WROTE HER WILL ON TWO BITS OF PAPER

Miss Jane Robinson Bequeaths $1,650 to Cousin; Old Band Deed Filed

Two undated scraps of ordinary note paper contained the last will and testament of Jane L. Robinson as submitted for probate to-day to Register of Wills Roy C. Danner. Miss Robinson died March 3, 1914, and she left two bequests, totaling $1,650 to Kitty Bigler, a cousin. The money is kept in two banks, $50 in the Egg Harbor Commercial Bank and $1,600 in the "bank at Atlantic avenue and Clinton street, Brooklyn." Miss Robinson, who lived at 1013 North Second street, simply wrote in pencil on the two bits of paper that she wished to "leave to Kitty Bigler" the two sums she had deposited in bank. The Harrisburg Trust Company was named as executor.

Bank Files 100-Year-Old Deed—The deed given by the Philadelphia bank to the Harrisburg bank, now the Harrisburg National Bank, at Blackberry street and Market Square, in 1817, was filed yesterday with the Recorder of Deeds. The consideration in the transaction—the corner plot next to the Market Square Presbyterian Church, still occupied by the bank—was bought just ninety-seven years ago for $4,800. Other realty transfers yesterday included: William Corcoran to Mary Jones, 917 Grand street, $1,400; W. H. Baker to Harry T. Boyles, 2230 Lohan street, $1; C. G. Gilmer to J. R. Brooks, Summit street, $750; F. Baumgartner to L. L. Hooda, Darlington and Eighteenth streets, $10; R. Tarsel to Antonio Leo, Steelton, $1,400; J. C. Robinson to Harry A. Fritz, Penbrook, $2,600; H. Robinson to Peter Wade, Steelton, $1; A. C. Feser to Harris Building and Loan Association, Penbrook, $10.

At the Register's Office.—The will of John M. Day, formerly of Millersburg, was probated to-day and letters were granted to J. Earl Day, Sunbury.

Bur-r-r!! Bessie's Half Frozen,
But She Had Just Gobs of Fun

Orpheum Headliner Thinks Wildwood Glorious; She's in Love With the City; and She's NOT Married

"Bur-r-r! I'm half-frozen, but oh! I have had such fun," said winsome Bessie Winn, headliner at the Orpheum, yesterday.

"You see, they asked me to formally open the skating season at your Wildwood Park to-day. I fairly love to skate, but do you know something? I actually envied the youngsters out there as they flew down the hills on their sleds. I used to do it like that once, too, but not now!"

Like so many transients, Miss Winn has always judged Harrisburg by its business section only.

"I had no idea your city was such a beautiful one," she said. "It cannot be appreciated unless one moves about. We motored to the skating pond and I noticed such splendid homes all the way along the River Front. I have never been here in the winter before. Things look so different."

Rotarianism is a new idea to the little singer. This is the first time she has ever been identified with it. She wanted it explained to her, its meaning and aims. She thinks the leasing of the theater for the entire week by the organization a clever scheme for raising money for the Belgians and is doing her best to draw the crowds and please them. She spoke of her grand opera selection from "Madame Butterfly."

"She's going to 'Produce,' Too

"That is the kind of work I like best to do. I am so happy in the heavier music, but the managers say the public prefer me in the simple, catchy songs. Do you know why I am in vaudeville? Just for the salary, pure and simple. I act for the movies, too, the Crescent, Thanhouser and Universal Companies. But something nice is under way now! It is the Bessie

Wynn Incorporated Producing Company, and we have five little musical comedies already planned.

"Leap year" is the one in which I am to star. I would be in it now, but the war conditions made it inadvisable to start this season. The theatrical world of New York has been seriously affected by the conditions in Europe, worse than in any other city. Our other offerings will be "Three Brides," "Little Sister," "Pink Pavilion" and "Auction Pinochle," all light musical plays on the order of "Adele" and "The Merry Widow."

"Did you notice the accompaniment to my 'Madame Butterfly' song? Isn't it wonderful? It is supposed to be played only by a symphony orchestra of forty or more pieces, and those few men under Mr. Yeager do wonders with it."

"Is there not a Mr. Bessie Wynn?" she was asked.

"Oh, no, indeed! That was only a 'story' about my husband's waiting every night for me at the stage door. I live with my mother in New York. My three sisters are all married, and each of them has a baby. Indeed, all my friends (and I have very few among theatrical people) seem to have babies! The nearest I come to it is a new 'Baby' song I am studying."

Bessie's a Trail Hitter

As Miss Wynn's number does not require her to be at the theater before 9 o'clock, she decided to spend the early part of last evening at the tabernacle.

"I hit the trail when I was 12 years old," she said, "and I have never forgotten. The effect has lasted."

To-morrow afternoon, if the busy skaters at Wildwood keep their eyes open, they may see a certain winsome little lady in a fur-edged black velvet top coat cutting the figure 8 in the company of—well, a nuptial bride of Harrisburg's younger set.

"Feed America First,"
Says Society Leader

MRS. STUYVESANT FISH

New York, Dec. 17.—A new club is more romantic to knit for a hero on the battlefield than for a sick child in the slums of an American city," said Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish, long recognized as the imperious leader of New York and Newport's most exclusive society.

"But I think it is time for more common sense and less sentiment. Those good people who have been touched by the stories of conditions in Europe brought about by this frightful war, should not forget to think of our own destitute and starving people, and our army of hundreds of thousands of workers who are idle at the beginning of winter."

Friends Seek Pardon
of Convict Banker

WILLIAM J. CUMMINS

New York, Dec. 17.—Tennessee friends of William J. Cummins, who is serving a sentence in Sing Sing for grand larceny in connection with the wrecking of the Carnegie Trust Company, are preparing to appeal to District Attorney Whitman in an effort to obtain the ex-banker's release. Governor Hooper, it is said, will head the delegation, which will include judges, public prosecutors and State officials. It is the hope of his friends that Cummins will be enabled to eat Christmas dinner with his family.

McCormick Farmer Club

The McCormick Farmers' Club of the McCormick estate met to-day at the Sporting Green farm, conducted by E. E. Lower, near Hogestown.

State Economic Zoologist H. A. Surface spoke to the farmers about the worm that does so much damage to the corn and the insect life that destroys clover. He told of several good remedies and these were discussed. Vance C. McCormick was present, but H. B. McCormick was out of the city and could not attend.

Hoisting the Red Flag
That Says "There's Skating"

With due ceremony yesterday City Commissioner M. Harvey Taylor, superintendent of parks and public property, raised the red flag, the emblem that indicates that much-wished-for skating is possible at Wildwood lake, over the park building, in Market Square.

The flag-raising was not without its spectacular effects. Allen Paget, one of the assistant engineers, gravely saluted with the hatchet and J. R. Hoffert, assistant superintendent, softly whistled the "Star-Spangled Banner." "Twas always thus at red flag raisings.

Manufacturers Object to City Asphalt Plant at Cameron and Kittattiny

Nearly a dozen vigorous protests from individuals and manufacturing firms whose business places are adjacent to the proposed new municipal asphalt repair plant site at Kittattiny and Cameron streets have been received by the City Commissioners. Among these was a letter from Arthur D. Bacon, head of the D. Bacon Company and a former president of Select Council. It is quite likely that the commissioners will try to secure other sites before deciding finally on the Kittattiny and Cameron streets plot.
