, C. W. Poulton, haberdashers, Shearer & Son, J. N. Kinnard; special, Harrisburg Bag and Box Factory.

To-day was "Jewelers and Music Dealers' Day." E. L. Kock, jeweler, pasted seals on every package that left their stores.

Jewelers—H. C. Claster, E. G. Hooper, T. S. Baird, L. A. Faunce, George A. Hutman, P. H. Caplan Company, C. R. Boas, H. G. Seibert. Music Dealers—C. M. Sigler, Inc.

From to-morrow on the special days in the series will be: Grocers, Thursday—Butchers and markets, W. W. Thomas, H. C. Koons, Hull Brothers, Russ Fish Market; grocers, G. A. P. Sitchon, W. M. Runkle, Grand Union Tea Company, Pollock's Hill Grocery, Weir's Pure Food Store, E. K. Moutz, J. I. Hetrick, C. Studebaker, F. H. Zelders, Charles E. Low, C. T. Tub, Globe, Sides & Sides; Neff, J. H. Trippler, J. W. Kimmel, H. W. Sallade, H. R. Wildie, D. W. Raub, Houseman's grocery, H. C. Devor, S. R. Harris, Waltham Gross, S. S. Pomeroy, E. L. Frank, E. L. Kock.

Breathe a Sigh! Clark Diehl Refuses to Ride "Hoss" in Big Parade

Gloom spread all over headquarters of Christmas parades, chief marshal of the Mummers' parade, to-day, when Clark E. Diehl, city electrician, declined to be an aid in the New Year's parade. Mr. Diehl gives the reasons for his refusal to participate in the parade.

"Acknowledging your kind letter asking me to serve as an aid in the Mummers' parade, I am glad to say that while I appreciate the honor, I realize the fact that I do not draw all attention away from the other attractions in your parade. I accept, with pleasure, your invitation to join the organization, though."

STREETS OF SCARBOROUGH ARE FILLED WITH WRECKAGE
Scarborough, England, Dec. 16, via London, 3:35 p. m.—Just before day-light broke a vessel of the cruiser type was observed off Scarborough. The warship came in close and for half an hour threw shell after shell into the town, doing considerable damage. The vessel, which was seen on foot in a shop was killed instantly and her husband was wounded. The ruins of the shop tumbled down about them.

Party of fifty shells were thrown, the objective of the German gunners, apparently being the town hall, which was damaged slightly. Other property suffered much more severely and at places the streets are filled with wreckage.

During the bombardment the vessel steamed slowly past the town and finally disappeared in the haze. After she had been lost sight of the sound of her guns was heard for some time.

RESIDENTS OF CITIES ARE PANIC STRICKEN

Yorkshire, on the coast, and about half way between Scarborough and Hartlepool. It is a town of about 12,000 people, and also is a seaside resort. It has a group of hotels along the cliffs and the town itself is situated on both banks of the Esk.

PEOPLE RUSH FROM HOUSES

Scarborough, Dec. 16, via London, 12:58 P. M.—When the German shells began falling into Scarborough shortly before 8 o'clock this morning the people rushed out of their houses in a state of the greatest excitement. The crowds ran hurriedly to the railroad station, and all who could boarded the train that was just leaving for Hull. The hotels are comparatively deserted. Hartlepool, together with West Hartlepool, has a population of about 90,000.

Great excitement prevailed in Lloyds underwriting room when the announcement of the German naval raid was posted on the bulletin boards. The members crowded around and eagerly read the notice. Insurance rates, so far as the North Sea is concerned, have been practically suspended pending the receipt of definite news of the report of the engagement.

At the Baltic Exchange the news was read most eagerly by the members and was the chief topic of conversation all through the afternoon.

Scarborough, which it is announced is being shelled by the Germans to-day, is a seaport and fashionable resort of Yorkshire in the northern part of Yorkshire on a headland extending into the North Sea. It is 27 miles northeast of the important English city of York. It is a little over 200 miles from London. Scarborough has been popularly styled the "Queen of Watering Places."

Hartlepool is a seaport and municipal borough of England, in the southeast portion of the county of Durham. It is about forty miles northwest of Scarborough on a promontory that extends into the North Sea. The Hartlepoons are provided with a vast system of docks.

Nine Persons Reported Killed in Bombardment of Port of Hartlepool

Hull, Dec. 16, via London, 5:10 P. M.—Nine persons are reported to have been killed at Hartlepool and a number injured in the bombardment of that port by German cruisers this morning.

The bombardment of Hartlepool lasted for twenty-five minutes. The hostile warships which took part in the operation are estimated from two to six, but never once were they clearly visible from the shore.

The forts on the River Tees replied to the fire of the German vessels. Pieces of shell have been found all over Hartlepool. The damage inflicted on the town is said to be considerable. One of the shells hit a gas tank and set it afire.

SCARBOROUGH MAN THOUGHT WARSHIPS WERE PRACTICING

Hull, Dec. 16, via London, 1:40 p. m.—James E. Scott, of Scarborough, who arrived here after the bombardment of the seaside resort by the Germans, said:

"I could not believe it was a real attack. I thought the boats were practicing. Then I saw a shell fall on the roof of a house which caught fire and there was a cloud of smoke. I also noticed that the Balmford Hotel, right in the center of the town, was struck. As I walked to the station I saw shells bursting overhead and at the station shells fell into the yard. A porter then picked up a fragment."

"A man accompanied by his wife and children came running into the station, saying that the roof of their house had been damaged by shells."

HEAVY FIRING HEARD OFF COAST OF REDCAR, ENGLAND

Redcar, York, England, Dec. 16, via London, 1:27 p. m.—Heavy firing was heard off the coast here between 8 and 8:30 a. m. to-day. The forms of three cruisers could be discerned looming out of the haze. It appeared as if the hostile warships were attacking the forts on these coasts.

The cannonading was kept up for more than half an hour, when the booming of guns gradually grew less. During the height of the bombardment as many as half a dozen flashes of guns were counted within the space of two minutes.

Redcar is a seaside resort in the north riding of Yorkshire, ten miles to the south of Hartlepool. It has a population of about 8,000.

Amsterdam, Dec. 16, via London, 3:30 P. M.—Telegrams from Constantinople referring for the first time to the torpedoing by the British submarine E-11 of the Turkish battleship Messudieh in the Dardanelles, December 13, say that the warship sank at her anchorage and that parts of the vessel are still visible above the water. GOLD WARE TO LAST THROUGHOUT WEEK

Little suffering was reported at the poor Directors' offices in the Court-house or at the headquarters of the Associated Charities in Market Square. While there is a great deal of want throughout the city owing to the business depression, the requests for aid have not been greatly increased as yet.

Harrisburg is far from being the coldest spot in the United States, the weather map shows. At Sheridan, Neb., it is 20 below; at Lincoln, Neb., the mercury stood at 12 below this morning; dozens of places show the mercury at zero; in this city the official report was 7 above, but in the neighboring mountain districts reports of 2 and 3 above were received.
