PROPOSED CAMPAIGN WILL FALL THROUGH

Centenary U. B. Votes Down Proposition; Financial Situation Forbids Project

That the proposed Stough extension campaign in Steelton will not be undertaken at the present time now seems certain. At meetings of the official bodies of two of the borough's churches yesterday the proposition was voted down and in one of the churches, the Centenary United Brethren, it was voted down. In the other church, the First Presbyterian, it was decided to cooperate in the proposed campaign provided a majority of the other Protestant churches agreed to cooperate.

This is taken to mean by various members of the local clergy that the campaign cannot be undertaken at this time, as the Grace United Evangelical, St. Mark's Lutheran, Churches have already turned down the proposition. All the churches, however, would be strongly in favor of the project until the next meeting of the Ministerial Association, Monday, January 11, it is the belief of the Rev. Mr. Smith and others that the project will be turned down.
