YULETIDE DANCE AT THE COLONIAL

Large Gathering Anticipated at the Popular Clubhouse Christmas Night

Christmas will be celebrated in the good old-fashioned way at the Colonial Country Club with a Yuletide dance. Holiday decorations will prevail at the beautiful clubhouse along the Linglestown road, and the Upgrove Orchestra will play all the latest music as well as many old-time favorites.

As this is the regular club night, the attendance will be large, including the members and many out-of-town visitors.

On the committee of arrangements are H. D. Delmoite, Silas S. Pomeroy, Dr. Thomas Bowman, James Q. Handshaw, Jr., W. H. Johnston and Hart Ogelsby.

The dance arranged for New Year's night at the Colonial Club has been postponed.

DINNER DANCE AT CLUB SATURDAY, DECEMBER 26

Vance C. McCormick has issued invitations for a dinner-dance at the Country Club of Harrisburg, Saturday evening, December 26, at 7 o'clock.

The debutantes will figure prominently in the event, which also includes prominent society folk of this and other cities.

MISS COHN VISITS HERE

Miss Mammie Cohn, of Baltimore, Md., will spend her Christmas vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Cohn, at their home, 257 Porter street. Miss Cohn is a popular young lady in Baltimore and is a teacher of the fifth grade in one of the public schools of that city.

INVITES DAVIS FAMILY

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Davis and family, of 225 First street, will be dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Howard G. Campbell at their residence, 1637 North Seventh street, on Christmas Day.

Miss Mary Bent, of Philadelphia, will spend the holidays with Mr. and Mrs. William Elder Bailey, of Front and South streets.

Miss Mary Sponser, of Chestnut street, a student at Smith College, will arrive home from Northampton, Mass., this evening, for the holiday recess.

Curzon Fager, Spencer Ross, Harold Fox and Franklin Etter, all Princeton students, are spending the holidays with their parents in town.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Stevenson and Miss Martha H. Wyman, of Lock Haven, are Christmas guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Schwab, at 1918 Market street.

Mr. and Mrs. James Bailey and family, Pine Forge, will be holiday guests of Mrs. Bailey's mother, Mrs. Sergeant Kelly, 1501 North Front street.

Woman's Aid Society Sells Paxton Cook Book

Everyone knows what it is to hurriedly select a gift in these last days before Christmas. For such perplexity the book, "Historic Paxton—Her Days and Her Ways," by Helen Bruce Wallace, published by the Women's Aid Society of Paxton Church, will be a happy solution.

This book makes an attractive present for either a man or a woman, with its unusual combination of historic and practical interest. The first half is devoted to the story of old Paxton and its sister church, Derry, one of the famous churches of America, around whose walls figures center exciting events in Pennsylvania history. Its second pastor, John Elder, was one of the big men of this community. Every son of Dauphin county should know his story.

The story is full of color and put in a way that is readable for the busy man. The illustrations heading the sketches include pictures of old and new Paxton and of its sister church, Old Derry.

The woman who does not particularly care for history will revel in the book's second section. Here for the first time are given favorite receipts of noted cooks, receipts that have been cherished carefully for generations. In addition there are practical hints for emergencies, and comprehensive instruction for the home gardener and poultry raiser.

Such a book is easily mailed to the Harrisburger, who cannot get home for Christmas, and who will appreciate such a touch of home scenes. It is for sale at 214 Pine street and at the leading book stores at a small cost. The Women's Aid Society through the selling of its book keep in repair the old Paxton Church, which has been used nearly 175 years.

Mr. and Mrs. William Shipley, of 139 North street, announce the birth of a daughter, Mildred Viola Shipley, Sunday, December 20, 1914.

Mrs. Shipley was formerly Miss Bernice Cronin.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Freeman, of Pittsburgh, former residents of this city, announce the birth of a daughter, Lillian Marie Freeman, Saturday, December 19, 1914.

Mr. and Mrs. John Emil Asseln announce the birth of a son, Eric Asseln, Sunday, December 13, 1914. Mrs. Asseln is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Yings.

METEOR FRIGHTENS MEN

By Associated Press. Greensburg, Pa., Dec. 23.—Twenty men, slaughtering pigs on a farm, one mile from Delmont, were badly frightened late yesterday when a meteor fell with a menacing shriek and exploded with a terrific report about a half mile from them. The heavenly body buried itself several feet in the ground. According to the men, it appeared to be white hot when it struck the earth. The explosion was heard for miles around.

AN EVENING THOUGHT.

Ring in the valiant man and free. The larger heart, the kinder hand; Ring out the darkness of the land, Ring in the Christ that is to be!

ACADEMY SMOKER TO BE BIG AFFAIR

Former Students For Many Years Will Gather at the New Building Above the City

For probably the first time in its long and eventful history the Harrisburg Academy will have an "Academy night," at which the alumni and former students of the institution, which owes its inception to John Harris, the founder of Harrisburg, will gather and talk over old times. The arrangements are being made by Dr. Arthur E. Brown, the headmaster, and a committee of the younger alumni and every effort has been made to reach every man who was ever registered as a student under the Academy.

It is recognized that a school which has had such a long career as the Academy must necessarily have some former students whose names are not on the lists which have been gathered in the last few months and the committee earnestly hopes that whether any former students receive invitations or not they will show up at the Academy on December 23.

The smoker has been fixed for Monday night and already many of the former students have put a red mark on that date, planning to attend. There will be reunions of students who attended the Academy back in the sixties and the seventies and the men of the eighties and the nineties will be out in force to show the students of the last decade that their interest in the old school is still strong.

The committee in charge has requested that former students who have not received invitations send in their names so that the list may be made complete. The names may be sent to Dr. Brown or to John Smith, Ehrman B. Mitchell and William C. Dunlap, the committee actively in charge of the arrangements.

Market St. Bridgekeeper Dies Following Stroke

Joseph N. Pye, aged 66 years, for many years daylight tollkeeper at the Market street bridge, died suddenly last night at his home, 610 North Second street. Death was due to a stroke.

Mr. Pye was well-known through the city, having been connected with the Adams Express Company prior to being made tollkeeper. He was also an elevator man at the Donaldson Building, North Second street. Mr. Pye was a member of the Pine Street Presbyterian Church, and of the James McCormick Bible Class.

He is survived by his wife and the following children: Mrs. George S. Henderson, Mrs. Anna M. Fryer, Samuel H. Pye, Ivy Pye, all of this city, and the following brothers and sisters: Samuel Pye and John Pye, both of New Cumberland; John S. Pye, of Newport, and Mary Pye, of this city.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon, at 2 o'clock. Burial will be made in the East Harrisburg Cemetery.

What the Shops Are Showing

Convenient in size, substantial in construction, and capable of performing the highest grade of work, the attractive Premoette Jr. camera, offered at the Gorgas Drug Store for $5.00 makes a delightfully satisfactory gift. It is finished with genuine grain leather, attractively boxed, and is not only good to look at, but is also good in results given. It weighs just 12 oz. and fits conveniently in a lady's hand bag, or a boy's pocket. These features combined with its photographic value, and its popular price make it one of the most desirable of cameras for gift giving. A complete line of Eastman Premo cameras and kodaks at prices from $1.00 up is offered at the Gorgas store.

Street, evening and morning gloves, stunning leather traveling sets, sets of umbrellas with walking sticks to match, handkerchiefs, plain, initialed, linen and silk bath robes with slippers to match and custom-made shirts, are a few of the gift suggestions offered and gift boxes are supplied free of charge.

GIFTS FOR WOMEN

If you want to find a host of practical and delightful gift suggestions, a visit to the Woman's Exchange, Third street at Herr, will more than repay you. Here are practical gifts for women—towels in all sizes, plain or embroidered,—neckwear, dainty and distinctive,—cotton bags to hold party dresses, sewing, or laundry, handkerchiefs, including the lovely Madeira styles, luncheon sets and scarfs of cluny lace, Madeira embroidery, Japanese patterns, etc. For the boudoir, the loveliest of tapestry boxes, mahogany hat stands, pin cushions, jewel chests, spool holders, baskets and hand-colored pottery, and then odd and beautiful gift cards. Christmas greetings, sachets, and other inexpensive remembrances.

THE PUZZLING GIFT

If the selection of a certain gift is puzzling you, why not buy a book? A book well selected is always a satisfactory gift, and the Central Book Store, 320 Market street, presents so wide an assortment of books that it is very easy to find there just the right book for any individual. Children's books are offered from 10c up. Handsome bound Bibles are shown in the most comprehensive assortment. The newest books of fiction, popular 50c fiction, standard works, and books on special subjects,—music, and shrdutnetoivgkqetno—art, travel, domestic science, nature, etc., are all found there. Boxed stationery, leather goods, Christmas cards, crocheting, wrapping materials and tinette full dress suit may be found in styles that well-dressed men approved. Street, evening and morning gloves, stunning leather traveling sets, sets of umbrellas with walking sticks to match, handkerchiefs, plain, initialed, linen and silk bath robes with slippers to match and custom-made shirts, are a few of the gift suggestions offered and gift boxes are supplied free of charge.
