TRADING IN MINOR VOLUME IN MARKETS

Confusion Attended Dealings Because of Derangement of Ticker Service

By Associated Press
New York, Dec. 17. - Some confusion attended opening dealings in the stock market to-day because of a derangement of the machinery which distributes market prices. Only a few initial quotations were obtainable and these showed little change from yesterday's closing level. In the main, however, the trend was lower. Amalgamated yielding half a point, with smaller losses in United States Steel, Brooklyn Rapid Transit, Canadian Pacific and Great Northern preferred, the latter recouping its loss of 2.00. The only notable exception to the general movement was Reading, which rose 1/4. Trading was in minor volume.

Masonic Apron Worn by George Washington(?) on Display in City

Freemasonry Throughout Town Deeply Interested in Relic; Would Know If It Is Really Genuine

Freemasonry in this city and vicinity is deeply interested in an apron of a member of the Blue Lodge which appears to have been the one worn by George Washington as a member of the lodge at Alexandria, Va. It has just come into the possession of Jay S. Seltzer, Jr., and is being exhibited in the display window of his antique store at 225 North Second street.

While there seems to be no doubt that the apron actually is the one worn by General Washington in his Masonic duties, it is not accompanied by any certificate of any sort, and members of the craft who have viewed the relic are endeavoring to find an absolute clue.

The apron, of the regulation sheepskin and common size and shape, has every appearance of great age. It differs from the Masonic aprons commonly seen nowadays in that it is emblazoned with the various insignia of the Masons, whereas the modern aprons customarily are of spotless white without any figuring whatever. The various figures on the Washington apron are engraved in colors.

The apron is under glass in a heavy frame; the frame, probably an excellent piece of workmanship in its day, would be styled "gingerbread" or something else nowadays; Mr. Seltzer says the frame is at least 60 years old, and this is borne out by the details of the framing.

History of the Apron Under the glass, above the apron itself, is a printed slip, yellowed with age. It looks as if it were a proof slip from a job office, set up and printed for the purpose. It reads: "Masonic Apron. Owned and worn by General George Washington in the Masonic lodge at Alexandria, Va., presented by him to General Horatio Gates and later came into possession of Mrs. Gen. W. C. Anderson, a descendant of Gen. Gates, who presented it in 1854 to Dr. R. N. Short upon his being made a Mason in Missouri lodge, No. 1, of St. Louis, Mo."
