LEE CRONICAN HERE IN TWO RECITALS

Young Musician Well Known in This Vicinity on Concert Tour

Lee Cronican, of Carlisle, a brilliant young pianist, another of Frederic C. Martin's pupils who has won a most enviable professional position for himself, in this his second concert tour through New England, Canada and the Middle West will be in Harrisburg on Monday and Tuesday evenings of next week. He will play at Fahnstock Hall in two concerts with Wilmot Goodwin, the famous baritone of the Aborn and Century opera companies, and Maurice Warner, a remarkable young violinist, pupil of that greatest of contemporaneous violin teachers, Auer, who has played in London and New York with such flattering success.

Usual Holiday Dance of Harrisburg Academy

The Academy dance this evening will be one of the prettiest of holiday events. The gymnasium is turned into a ballroom decorated in Christmas greenery with festoons of ground pine, college pennants and scarlet shaded lights. The Academy colors of blue and gold are intertwined with laurel and holly and tall scarlet candles in the candelabra add an attractive note.

White for street wear. A clever and very inexpensive gift for either men or women is a shoe cleaner of soft wool, made to slip on the hand like a mitten, which can be rolled so that it takes up only a few inches space in a pocket or bag. Prices from 25 cents up.

MARY ELIZABETH BASKETS

One of the exclusive shops on Fifth avenue, New York, is offering the same baskets shown at Harrisburg's Shop Individual, the Woman's Exchange, the charming and hand-colored Mary Elizabeth baskets, for all sorts of decorative purposes and boudoir use. The colorings are exquisitely dainty, pale pinks, greens and yellows, baby blues, and delicate lavender of violet hues, and the designs are just such as appeal to an artistic taste. Some have long, graceful handles, which seem just waiting for a fetching bow of tulle, others tall and low, make charming violet bowls, while many are equal to the most practical uses of an industrious owner. They make very lovely gifts at prices from 50 cents up.

pleasure and profit all through the year, and the Eastman photographic supplies, sold here by the Gorgas Drug Store, 16 North Third street, are acknowledged as the standard of excellence. One of the best of these cameras for all-round use is the Brownie No. 2A, offered at the Gorgas Store. This camera is equipped with meniscus achromatic lens and Eastman rotary shutter, which make pictures of unusual clearness, and yet the operation and adjustment of this camera is delightfully simple. The special features make it a splendid gift for very careful photographers, while its simplicity commends it for the use of children. This camera is offered for just $5.00.

GIFTS FOR MAIDS AND FOR MEN

The Walk Over Boot Shop, 226 Market street, offers a delightful assortment of holiday suggestions at prices that will appeal to the wise Christmas shopper. Slipper pins of brilliants, beautifully carved and colored cameos, black onyx and sterling silver, chignon and ribbon rosettes, tango sets and novel ornaments of brilliants for the heel of Milady's evening slipper are offered, as well as smart garters and boot-tops in black, fawn, gray and stunning combinations of black and

QUAINT OLD MUSIC BY WEDNESDAY CLUB

Christmas Program Delights a Large Audience in Fahnstock Hall

The true spirit of Yuletide was expressed throughout the program of the concert of the Wednesday Club last evening in Fahnstock Hall. From the banking of the stage in scarlet poinsettias and Christmas greenery to the closing carol the trend was toward the great holiday of love and joy. Only local talent was represented, no out of town artists taking part.

A departure from the general form was the reading of a paper on "Ancient Music" by Miss Julia Bishop. She claimed music to be the greatest and most expressive of all the arts. As Carlyle says, it is "the inarticulate speech which leads us to the edge of the infinite and allows us a wee glimpse through."

The first music was the singing of the stars in space when from chaos came creation. Generations later the heavens sang again but with angel hosts as choirs above the fields of Judea. It lulled the babe to rest and inspired the soldier to face death.

Miss Sara Lerner, violinist, played the intermezzo from "The Jewels of the Madonna" by Wolf-Ferrari with the wonderful ease and finish which characterizes her work.

A beautiful vocal duet was that of Reincke's "When Christ Was Born," by Mrs. Decevee and Miss Seaman. An example of perfect accord and harmony was a double piano duet from Mozart's "Symphony in G Minor" played by Mrs. Weaver, Mrs. Keller, Miss Snively and Miss Bennet.

In Gow's "Sweet Christmas Bells," the solo was carried by Mrs. Hull and the refrain taken up by the invisible chorus. The result was decidedly effective.

Especially good was the "Tryste Noel," by Bullard, sung after the manner of the eighteenth century. Without any instrumental accompaniment, Mrs. Decevee, Mrs. Harris, Miss Decevee and Miss Seaman stood in a group together and sang this old carol of Christmas eve until the audience could almost fancy the falling snow at the heads who wandered about from house to house in merrie old England singing beneath the casements the mystery of the Holy Babe.

Miss Belle Middaugh's superb rendering of "O Thou That Tellest" from Handel's Messiah carried along the idea of the whole program.

The closing number was a series of three old carols by the Wednesday Club chorus under the guidance of their leader, Miss Ruth Conkling. A French air was followed by "The First Noel," and then the old German folk song, "Holy Night," the special favorite of Madame Schumann-Heineck. The solemn sweetness of the familiar melody reached through the ears to the very hearts of the audience. They arose quietly as if they felt in the words they had heard sung during the evening, that indeed "The Child is here."

Ohev Sholom Sisterhood to Hold a Masquerade

A special committee of the Ohev Sholom Sisterhood is arranging a masquerade dance for New Year's eve at the Board of Trade hall. The Looser orchestra will play and there will be an elaborate buffet supper served.

MRS. MARTIN RETURNS

Mrs. Frederic C. Martin returned to her home at Front and Lewis streets, Riverside, last evening, after a trip to New York city. Mrs. Martin attended the Pennsylvania society dinner at the Waldorf Saturday evening and was guest of honor at dinners at the homes of Douglas Doty, editor of the Century Magazine and of Russell Doubday, of the Doubleday and Page publishing company.

SHOWER BRIDE-ELECT

Miss Helen King receives wedding gifts from her friends. Mrs. Carrie E. King entertained at her residence, 547 Seneca street, last evening in honor of her daughter, Miss Helen King, whose engagement was recently announced.

GUESTS AT WILLIAMS HOME

CLUB WITH MISS STINE

Miss Florence Stine, of Oxford street, was host for the D. L. M. Club last evening. In attendance were the Misses Alice Kilmepeter, Verna Smith, Pauline Ammon, Elizabeth Ammon, Mary DeHart, Bernice Paxton and Ruth Hart.

GIFTS AT BLACK'S ART STORE

What the Shops Are Showing

A clever and novel gift for the up-to-date man is offered at the Hub, 320 Market street. It is a set of umbrella and walking stick to match, offered in holiday box at prices from $3.50 to $6.00. Most of these are of handsome wood of various kinds, very simply finished in style approved by men of good taste who like their things to be plain and good. A few of these sets have sterling silver mountings and the assortment is extensive. Every man needs an umbrella, and walking sticks are becoming more and more popular every day for regular use. These combination sets are practical enough to appeal to the most conservative taste, but smart enough to be approved by the most discriminating.

FUN FOR CHILDREN

It is all very well to talk of practical gifts, but the kiddies must have their Christmas fun—pure, unadulterated, impractical fun! However, children can be spoiled by senseless toys and the wise parent will want the children to have some of the wonderfully interesting electric toys offered at the Harrisburg Electric Supply Company, 24 South Second street, at very moderate prices. These toys may be run by attaching to an electric light socket or with their own electric batteries, and while they are delightfully entertaining for the children they are so well and accurately made after larger models of electric power plants, trains, etc., that they are decidedly instructive.

PERSONALITY IN THE HOME

They see that one's personality can be rightly judged by the rooms in which one lives, and whether or not this is true the home environment must be attractive for the sake of all the family; and the A. B. Pack Wall Paper Shop, 1216 North Third street, with their competent service both in helping, if desired, to select wisely, and appropriate and artistic decoration, and in doing the actual work of papering with least trouble and annoyance to the housewife, and with perfect satisfaction, is an excellent shop to depend upon for any kind of papering work, and their enormous assortment of papers includes the best designs approved by experts in interior decorating.

A GIFT FOR ALL THE YEAR

A gift that brings a message of cheer each day in the year is one of the charming little gift calendars in holiday boxes offered at the Central Book Store, 329 Market street. In this attractive assortment one may find a calendar of clever sayings for the business man, a dainty little calendar of sunshine for the young girl, a calendar of friendship and one filled with very lovely thoughts called the Sunlit Road. These are offered at prices from 10 cents up. The housewife would be delighted with one of the helpful calendars of luncheons, dinners, salads or desserts, containing menu hints, and recipes for every day in the year.
